Patton,2019-11-15 Lockheed has been one of American's largest corporations and most important defense contractors from World War II to the present day since 1995 as part of Lockheed Martin Aeronautics Company During the postwar era its executives enacted complicated business responses to black demands for equality Based on the papers of a personnel executive the memoir of an African American employee interviews and company publications this narrative history offers a unique inside perspective on the evolution of equal employment and affirmative action policies at Lockheed Aircraft's massive Georgia plant from the early 1950s through the early 1980s. Randall L. Patton provides a rare, perhaps unique account of African American struggle and management response set within the context of the regional and national struggles for civil rights. The book describes the complex interplay of black protest, federal policy and management action in a crucial space in the national economy and within the South, contributing to business history, policy history, labor history and civil rights history.

Duty, Honor, and A Loaf of Bread Jan (Waldron) & Ed Votroubek, 2012-10-31 Like other families, letters were the fabric that held the fledgling Waldron family together during the personally trying, society-changing events of World War II. Bill, the town baker, voluntarily became an infantry soldier and platoon scout in Europe, and Marge, a new wife, became the town baker. The Waldrons' version of Rosie the Riveter. Nothing in their lives had prepared them for these roles, yet everything in their lives made them equal to the tasks at hand. Their letters to one another provide an intimate view of an American family triumphing in the face of adversity. Duty, Honor, Faith, Love, and Family all play a role, and readers will come to love and admire both of them. Bill's letters from the Battle of the Bulge, the Siegfried Line, and through the end of the war across Germany and into Czechoslovakia are particularly interesting. He reveals himself as a down-to-earth patriot who volunteered for a very dangerous job and excelled as a man with survivor's instincts who avoided illness, frostbite, and wounds under extremely difficult circumstances. Historical perspective is provided by sidebars throughout the book, which explain matters referred to in the letters as well as what is going on in the war and at home. The sidebars are themselves an education, made immediate and interesting by the personal experiences conveyed in the letters. A really great read.

The Farmers' Advocate and Home Magazine, 1918 Army and Navy Journal, 1927 Taps, 2007 This publication lists names and biographical information on graduates and former cadets who have died. Video Source Book, 2008 News-letter, 1946
