Different Repetitions Branimir Medić, Pero Puljiz, Arthur Wortmann, Theo Deutinger, 2009 The Croatian Dutch architect duo of Branimir Medić and Pero Puljiz have a working method that could be described as cleverly linking and rearranging elements that just fall short of being identical By these means they convincingly create new forms and surprising spaces It is a method that yields buildings that are minimalist and at the same time dynamic Indeed their body of work can best be described as dynamic minimalist Educated as architects at Zagreb University the two continued their studies at the Berlage Institute in the Netherlands After winning first and second prize in the Dutch Prix de Rome in the mid 1990s the two decided not to establish their own office as was customary but instead to become partners at de Architekten Cie in Amsterdam From one day to the next they went from being fledgling architects to co directors of a major architectural firm Medić and Puljiz often follow a similarly individual path in their designs Different Repetitions shows in words and images the versatility but most of all their cohesion from the Acanthus office building in Amsterdam to the Cultural Centre in Tianjin China

Remaking the American College Campus Jonathan Silverman, Meghan M. Sweeney, 2016-10-03 The built and landscaped spaces of colleges and universities radiate and absorb the values of the cultures in which they were created As economic and political forces exert pressure on administrators and as our understanding of higher education shifts these spaces can transform dramatically Focusing on the utopian visions and the dystopian realities of American campus life this collection of new essays examines campus spaces from the perspective of those who live and work there Topics include disability sustainability first year writing underrepresented groups on campus online education adjunct labor and the way profit driven agendas have shaped colleges and universities
