This book shows that widespread resacralisation has been taking place which is producing new ways of perceiving God and the divine The last century has seen unmistakable changes in religious practices and the concept of spirituality right across the world There was a broad expectation for much of the twentieth century that religious worldviews would eventually succumb to the challenge of secularist materialism but this process of secularisation has yet to occur as predicted The book begins by contrasting theories of secularisation and resacralisation Throughout the book conceptual threads or new religious themes related to this resacralisation are discussed in terms of three main categories reimaging God s nature substance and location reimaging human value and purpose and reimaging modes of redemption Finally the book considers how these threads are moving in various different directions and what the religious future might hold This is a bold examination of contemporary spirituality that will appeal to academics and scholars of religious studies new religious movements and the sociology of religion

Re-Imagining Labour Law for Development Diamond Ashiagbor,2019-07-25 The aim of this book is to explore labour law s conceptual and normative narrative If labour law is informed by the wider political and economic landscape within which it operates then given the declining prevalence of the post war model of full employment within a formal welfare state regime what shape does or should labour law assume in response to the transformation of the political economy in countries of the global North Correspondingly what is the proper role to be played by labour law and labour relations institutions in the development process within industrialising countries of the global South where informal employment has long been and remains the predominant form Drawing on the expertise of leading labour law scholars this collection addresses those questions by examining the growth and continued prevalence of informality Offering research that is both empirically grounded and doctrinally astute the book explores the changing character of labour law in the global North and South     Re-Imagining Spaces and Places Stefano Rozzoni,Beitske Boonstra,Teresa Cutler-Broyles,2022-03-29
