Sergei Nechaev:

Sergei Nechaev Philip Pomper, 1979 The Unmentionable Nechaev Michael Prawdin, 2021-12-23 First published in 1961 The Unmentionable Nechaev presents a full account of Sergei Nechaev's extraordinary life The name of Nechaev is little known today in the western world Michael Prawdin expounds his teachings and shows the strain of Nechaevism running through the Russian revolutionary movement and the part it played in the success of the Bolshevik revolution Step by step the author analyses Lenin's build up of his party and reveals how he used Nechaev's conspiratory system The book explains why at the moment of victory Nechaev was suddenly hailed as an ancestor of Bolshevism only to be just as suddenly once more repudiated and relegated to obscurity This book is an essential read for scholars and researchers of Soviet history Communist history and history in general Anarchism and Authority Paul McLaughlin, 2007-01-01 Examining the political theory of anarchism from a philosophical and historical perspective Paul McLaughlin relates anarchism to the fundamental ethical and political problem of authority The book pays particular attention to the authority of the state and the anarchist rejection of all traditional claims made for the legitimacy of state authority the author both explaining and defending the central tenets of the anarchist critique of the state How Bad Writing Destroyed the World Adam Weiner, 2016-10-06 Literary history meets economic policy in this entertaining polemic on the ethical and potentially destructive power of terrible literature Mothers and Daughters Barbara Alpern Engel, 1983 Presenting a study of the social and cultural origins of female radicalism in nineteenth century Russia International Terrorists Thomas Streissguth, 1993 Examines the lives of various contemporary terrorist leaders and the violent tactics of such groups as the Irish Republican Army the Baader Meinhof gang and the Hezbollah The Master of Petersburg J. M. Coetzee, 2017-06-06 J M Coetzee's latest novel The Schooldays of Jesus is now available from Viking Late Essays 2006 2016 will be available January 2018 In the fall of 1869 Fyodor Mikhailovich Dostoevsky lately a resident of Germany is summoned back to St Petersburg by the sudden death of his stepson Pavel Half crazed with grief stricken by epileptic seizures and erotically obsessed with his stepson's landlady Dostoevsky is nevertheless intent on unraveling the enigma of Pavel's life Was the boy a suicide or a murder victim Did he love his stepfather or despise him Was he a disciple of the revolutionary Nechaev who even now is somewhere in St Petersburg pursuing a dream of apocalyptic violence As he follows his stepson's ghost and becomes enmeshed in the same demonic conspiracies that claimed the boy Dostoevsky emerges as a figure of unfathomable contradictions naive and calculating compassionate and cruel pious and unspeakably perverse Secretary of the Invisible Mike Marais, 2009 How do individuals who are part of a community respond to the stranger as a stranger i e without simply positioning this outsider in opposition to the community in which they are located How may individuals receive something unknown and therefore surprising into their world without compromising it by identifying it in the terms of that world In this study Mike Marais traces the various ways in which Coetzee's fiction from Dusklands through to Slow

Man repeatedly poses such questions of hospitality It is shown that the form of ethical action staged in Coetzee's writing is grounded not in the individual's willed and rational achievement but in his or her invasion and possession by the strangeness of the stranger This ethic of hospitality Marais argues has a strong aesthetic dimension for Coetzee the writer is inspired to write by being acted upon by a force from beyond the phenomenal world The writer is a secretary of the invisible She or he is responsible to and for the invisible Marais maintains that this understanding of writing as an involuntary response to that which exceeds history is evident from the first in Coetzee's fiction In readings of the novels of the apartheid era he traces this writer's rueful ironic awareness of the limited even incidental form of political engagement that may emanate from such an aesthetic He then goes on to argue that if it is the writer's obligation to render visible the invisible writing must be a task that can never be completed What is more such writing is thus bound to be iterative in form With this in mind he traces the structural similarities between Coetzee's writing of the apartheid period and his post apartheid and Australian writing arguing that the later texts are self reflexively aware of their endlessly repetitive nature These contentions are developed incrementally through close readings of the individual novels that focus on recurring metaphors of hospitality visitor the stranger the house the castaway the invisible the dream and the child
