for what we must to do save them Storytelling for Sustainability in Higher Education Petra Molthan-Hill, Heather Luna, Tony Wall, Helen Puntha, Denise Baden, 2020-03-25 To be a storyteller is an incredible position from which to influence hearts and minds and each one of us has the capacity to utilise storytelling for a sustainable future This book offers unique and powerful insights into how stories and storytelling can be utilised within higher education to support sustainability literacy Stories can shape our perspective of the world around us and how we interact with it and this is where storytelling becomes a useful tool for facilitating understanding of sustainability concepts which tend to be complex and multifaceted The craft of storytelling is as old as time and has influenced human experience throughout the ages The conscious use of storytelling in higher education is likewise not new although less prevalent in certain academic disciplines what this book offers is the opportunity to delve into the concept of storytelling as an educational tool regardless of and beyond the boundaries of subject area Written by academics and storytellers the book is based on the authors own experiences of using stories within teaching from a story of the Ecology of Law to the exploration of sustainability in accounting and finance via contemporary cinema Practical advice in each chapter ensures that ideas may be put into practice with ease In addition to examples from the classroom the book also explores wider uses of storytelling for communication and sense making and ways of assessing student storytelling work It also offers fascinating research insights for example in addressing the question of whether positive utopian stories relating to climate change will have a stronger impact on changing the behaviour of readers than will dystopian stories Everyone working as an educator should find some inspiration here for their own practice on using storytelling and stories to co design positive futures together with our students Destructive and Useful Insects Clell Lee Metcalf, Wesley Pillsbury Flint, 1928 Strange Foods Jerry Hopkins, 1999-11-15 This gastrological romp shares tales of gustatory tidbits from six continents Weaving history and autobiography author Jerry Hopkins regales with an array of startling facts about the world's eating habits Strange Foods begins with rat tales from the Roman Empire and imperial China and continues on to stories from locales where rat remains a mouth watering hors d'oeuvre or hearty entrée today There are at least 40 serving suggestions for crocodile alone And there are more than 250 photographs from acclaimed photographer Michael Freeman whose aim is true and who eats what he shoots This is gonzo food writing that's sure to change your mind if not your palate Meehans' Monthly, 1892 Nourishing Waters, Comforting Sky Stephen R. Jones, 2022-04 Stephen R Jones's essays explore the natural and cultural history of the Sandhills giving special attention to the engaging and fragile beauty of the public private ecosystems that surround and comprise the Crescent Lake National Wildlife area in western Nebraska Pandora's Picnic Basket Alan McHughen, 2000-06-22 Are you concerned about fish genes in tomatoes Worried that brazil nut genes in soybeans can result in potentially lethal allergic reactions That rapeseed plants bred to be resistant to herbicides could become uncontrollable superweeds You are not alone The issue of genetically modified foods has fast become one of the most debated of recent years with scientists and companies seeking to develop the technology on one side and consumer groups and environmentalists on the other. However, in spite of the great heat generated by the debate, there is very little real information on the subject either about the technologies in use or about the regulatory processes established to approve the processes and the products. This book sets out to explain in clear and direct language the technologies underlying so-called genetically modified food and compares them with other natural methods of plant breeding and production. The author then looks at the safeguards in place from regulators around the world and asks whether these are sufficient. The question of labelling, held by some to be an obvious way out for concerned consumers, is examined and the honesty and usefulness of some of these labels addressed. The book then looks at issues of real concern, particularly environmental issues and ways in which a consumer can seek to avoid GMOs if they so choose. In each chapter, key topics are addressed through question and answer boxes. Real case histories illustrate the development and regulation of GMOs and by the end of the book, the reader will be able to make an informed choice about whether to support or challenge this technology, the products of which are increasingly pervasive.
