Ha! Scott Weems, 2014-03-04 Humor like pornography is famously difficult to define We know it when we see it but is there a way to figure out what we really find funny and why In this fascinating investigation into the science of humor and laughter cognitive neuroscientist Scott Weems uncovers what's happening in our heads when we giggle guffaw or double over with laughter While we typically think of humor in terms of jokes or comic timing in Ha Weems proposes a provocative new model Humor arises from inner conflict in the brain he argues and is part of a larger desire to comprehend a complex world Showing that the delight that comes with getting a punchline is closely related to the joy that accompanies the insight to solve a difficult problem Weems explores why surprise is such an important element in humor why computers are terrible at recognizing what's funny and why it takes so long for a tragedy to become acceptable comedic fodder From the role of insult jokes to the benefit of laughing for our immune system Ha reveals why humor is so idiosyncratic and why how to books alone will never help us become funnier people Packed with the latest research illuminating anecdotes and even a few jokes Ha lifts the curtain on this most human of qualities From the origins of humor in our brains to its life on the standup comedy circuit this book offers a delightful tour of why humor is so important to our daily lives communication in general with a view to presenting a meticulous description of short garden path texts The book should be of interest to anybody who finds humour research appealing whether or not already familiar with this field No background knowledge is necessary on the reader's part given that all relevant postulates and theories are revisited Also the author steers a clear course through many terminological and conceptual obstacles that can be encountered in the study of humour e g verbal non verbal humour ambiguity types punning etc

Humor and Laughter, Playfulness and Cheerfulness: Upsides and Downsides to a Life of Lightness Willibald Ruch, Tracey Platt, René T. Proyer, Hsueh-Chih Chen, 2019-08-12

The emergence of Positive Psychology has highlighted the importance of studying the good life and how to attain it Positive life outcomes such as well being thriving flourishing and happiness were discussed and investigated Among them different orientations to happiness were identified such as a life of pleasure life of meaning and life of engagement Other outcomes such as subjective and objective fulfillment in life or societal recognition have been less studied Among the characteristics that facilitate positive outcomes the VIA classification of strength and virtues distinguishes 24 strengths with humor playfulness being one of them Only a small segment of humor entered the definition of humor as character strengths namely the parts that contain some goodness Humor as a character strength facilitates a lot of positive outcomes such as positive emotions and positive relationships and there is a lightness accompanying humor playfulness The field is broader though and transcends the definition of humor as used in positive psychology in at least two ways First there is actually a family of overlapping but still distinct concepts with different research traditions We include next to humor and types of humor also laughter playfulness and cheerfulness We think that more research is needed on how they do overlap and what makes them distinct Second while positive psychology is interested in the goodness of we do want to stress that there is the need to study the non virtuous parts as well That is laughter may not only be expressing amusement but scorn directed at people humor may be benevolent but there is also sarcasm and playfulness may elicit positive emotions but also risk prone and immature types of behavior Therefore the aim of this Research Topic was to collect current perspectives on humor playfulness laughter and cheerfulness in both adults and children to study their full diversity but also interrelations and overlapping features to introduce new instruments or ways for their assessment in future studies and to study their causes and consequences in a variety of life domains We encouraged studies on differences due to gender or nationality the embodiment in different groups e g class clowns psychiatric patients or whether or not they can be trained We also welcomed contributions from adjacent disciplines e g education leisure studies or therapy counseling and different regions of the earth The outcome is a set of 33 manuscripts from altogether 101 authors Not all areas are covered and not all aims were met while we made progress there is much left to do In this sense the merging of these topics may be the first milestone but like every milestone it only marks the beginning of a long journey
