Sense Of An Ending Studies In The Theory Of Fiction:

Sense of an Ending Frank Kermode, 1967 Relates the theory of literary fiction to a more general theory using fictions of apocalypse as a model and discusses such authors as Sartre Beckett and Murdoch The ^ASense of an Ending Frank Kermode, 2000-04-06 Frank Kermode is one of our most distinguished critics of English literature Here he contributes a new epilogue to his collection of classic lectures on the relationship of fiction to age old concepts of apocalyptic chaos and crisis Prompted by the approach of the millennium he revisits the book which brings his highly concentrated insights to bear on some of the most unyielding philosophical and aesthetic enigmas Examining the works of writers from Plato to William Burrows Kermode shows how they have persistently imposed their fictions upon the face of eternity and how these have reflected the apocalyptic spirit Kermode then discusses literature at a time when new fictive explanations as used by Spenser and Shakespeare were being devised to fit a world of uncertain beginning and end He goes on to deal perceptively with modern literature with traditionalists such as Yeats Eliot and Joyce as well as contemporary schismatics the French new novelists and such seminal figures as Jean Paul Sartre and Samuel Beckett Whether weighing the difference between modern and earlier modes of apocalyptic thought considering the degeneration of fiction into myth or commenting on the vogue of the Absurd Kermode is distinctly lucid persuasive witty and prodigal of ideas The Sense of an Ending Frank Kermode, 1973 The Sense of an Ending John Frank Kermode, 1975 The Sense of an Ending. Studies in the Theory of Fiction. (The Mary Flexner Lectures, 1965.). Frank Kermode, 1967 The Literary Devices in John's Gospel David W. Wead, 2018-07-18 As an interdisciplinary forerunner of the new literary approaches to gospel narratives over the last four decades in New Testament scholarship the revised and expanded monograph by David Wead makes a timely contribution to the advancement of those studies Rooted in comparative analyses of contemporary Hellenistic and Jewish literary techniques and drawing from the best of Continental scholarship Wead not only points Johannine scholars to relevant ancient resources but his analyses prepare the way for fresh interpretations of John s story of Jesus today Published originally in Switzerland this book was overlooked by many scholars to the detriment of their work However in addressing such themes as John s post resurrection point of view the Johannine sign the Johannine double meaning irony in the Fourth Gospel and metaphor in the Fourth Gospel Wead s work is now available to new generations of scholars who will find his work both instructive and provocative This newly revised and expanded edition edited by Paul Anderson and Alan Culpepper not only includes a new epilogue by David Wead featuring new reflections and insights but it also includes an expansive overview of the literature before and after Wead s work including a helpful assessment of Wead s monograph in service to ongoing Johannine scholarship No serious study of Gospel literary features devices and strategies can afford to overlook this important book Piers Plowman and the Books of Nature Rebecca Davis, 2016-09-08 Piers Plowman and the Books of Nature explores the relationship of divine creativity poetry and ethics in William Langland s fourteenth century dream vision

These concerns converge in the poem's rich vocabulary of kynde the familiar Middle English word for nature broadly construed But in a remarkable coinage Langland also uses kynde to name nature's creator who appears as a character in Piers Plowman The stakes of this representation could not be greater by depicting God as Kynde that is under the guise of creation itself Langland explores the capacity of nature and of language to bear the plenitude of the divine In doing so he advances a daring claim for the spiritual value of literary art including his own searching form of theological poetry This claim challenges recent critical attention to the poem's discourses of disability and failure and reveals the poem's place in a long and diverse tradition of medieval humanism that originates in the twelfth century and indeed points forward to celebrations of nature and natural capacity in later periods By contextualizing Langland's poetics of kynde within contemporary literary philosophical legal and theological discourses Rebecca Davis offers a new literary history for Piers Plowman that opens up many of the poem's most perplexing interpretative problems Feeling Time Amit S.

Yahav, 2018-05-08 Literary historians have tended to associate the eighteenth century with the rise of the tyranny of the clock the notion of time as ruled by mechanical chronometry The transition to standardized scheduling and time discipline the often told story goes inevitably results in modernity's time keeper societies and the characterization of modern experience as qualitatively diminished In Feeling Time Amit Yahav challenges this narrative of the triumph of chronometry and the consequent impoverishment of individual experience She explores the fascination eighteenth century writers had with the mental and affective processes through which human beings come not only to know that time has passed but also to feel the durations they inhabit Yahav begins by elucidating discussions by Locke and Hume that examine how humans come to know time noting how these philosophers often consider not only knowledge but also experience She then turns to novels by Richardson Sterne and Radcliffe attending to the material dimensions of literary language to show how novelists shape the temporal experience of readers through their formal choices Along the way she considers a wide range of eighteenth century aesthetic and moral treatises finding that these identify the subjective experience of duration as the crux of pleasure and judgment described more as patterned durational activity than as static state Feeling Time highlights the temporal underpinnings of the eighteenth century's culture of sensibility arguing that novelists have often drawn on the logic of musical composition to make their writing an especially effective tool for exploring time and for shaping durational experience

The Tumble of Reason Ajay Heble, 1994-01-01 Munro's stories confer their meaning not simply by referring to an outer reality but also by bestowing upon the reader a stimulating wealth of possibilities taken from what we might call a potential or absent level of meaning The Shade of the Saguaro / La sombra del saguaro. Essays on the Literary Cultures of the American Southwest / Ensayos sobre las culturas literarias del suroeste norteamericano Gaetano

Prampolini, Annamaria Pinazzi, 2013 This volume springs from that fruitful project of scientific cooperation between the humanities departments of Universit di Firenze and University of Arizona which was the Forum for the Study of the Literary

Coetzee David Attwell,1993-06-11 David Attwell defends the literary and political integrity of South African novelist J M Coetzee by arguing that Coetzee has absorbed the textual turn of postmodern culture while still addressing the ethical tensions of the South African crisis As a form of situational metafiction Coetzee s writing reconstructs and critiques some of the key discourses in the history of colonialism and apartheid from the eighteenth century to the present While self conscious about fiction making it takes seriously the condition of the society in which it is produced Attwell begins by describing the intellectual and political contexts surrounding Coetzee s fiction and then provides a developmental analysis of his six novels drawing on Coetzee s other writings in stylistics literary criticism translation political journalism and popular culture Elegantly written Attwell s analysis deals with both Coetzee s subversion of the dominant culture around him and his ability to see the complexities of giving voice to the anguish of South Africa
