Serenade To The Big Bird 1st Edition Us:

The Guns at Last Light Rick Atkinson, 2013-05-14 Tells the dramatic story of the titanic battle for Western Europe from D Day to the thrust to the heart of the Third Reich Hell Above Earth Stephen Frater, 2024-09-04 After the twists and turns in Goering's many missions Frater finishes with a stunning revelation an exciting read A WWII thrill ride Kirkus Reviews The US air battle over Nazi Germany in WWII was hell above earth For bomber crews every day they flew was like D Day exacting a terrible physical and emotional toll Twenty year old US Captain Werner Goering accepted this even thrived on and welcomed the adrenaline rush He was an exceptional pilot and the nephew of Hermann Goering leading member of the Nazi party and commander in chief of the Luftwaffe The FBI and the American military would not prevent Werner from serving his American homeland but neither would they risk the propaganda coup that his desertion or capture would represent for Nazi Germany J Edgar Hoover issued a top secret order that if Captain Goering's plane was downed for any reason over Nazi occupied Europe someone would be there in the cockpit to shoot Goering dead FBI agents found a man capable of accomplishing the task in Jack Rencher a tough insular B 17 instructor who also happened to be one of the Army's best pistol shots That Jack and Werner became unlikely friends is just one more twist in one of the most incredible untold tales of WWII A meticulously researched and brilliantly reconstructed tale of truth and treachery that's as riveting as it is heart stopping Providence Journal One of the greatest and most ironic surprises of World War Two A riveting book every bit as exciting and unusual as Operation Mincemeat and demonstrating that there are still things we don't know about WWII Michael Korda New York Times bestselling author Library of Congress Catalog Library of Congress, 1950

Commander in Chief Eric Larrabee, 1988-08-15 A Touchstone book Includes index Bibliography p 693 706 A Guide to the Study and Use of Military History John E. Jessup (Jr.), John E. Jessup, Robert W. Coakley, 1979 This Guide to the Study and Use of Military History is designed to foster an appreciation of the value of military history and explain its uses and the resources available for its study It is not a work to be read and lightly tossed aside but one the career soldier should read again or use as a reference at those times during his career when necessity or leisure turns him to the contemplation of the military past Commanding Lincoln's Navy Stephen Taaffe, 2009-05-01 The Union Navy played a vital role in winning the Civil War by blockading Confederate ports cooperating with the Union Army in amphibious assaults and operating on the Mississippi River and its tributaries To wage this multifaceted war Secretary of the Navy Gideon Welles divided the Union Navy into six squadrons The book examines who Welles assigned to squadron command and why he appointed these officers Taaffe argues that President Abraham Lincoln gave Welles considerable latitude in picking squadron commanders Lincoln not only trusted Welles's judgment but he also understood that the Navy was not as important to the Union war effort militarily and politically as the Army so there was less of a need for him to oversee closely its operations Welles used this authority to make appointments to squadron command based on several criteria Welles factored into his mental calculations seniority availability and political connections but he was most interested in an officer's record, character and abilities. Although some of Welles's earliest selections left something to be desired, his insight improved markedly as the war continued and he gained a greater understanding of the Navy and its officer corps. Indeed, by the end of the conflict, Welles had become quite ruthless in his search for effective squadron commanders capable of filling the Navy's increasingly difficult missions. In doing so, he contributed greatly to Union victory in the Civil War. The book covers some of the Civil War's most important campaigns and battles, such as the Union assaults on New Orleans, Charleston, Mobile Bay, and Fort Fisher, and the fighting on the Mississippi River.

Rise of the War Machines The Birth of Precision Bombing in World War II examines the rise of autonomy in air warfare from the inception of powered flight through the first phase of the Combined Bomber Offensive in World War II. Raymond P. O'Mara builds a conceptual model of human-machine teams and doctrine that demonstrates a distinctly new way of waging warfare in human-machine teams. Specifically, O'Mara examines how the U.S. Army's quest to control the complex technological and doctrinal system necessary to execute the strategic bombing mission led to the development of automation in warfare. Rise of the War Machines further explores how the process of sharing both physical and cognitive control of the precision bombing system established distinct human-machine teams with complex human-to-human and human-to-machine social relationships. O'Mara presents the precision bombing system as distinctly socio-technical, constructed of interdependent, specially trained roles: the pilot, navigator, and bombardier; purpose-built automated machines; the Norden bombsight; specialized navigation tools; and the Minneapolis Honeywell C-1 Autopilot and the high-altitude daylight bombing doctrine, all of which mutually shaped each other's creation and use.
