Theatre and Postcolonial Desires Awam Amkpa,2004-06-01 This book explores the themes of colonial encounters and postcolonial contests over identity power and culture through the prism of theatre The struggles it describes unfolded in two cultural settings separated by geography but bound by history in a common web of colonial relations spun by the imperatives of European modernity In post imperial England as in its former colony Nigeria the colonial experience not only hybridized the process of national self definition but also provided dramatists with the language imagery and frame of reference to narrate the dynamics of internal wars over culture and national destiny happening within their own societies The author examines the works of prominent twentieth century Nigerian and English dramatists such as Wole Soyinka Femi Osofisan Davd Edgar and Caryl Churchill to argue that dramaturgies of resistance in the contexts of both Nigerian as well as its imperial inventor England shared a common allegiance to what he describes as postcolonial desires That is the aspiration to overcome the legacies of colonialism by imagining alternative universes anchored in democratic cultural pluralism The plays and their histories serve as filters through which Ampka illustrates the operation of what he calls overlapping modernities and reconfigures the notions of power and representation citizenship and subjectivity colonial and anticolonial nationalisms and postcoloniality The dramatic works studied in this book embodied a version of postcolonial aspirations that the author conceptualises as transcending temporal locations to encompass varied moments of consciousness for progressive change whether they happened during the hey day of English imperialism in early twentieth century Nigeria or in response to the exclusionary politics of the Conservative Party in Thatcherite England Theatre and Postcolonial Desires will be essential reading for students and researchers in the areas of drama postcolonial and cultural studies

British History Play Richard H. Palmer, 1998-06-18 British drama since 1956 has been particularly innovative This volume investigates how recent British history plays reflect the methods and values of New History in contrast to traditional biographical dramas that depict the lives of great men of the past More than 50 British playwrights are discussed including John Osborne John Arden Edward Bond Robert Bolt Pam Gems Howard Brenton Caryl Churchill Howard Barker and Peter Shaffer Historical drama consistently displays the sense of history prevalent when it was written a 17th century quest for precedent and analogy the affirmation of cosmic order in the 18th century the Romantic search for manifestations of spiritual purpose in Victorian times a demonstration that humans control events and the early 20th century promise emulating science to present the facts objectively Contemporary British history plays however demonstrate different agendas for history itself Marxist plays illustrate a historical dialect leading to the emergence of Communism Oppositional history takes the point of view of the disenfranchised the defeated or the oppressed Social histories refocus attention away from movers and shakers onto groups of small players Feminist historians expose the biases of a male dominated hegemony and confront the role of gender in history Deconstructionists debunk our confidence in historical metanarratives Postmodernism uses anachronism and stylistic eclecticism to emphasize parallels in different historical periods or to relate historically defined metaphors and rituals to modern experience Both playwrights and critics confront the implications of the idea that history is constructed and not simply found and new approaches to history demand innovations in the staging and structuring of plays Brecht Sourcebook Henry Bial, Carol Martin, 2005-08-08 A fascinating anthology that brings together in one volume many of the most important articles written about Brecht between 1957 and 1997 These essays are an ideal companion to Brecht's plays
