Performing Tourist Places Jørgen Ole Bærenholdt, Michael Haldrup, John Urry, 2017-07-05

This book looks at the making and the consuming of places in the contemporary world Illustrated through a case on Denmark it considers the general arguments about the intersections of places performances and peoples It is shown that those who are visitors to a place in part produce that place through their performances Places are intertwined with people through various systems that generate and reproduce performances in and of that place These systems comprise networks of hosts guests buildings objects and machines that contingently realize particular performances of specific places The studies reported here further develop what we might describe as the new mobility paradigm that is developing within the social sciences Doing Sensory Ethnography Sarah Pink,2015-02-09 This bold agenda setting title continues to spearhead interdisciplinary multisensory research into experience knowledge and practice Drawing on an explosion of new cutting edge research Sarah Pink uses real world examples to bring this innovative area of study to life She encourages us to challenge revise and rethink core components of ethnography including interviews participant observation and doing research in a digital world The book provides an important framework for thinking about sensory ethnography stressing the numerous ways that smell taste touch and vision can be interconnected and interrelated within research Bursting with practical advice on how to effectively conduct and share sensory ethnography this is an important original book relevant to all branches of social sciences and humanities Music and Transcendence Ferdia J. Stone-Davis,2016-03-03 Music and Transcendence explores the ways in which music relates to transcendence by bringing together the disciplines of musicology philosophy and theology thereby uncovering congruencies between them that have often been obscured Music has the capacity to take one outside of oneself and place one in relation to that which is other This other can be conceived in an absolute sense insofar as music can be thought to place the self in relation to a divine other beyond the human frame of existence However the other can equally well be conceived in an immanent or secular sense as music is a human activity that relates to other cultural practices Music here places the self in relation to other people and to the world more generally shaping how the world is understood without any reference to a God or gods The book examines how music has not only played a significant role in many philosophical and theological accounts of the nature of existence and the self but also provides a valuable resource for the creation of meaning on a day to day basis Cycling and Society Dave Horton,Paul Rosen,Peter Cox,2016-05-13 How can the social sciences help us to understand the past present and potential futures of cycling This timely international and interdisciplinary collection addresses this question discussing shifts in cycling practices and attitudes and opening up important critical spaces for thinking about the prospects for cycling The book brings together for the first time analyses of cycling from a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds including history sociology geography planning engineering and technology The book redresses the past neglect of cycling as a topic for sustained analysis by treating it as a varied and complex practice which matters greatly to contemporary social cultural and political theory and action Cycling and Society demonstrates the incredible diversity of contemporary cycling both within and across cultures With cycling increasingly promoted as a solution to numerous social problems across a wide range of policy areas in car dominated societies this book helps to open up a new field of cycling studies

Whole Onflow Gavin J. Andrews, Cameron Duff, Keith Woodward, 2025-12-17 This book describes whole onflow which is at once the emergence and becoming of the entirety of the world universe and any actual unique position whatsoever in it now A physical plane and self organizing process that owes its energy to the Big Bang in our region it now unfolding the infinitely complex and varied world we engage contribute to and experience There have been many academic ideas on the nature of emergence and becoming in the world including ideas on the world s overall emergence and becoming In this book we extend some of these ideas to conceptualize a physical plane incorporating all possible positions and local variability all geographies what we refer to as whole onflow We answer some key questions including What is the processual nature of whole onflow through which the world emerges and becomes in the moment How might thinking in terms of whole onflow expand our ideas on the world s productions from health to ageing to capitalism and beyond How might this help us get to grips with today s kinetic energy dependent multi textured and process ignorant world The book lays out the broad theoretical landscape It demonstrates how principles and processes established by physics and cosmology might be combined with principles and processes conveyed by social theory to describe the world in whole onflow Dealing then with the very origins of all that is and all that is social the book is core reading for social scientists who like to think fundamentally It is very much a speculative and provocative piece but a necessary one and will be of particular interest to those studying the world through poststructuralist posthumanist new materialist and non representational theoretical lenses Moving forward certain scholars might follow the specific points of departure and pathways the book signposts Others might choose to tread the new ground the book opens up in their own ways

Migration and the Politics of Methodology Kirsten Emiko McAllister, Ayaka Yoshimizu, Daniel Ahadi, 2025-05-30 This volume examines the politics of fieldwork and the challenges of researching migrants constructed as outsiders both nationally and transnationally Based on research with undocumented migrants temporary workers refugees international students and those who having received citizenship status find their lives to be discursively and legally restricted it shows how interdisciplinary fieldwork based approaches can provide detailed accounts of migrants voices and their conditions of existence offering insights into the ways in which they understand and take part in producing their transnational worlds Applying critical self reflexive methodological approaches that challenge assumptions about who has the authority to produce knowledge and what types of knowledge have the authority of truth Migration and the Politics of Methodology will appeal to scholars of sociology anthropology geography and communication and cultural studies with interests in research methods and migration

The Routledge Handbook of Material Culture in Early Modern Europe Catherine Richardson, Tara Hamling, David Gaimster, 2016-09-13 The Routledge Handbook of Material Culture in Early Modern Europe marks the arrival of early modern material culture studies as a vibrant fully established field of multi disciplinary research The volume provides a rounded accessible collection of work on the nature and significance of materiality in early modern Europe a term that embraces a vast range of objects as well as addressing a wide variety of human interactions with their physical environments This stimulating view of materiality is distinctive in asking questions about the whole material world as a context for lived experience and the book considers material interactions at all social levels There are 27 chapters by leading experts as well as 13 feature object studies to highlight specific items that have survived from this period defined broadly as c 1500 c 1800 These contributions explore the things people acquired owned treasured displayed and discarded the spaces in which people used and thought about things the social relationships which cluster around goods between producers vendors and consumers of various kinds and the way knowledge travels around those circuits of connection The content also engages with wider issues such as the relationship between public and private life the changing connections between the sacred and the profane or the effects of gender and social status upon lived experience Constructed as an accessible wide ranging guide to research practice the book describes and represents the methods which have been developed within various disciplines for analysing pre modern material culture It comprises four sections which open up the approaches of various disciplines to non specialists Definitions disciplines new directions Contexts and categories Object studies and Material culture in action This volume addresses the need for sustained coherent comment on the state breadth and potential of this lively new field including the work of historians art historians museum curators archaeologists social scientists and literary scholars It consolidates and communicates recent developments and considers how we might take forward a multi disciplinary research agenda for the study of material culture in periods before the mass production of goods

Placemaking

Page Tara Page, 2020-06-18 Where are you from This question often refers to someone's birthplace childhood home or a place that holds significance The location that is offered in response to this question is more than a means of orientation it is a lived place that has complex meanings that identify are learned and made Yet the significance of place to our lives is often overlooked It is key to understanding who we are and how we are both individually and collectively Through embodied and material practice research underpinned with theories of new materialism Tara Page enables us to learn and understand how our ways of knowing making and learning place are entangled with embodied and material pedagogies She shows how our bodily engagements in and with the material world are intra actions of the who with the where The creative and multi dimensional approach of this book with links to photographs creative practices to be read with the text brings together the global with the local practice with theory and demonstrates the complex pedagogy between bodies places and everyday social relations of power Page reveals that placemaking is the very experiential fact of our existence but is also a necessary one

Walking as Embodied Research

Christian Ernten, Nick Shepherd, 2024-09-30 In recent years walking has emerged as a methodological tool and as a conceptually exciting point of departure across a range of disciplines and practices This volume explores walking as a form of embodied research practice that offers fresh perspectives on key contemporary debates and areas of interest These include the climate emergency and the debate around the Anthropocene decolonial thinking and the struggle for social justice feminist and queer walking methodologies and the notion of the infraordinary and practices of everyday life Contributions to this volume are by scholars artists and practitioners drawn from a wide range of disciplines and fields and from across the Global South and North An overarching theme of the volume is the manner in which the act of walking brings the body into presence as a material part of the research process and the forms of attentiveness that this encourages Another theme is the intimate connection between the act of walking and the act of writing As familiar landscapes change under the weight of Anthropogenic environmental change walking becomes an act of witnessing and a spur to action Rather than being a singular activity walking itself is understood as a socially economically and politically constructed and contested act This volume will serve as a source of inspiration to readers from across the arts humanities and social sciences who are interested in walking methodologies and in new and sustainable research practices

The Feel of the City Nicolas Kenny, 2014-06-09 At the start of the twentieth century the modern metropolis was a riot of sensation City dwellers lived in an environment filled with smoky factories crowded homes and lively thoroughfares Sights sounds and smells flooded their senses while changing conceptions of health and decorum forced many to rethink their most banal gestures from the way they negotiated speeding traffic to the use they made of public washrooms The Feel of the City exposes the sensory experiences of city dwellers in Montreal and Brussels at the turn of the century and the ways in which these shaped the social and cultural significance of urban space Using the experiences of municipal officials urban planners hygienists workers writers artists and ordinary citizens Nicolas Kenny explores the implications of the senses for our understanding of modernity
