Servants for Christ Gottfried Oosterwal, Robert E. Firth, 1980 The Variety of American Evangelicalism Donald W. Dayton, Robert K. Johnston, 1997-03-03 What have Baptists to do with Lutherans of Holiness groups Pietists with premillennialists Pentecostals with restorationists The self consciously Reformed with Black religionists Or fundamentalists with Adventists or Mennonites Despite the apparent diversity of these groups each has in some way been identified with American evangelicalism Just how appropriate is such identification How do these various traditions see themselves in relation to one another and the larger phenomenon known as evangelicalism The editors of this volume have sought answers to these questions by inviting twelve expert interpreters of these traditions to compare each tradition s self understanding with its understanding of evangelicalism The result is a fascinating collection of essays of interest to general readers as well as students and scholars which make a significant contribution to the ongoing efforts to define and understand American evangelicalism Mission: Concept in Context László Szabó, 2021 The modern mission era has experienced in Central and Eastern Europe an unprecedented religious revival in a recent decade The study with special focus on Hungary elucidates the reasons of overwhelming interest in religious issues and also why Christian churches experienced a loss of confidence and interest in churchgoing within the ten years after the political change in 1989 This case study about Seventh Day Adventist mission in Hungary underlines that the church needs to recognize the need for reflection and understanding of its own overall theology and praxis in the light of biblical teachings and of the context of the church s place in society Otherwise will mission theology and praxis harvest unsatisfactory results regardless of the invested resources Literacy and Religion Cushla Kapitzke, 1995-08-04 This book explores the interrelation of literacy and religion as practiced by Western Christians in first historical contexts and second in one contemporary church setting Using both a case study and a Foucauldian theoretical framework the book provides a sustained analysis of the reciprocal discursive construction of literacy religiosity and identity in one Seventh day Adventist Church community of Northern Australia Critical linguistic and discourse analytic theory is used to disclose processes of theological church familial home and educational school normalisation of community members into regulated ways of hearing and speaking reading and writing being and believing Detailed analyses of spoken and written texts taken from institutional and local community settings show how textual religion is an exemplary technology of the self a politics constituted by canonical texts interpretive norms textual practices ritualised events and sociopolitical protocols that ultimately are turned in upon the self The purpose of these analyses is to show how across denominational difference in belief tradition and practice particular versions of self and society are constructed through economies of truth from text that constrain what can and cannot be articulated and enacted by believers The Oxford Handbook of Seventh-Day Adventism Michael W.
