New Glass Architecture Brent Richards, Gilbert Dennis, 2006-01-01 A timely look at the ways in which glass is utilized in some of today's most beautiful and experimental building designs For centuries glass has provoked fascination with its properties as a versatile material that permits light to enter buildings in spectacular ways Much of modern architecture has been conceived by using glass to create increasingly minimal structures to promote the notion of lightweight construction solutions and to allow maximum daylight into buildings New Glass Architecture showcases the changing ways that aesthetics and methods for using glass have been developing since the 1990s The book begins with an introduction that traces the history of key moments in glass architecture from the stained glass windows of Chartres Cathedral to the Crystal Palace of 1851 and early constructions by John Soane Bruno Taut Le Corbusier and Mies van der Rohe Author Brent Richards explains the importance of glass artists in the second half of the 20th century and describes developments in glass technology over the last twenty years Beautifully illustrated with newly commissioned photographs by Dennis Gilbert the book features twenty five case studies of recent glass constructions from around the world by such leading architects as Foster and Partners Frank Gehry Herzog de Meuron Steven Holl Toyo Ito Associates Jean Nouvel Raphael Violy and Peter Zumthor Each building is illustrated in full color and accompanied by detailed drawings New Glass Architecture features these buildings and more Chapel of Ignatius Seattle Cond Nast Caf New York DZ Bank Berlin Kimmel Center for the Performing Arts Philadelphia Kunsthaus Graz Austria Laban

Dance Centre London Torre Agbar Barcelona The Bishop's Palace Maureen C. Miller, 2018-09-05 This lavishly illustrated book looks at the art and architecture of episcopal palaces as expressions of power and ideology Tracing the history of the bishop's residence in the urban centers of northern Italy over the Middle Ages Maureen C Miller asks why this once rudimentary and highly fortified structure called a domus became a complex and elegant palace palatium by the late twelfth century Miller argues that the change reflects both the emergence of a distinct clerical culture and the attempts of bishops to maintain authority in public life She relates both to the Gregorian reform movement which set new standards for clerical deportment and at the same time undercut episcopal claims to secular power As bishops lost temporal authority in their cities to emerging communal governments they compensated architecturally and competed with the communes for visual and spatial dominance in the urban center This rivalry left indelible marks on the layout and character of Italian cities Moreover Miller contends this struggle for power had highly significant but mixed results for western Christianity On the one hand as bishops lost direct governing authority in their cities they devised ways to retain status influence and power through cultural practices This response to loss was highly creative On the other hand their loss of secular control led bishops to emphasize their spiritual powers and to use them to obtain temporal ends The coercive use of spiritual authority contributed to the emergence of a persecuting society in the central Middle Ages A Companion to Roman Architecture Roger B. Ulrich, Caroline K. Quenemoen, 2013-10-10 A Companion to Roman Architecture presents a comprehensive review of the critical issues and approaches that have transformed scholarly understanding in recent decades in one easy to reference volume Offers a cross disciplinary approach to Roman architecture spanning technology history art politics and archaeology Brings together contributions by leading scholars in architectural history An essential guide to recent scholarship covering new archaeological discoveries lesser known buildings new technologies and space and construction Includes extensive up to date bibliography and glossary of key Roman architectural terms Architecture and Authority in Japan William H. Coaldrake, 2002-03-11 First published in 1996 Architecture is one of the most inspired manifestations of Japanese civilization a pillar of both traditional society and the modern state The rugged walls of Himeji Castle the pristine perfection of the Ise Shrine and the soaring skyscrapers of modern Tokyo are all examples of consummate artistic inspiration harnessed to building technology in the service of religion or the state These buildings offer a unique opportunity to identify the ideas and institutions of authority both religious and secular embodied in built form William Coaldrake argues that there is a symbiotic relationship between architecture and authority throughout Japanese history Examination of Nara and Heian palaces Kamakura temples and Momoyama castles reveals the changing countenance of aristocratic and warrior power The study also shows how some buildings helped to mould power relations by creating a physical presence to intimidate and subordinate those under imperial and shogunal rule such as the Palace of Nijō Castle More recently Western architectural styles have been used to restructure the way Japan presents itself to the outside world Relating buildings to the political ambitions and religious beliefs of the age this book makes a significant contribution to Japanese studies By examining architecture as an expression of authority William Coaldrake highlights many defining moments in Japanese history opening up new avenues for study on both traditional and contemporary Japan
