

Developing Reading competence in a competence based curriculum

We can develop the reading competence through the four ranges of language related to the standards:

- Range of realities specific to the subject (knowledge);
- Range of operations (skills and strategies) specific to the subject;
- Range of personal and social responses (attitudes, values, beliefs) mobilized by the knowledge and skills acquired in a certain subject;
- Range of connections with other subjects and domains.

Reading Competence:

Measuring Reading Competence S. Schwartz, 2013-06-29 This book concerns measuring reading skills It is not meant to be a comprehensive survey of reading research or a review of all possible approaches to reading measurement although considerable attention is given to both subjects Instead the purpose of this book is to present a coherent theoretically based approach to measuring reading competence The ability to measure a phenomenon is an important prerequisite for scientific analysis As Lord Kelvin said One's knowledge of science begins when he can measure what he is speaking about and express it in numbers Unfortunately not just any numbers will do Presently available reading tests provide their users with a plethora of numbers age levels percentiles grade equivalents but their scientific value is questionable The problem is that there is more to scientific measurement than merely assigning numbers to arbitrarily chosen behaviors Scientific measurement occurs only within the confines of a theory and most reading tests are atheoretical Recent years have witnessed an explosive growth in reading research

The Role of Fluency in Reading Competence, Assessment, and Instruction Edward J. Kame'enui, Deborah C. Simmons, 2001-06-01 First published in 2001 This is a special issue Volume 5 Number 3 from 2001 of Scientific Studies of Reading that looks at the DNA of reading fluency in scientific inquiry accounts The contributors offer a selection of essays seeks to establish that that fluent reading is plainly developmental and represents an outcome of well specified sub lexical and lexical processes and skills developed for most children over a bounded period of pedagogical time rather than in just the school setting

Transforming Reading Skills in the Secondary School Pat Guy, 2015-05-14 Transforming Reading Skills in the Secondary School is a commonsense text designed to help practitioners working in a mainstream context. The book suggests ways to develop the underlying skills necessary for good reading through multiple pathways such as mainstream subject lessons, individual and small group support sessions, whole school initiatives, the use of reading mentors, and home school liaison opportunities. Brimming with ideas and activities, Pat Guy explores a variety of different aspects of reading including how reading is taught and why it is such an important skill for the individual, how to motivate the reluctant reader, the role played by the mainstream specialist teacher, underlying problems pupils may face, how to increase parental involvement, reasons why a pupil's comprehension might be limited, the role of the School Librarian, the relevance to reading of vocabulary and general knowledge. Anyone wanting to develop the reading skills of secondary pupils who struggle will find this a resource they return to time and time again.

Teaching and Developing Reading Skills Google eBook Peter Watkins, 1918-02-22 This book is for anyone who wants to provide their learners with rich and rewarding reading experiences. Drawing on current reading theory, the book promotes the teaching of reading in a theoretically sound way, moving beyond a comprehension testing approach to reading. The practical part of the book provides a collection of accessible generic activities so that teachers can support and develop learners' reading skills and strategies. Its scope is wide ranging from promoting reading and developing fluency to exploiting digital sources, using learner-generated texts, and assessing reading. Further activities support teachers develop excellence in the teaching of reading through guided reflection and action research.

Competence Assessment in Education Detlev Leutner, Jens Fleischer, Juliane Grünkorn, Eckhard Klieme, 2017-03-27 This book addresses challenges in the theoretically and empirically adequate assessment of competencies in educational settings. It presents the scientific projects of the priority program Competence Models for Assessing Individual Learning Outcomes and Evaluating Educational Processes, which focused on competence assessment across disciplines in Germany. The six-year program coordinated 30 research projects involving experts from the fields of psychology, educational science, and subject-specific didactics. The main reference point for all projects is the concept of competencies, which are defined as context-specific cognitive dispositions that are acquired and needed to successfully cope with certain situations or tasks in specific domains. Koeppen et al. 2008, p. 62. The projects investigate different aspects of competence assessment. The primary focus lies on the development of cognitive models of competencies complemented by the construction of psychometric models based on these theoretical models. In turn, the psychometric models constitute the basis for the construction of instruments for effectively measuring competencies. The assessment of competencies plays a key role in optimizing educational processes and improving the effectiveness of educational systems. This book contributes to this challenging endeavor by meeting the need for more integrative interdisciplinary research on the structure levels and development of competencies.

Innovative Educational Approaches to Creative Writing Skills Liliaana Mata, Monalisa-Laura Gavrilut, 2025-06-20 This book provides innovative educational approaches to the development of primary school students' creative writing skills and highlights the need to develop creative writing skills in today's schools. It presents the educational model of creative writing skills training which combines all curriculum components: educational objectives, curricular contents, teaching methods and techniques, and competency-based assessment. This book also explores new perspectives such as creative writing as art, freedom and exploration, the digitization of creative writing, and promoting reflective learning through creative writing exercises. This book serves as a useful guide for educators to foster creative writing in primary school classrooms, as well as for researchers in the field of language teaching and other readers who are interested in the topic.

Educational Digital Transformation: New Technological Challenges for Competence Development Julio Cabero Almenara, Carmen Llorente Cejudo, Antonio Palacios-Rodriguez, 2023-10-09 The COVID-19 pandemic has provided a unique opportunity to examine our understanding of the opportunities and challenges that ICTs offer to support the functioning of all aspects of education. The closure of educational institutions has forced a radical change in the practices of teachers and societies regarding the use of ICT to support teaching, learning, social relations, and work in many sectors. In the training of digital skills, the instrumental mastery of ICT continues to outweigh the preparation of citizens to make constructive and safe use of technologies. After two decades of educational policies, we continue to reduce digital literacy to instrumental skills. That is, you do not learn why to use educational technologies and how or to be critical of their use. Education 4.0 seeks to develop and enhance the digital skills of students and teachers in digital teaching environments through the creation of a line of academic training programs for undergraduate, postgraduate, and continuing education. This article collection welcomes contributions to improve training policies and practices in Educational Digital Transformation for educational development strategies, activities, proposals for assessment, and certification of skills.
