Re Constructing Archaeology

Michael Shanks, Christopher Tilley

Re Constructing Archaeology:

Re-constructing Archaeology Michael Shanks, Christopher Tilley, 2016-09-17 In Re Constructing Archaeology Shanks and Tilley aim to challenge the disciplinary practices of both traditional and the new archaeology and to present a radical alternative a critically self conscious archaeology aware of itself as practice in the present and equally a social archaeology that appreciates artefacts not merely as objects of analysis but as part of a social world of past and present that is charged with meaning It is a fresh and invigorating contribution to the emergence of a philosophically and politically informed archaeology Re-constructing Archaeology Michael Shanks, Christopher Y. Tilley, 1992 First published in 1992 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Re-constructing Archaeology Michael Shanks, 1992

Re-constructing Archaeology Michael Shanks, 1987 Reconstructing Past Monastic Life: Volume 1: Bioarchaeology, Life and Death Lluís Lloveras, Carme Rissech, Jordi Nadal, Philip Banks, 2025-07-30 Explores health and lifeways in monastic communities focusing on palaeopathological insights into well being disabilities and burial practices across various periods Monasticism is a form of religious life in which participants renounce worldly activities to dedicate themselves primarily to spiritual matters living in small communities subject to a set of rules and isolated from the secular world Christian monasticism which originated at the end of the 3rd century in Egypt and North Africa spread to different parts of Europe in the 6th century However it was not until the Middle Ages that monastic communities became one of the most powerful institutions in Europe Monasteries and convents played a very important role not only as centers of spirituality but also as focal points of economic technological and cultural activity This multiplicity of activities carried out alongside their religious social and political roles make monasteries spaces that can be studied from very different perspectives and that unfailingly provide essential information about our history This first of two titles originates from an international conference that took place in Barcelona in January 2024 which sought to examine different aspects related to monastic life in the past and to promote and disseminate the results obtained in the latest studies undertaken within the framework of monastic complexes and their environments These include contributions and multidisciplinary studies from archaeological bioanthropological and or documentary perspectives Specialists from different disciplines present developments on the topic of monasticism from different fields of study such as zooarchaeology bioanthropology palaeopathology archaeology history documentary disciplines archives cultural heritage etc Volume 1 concentrates on health and lifeways within monastic communities focusing on palaeopathological information providing insights into physical well being and in particular the presence and significance of disabled individuals and evidence for long term health and dental issues A variety of scientific methods of analysis are applied to cemetery populations from monasteries and nunneries of different periods to examine both causes of and contributions to the death of individuals the composition of communities and the treatment of the dead Studies of assemblages of faunal remains from monastic complexes consider how faunal analysis can help interpret the role of domestic species      The Disunity of Science Peter Louis Galison, David J. Stump, 1996 Is science unified or disunified Over the last century the question has raised the interest and hackles of scientists philosophers historians and sociologists of science for at stake is how science and society fit together Recent years have seen a turn largely against the rhetoric of unity ranging from the plea of condensed matter physicists for disciplinary autonomy all the way to discussions in the humanities and social sciences that involve local history feminism multiculturalism postmodernism scientific relativism and realism and social constructivism Many of these varied aspects of the debate over the disunity of science are reflected in this volume which brings together a number of scholars studying science who otherwise have had little to say to each other feminist theorists philosophers of science sociologists of science How does the context of discovery shape knowledge What are the philosophical consequences of a disunified science Does for example an antirealism a realism or an arealism become defensible within a picture of local scientific knowledge What politics lies behind and follows from a picture of the world of science more like a quilt than a pyramid Who gains and loses if representation of science has standards that vary from place to place field to field and practitioner to practitioner      Reconstructing the Society of Ancient Israel Paula M.

McNutt, 1999-01-01 In this volume Paula McNutt provides a synthesis of recent research on the nature and development of the society of ancient Israel Focusing on Israelite history from the tribal period through the time of Persian domination McNutt employs a social scientific perspective to examine recent reconstructions of the social and cultural contexts that nurtured the literature of the Hebrew Bible She also offers a helpful overview of the components and dynamics of ancient Israelite society By investigating the intricate social processes that sustained the society of ancient Israel McNutt enables the reader to discern the forces at work during key periods of transition and transformation in early Israelite history

Reconstructing a Maritime Past Matthew Harpster, 2022-12-30 Reconstructing a Maritime Past argues that rather than applying geo ethnic labels to shipwrecks to describe Greek or Roman seafaring a more intriguing alternative emphasizes a maritime culture's valorization of the Mediterranean Sea Doing so creates new questions and research agendas to understand the past human relationship with the sea This study makes this argument in three sections Chapters 1 and 2 contrasting intellectual histories of maritime archaeological interpretive approaches common in Northern Europe and the Mediterranean propose that the former perspective which embodies contemporary and fluid perceptions of culture is a better theoretical framework for future research Chapters 3 5 re interpret the corpus of submerged sites in the Mediterranean Sea with this approach arguing that this dataset does not represent Phoenician Muslim or Byzantine seafaring but the practices of a maritime culture Key to this section is the author's method that utilizes superimposed polygons to model patterns of maritime activity generating centennial results at different scales Having built the models of a maritime culture's valorization of the Mediterranean Sea Chapter 6 contains the first comparisons of these models to other datasets questioning the relevance of textual media to understand maritime activity while finding closer analogues with other archaeological corpora

By deconstructing interpretive methods in maritime archaeology offering a new synthesizing interpretive approach that is scalable and decoupled from past perceptions and critically examining the applicability of various media to illuminate the past maritime experience this book will appeal to scholars at various stages of their careers Reconstructing Jerusalem Kenneth A. Ristau, 2016-06-01 Jerusalem one of the most contested sites in the world Reconstructing Jerusalem takes readers back to a pivotal moment in its history when it lay ruined and abandoned and the glory of its ancient kings David and Solomon had faded Why did this city not share the same fate as so many other conquered cities destroyed and forever abandoned never to be rebuilt Why did Jerusalem disgraced and humiliated not suffer the fate of Babylon Nineveh or Persepolis Reconstructing Jerusalem explores the interrelationship of the physical and intellectual processes leading to Jerusalem's restoration after its destruction in 587 B C E stressing its symbolic importance and the power of the prophetic perspective in the preservation of the Judean nation and the critical transition from Yahwism to Judaism Through texts and artifacts including a unique comprehensive investigation of the archaeological evidence a startling story emerges the visions of a small group of prophets not only inspired the rebuilding of a desolate city but also of a dispersed people Archaeological historical and literary analysis converge to reveal the powerful elements of the story a story of dispersion and destruction but also of re creation and revitalization a story about how compelling visions can change the fate of a people and the course of human history a story of a community reborn to a barren city The Oxford Handbook of Material Culture Studies Dan Hicks, Mary C. Beaudry, 2010-09-02 Written by an international team of experts the Handbook makes accessible a full range of theoretical and applied approaches to the study of material culture and the place of materiality in social theory presenting current thinking about material culture from the fields of archaeology anthropology geography and science and technology studies Finding People in Early Greece Carol G. Thomas, 2005 Explores the marriage of historically oriented scholarship and scientific developments in the study of preclassical Greek history Two figures from preclassical Greece are examined Jason and the voyage of the Argo from the Age of Heroes and Hesiod who lived during the Age of Revolution Provided by publisher Investigating Archaeological Cultures Benjamin W. Roberts, Marc Vander Linden, 2011-06-04 Defining culture is an important step in undertaking archaeological research Any thorough study of a particular culture first has to determine what that culture contains what particular time period geographic region and group of people make up that culture The study of archaeology has many accepted definitions of particular cultures but recently these accepted definitions have come into question As archaeologists struggle to define cultures they also seek to define the components of culture This volume brings together 21 international case studies to explore the meaning of culture for regions around the globe and periods from the Paleolithic to the Bronze Age and beyond Taking lessons and overarching themes from these studies the contributors draw important conclusions about cultural transmission technology development and cultural development The result is a comprehensive model for approaching the study of culture broken down into regions Russia Continental Europe North

America Britain and Africa materials Lithics Ceramics Metals and time periods This work will be valuable to all archaeologists and cultural anthropologists particularly those studying material culture Critical Traditions in Contemporary Archaeology Valerie Pinsky, Alison Wylie, 1989

Reconstructing the Development of Somerset's Early Medieval Church Carole Lomas, 2024-05-09 This book uses Somerset as a case study to contribute to a broader understanding of how the Church developed across the British Isles during the transition from the post Roman Church to the 11th century It collates and cross references all earlier research and offers the most up to date study of Somerset's post Roman churches

Reconstructing Foucault Ricardo Miguel-Alfonso, Silvia Caporale-Bizzini, 1994 Reconstructing Ontario Iroquoian Village Organization — Ontario Iroquois Tradition Longhouses Gary A. Warrick, Christine F. Dodd, 1984-01-01 The first study presents a model of Ontario Iroquoian village organization based on fourteen Late Iroquoian ca A D 1450 1650 village plans historic documents and comparative data on contemporary communities It is argued that socio political factors village demography socio economics and government were the major determinants of Iroquoian village arrangement In light of the socio political model suggested in part one of this book the second study interprets changes in longhouse village planning throughout the Ontario Iroquois sequence A D 700 1650 as responses to evolutionary trends in Iroquoian warfare patterns and political organization Published in English

Reconstructing Restorative Justice Philosophy Theo Gavrielides, Vasso Artinopoulou, 2016-04-08 This book takes bold steps in forming much needed philosophical foundations for restorative justice through deconstructing and reconstructing various models of thinking It challenges current debates through the consideration and integration of various disciplines such as law criminology philosophy and human rights into restorative justice theory resulting in the development of new and stimulating arguments Topics covered include the close relationship and convergence of restorative justice and human rights some of the challenges of engagement with human rights the need for the recognition of the teachings of restorative justice at both the theoretical and the applied level the Aristotelian theory on restorative justice the role of restorative justice in schools and in police practice and a discussion of the humanistic African philosophy of Ubuntu With international contributions from various disciplines and through the use of value based research methods the book deconstructs existing concepts and suggests a new conceptual model for restorative justice This unique book will be of interest to academics researchers policy makers and practitioners     Reconstructing Tascalusa's Chiefdom Amanda L. Regnier,2014-07-31 Reconstructing Tascalusa s Chiefdom is an archaeological study of political collapse in the Alabama River Valley following the Hernando de Soto expedition To explain the cultural and political disruptions caused by Hernando de Soto s exploration deep into north America Amanda L Regnier presents an innovative analysis of ceramics and theory of cultural exchange She argues that culture consists of a series of interconnected models governing proper behavior that are shared across the belief systems of communities and individuals Historic cognitive models derived from ceramic data via cluster and correspondence analysis can effectively be used to examine these models and explain cultural exchange The results of Regnier s work demonstrate that the Alabama River Valley was settled by populations migrating from three different regions during the late fifteenth century The mixture of ceramic models associated with these traditions at Late Mississippian sites suggests that these newly founded towns controlled by Tascalusa comprised ethnically and linguistically diverse populations Perhaps most significantly Tascalusa s chiefdom appears to be a precontact example of a coalescent society that emerged after populations migrated from the deteriorating Mississippian chiefdoms into a new region A summary of excavations at Late Mississippian sites also includes the first published chronology of the Alabama River from approximately AD 900 to 1600     Reconstructing Archaeological Sites Panagiotis Karkanas,Paul Goldberg,2018-08-20 A guide to the systematic understanding of the geoarchaeological matrix Reconstructing Archaeological Sites offers an important text that puts the focus on basic theoretical and practical aspects of depositional processes in an archaeological site It contains an in depth discussion on the role of stratigraphy that helps determine how deposits are organised in time and space The authors two experts in the field include the information needed to help recognise depositional systems processes and stratigraphic units that aid in the interpreting the stratigraphy and deposits of a site in the field The book is filled with practical tools numerous illustrative examples drawings and photos as well as compelling descriptions that help visualise depositional processes and clarify how these build the stratigraphy of a site Based on the authors years of experience the book offers a holistic approach to the study of archaeological deposits that spans the broad fundamental aspects to the smallest details This important guide Offers information and principles for interpreting natural and anthropogenic sediments and physical processes in sites Provides a framework for reconstructing the history of a deposit and the site Outlines the fundamental principles of site formation processes Explores common misconceptions about what constitutes a deposit Presents a different approach for investigating archaeological stratigraphy based on sedimentary principles Written for archaeologists and geoarchaeologists at all levels of expertise as well as senior level researchers Reconstructing Archaeological Sites offers a guide to the theory and practice of how stratigraphy is produced and how deposits can be organised in time and space
