Nietzsche on Gender Frances Nesbitt Appel, 2005 Although Nietzsche has been considered by some critics to be a misogynist for his treatment of woman women and the feminine Frances Nesbitt Appel offers a radical reinterpretation of the philosopher's ideas on sex gender and sexuality In Nietzsche on Gender Beyond Man and Woman she argues that a closer reading of Nietzsche's texts and rhetorical style especially his use of metaphor and irony as well as his letters and notes shows that he was strategically and deliberately dismantling dualistic thinking in general not only the logical hierarchies of western thought God human heaven earth mind body reason emotion ethos pathos but also the assumed gender opposition of man woman In the process she pulls the rug out from under the accusation of his alleged misogyny Appel's is the first study to combine recent speculations in gender study and queer theory with an in depth analysis of Nietzsche's texts This approach enables her to break through the impasse in feminist studies that has stalled for so long on the question of his misogyny to redirect attention to the importance he gives to human creativity and self fashioning rather than convention and to gesture toward a future human sexuality beyond rivalry and resentment in favor of a sensual materialism in relationship with others and the earth Appel concludes that for Nietzsche breaking the gender barrier liberates human beings as individuals and as a species to love themselves each other and their earthly home as they choose By emphasizing the physical and material stuff of human existence bodies and the earth she says Nietzsche reclaims for all humanity concepts that have been traditionally associated with woman and the feminine No longer seen as a strong masculine hero Nietzsche's superman becomes a supreme human achievement the complete acceptance of time change and mortality in which human beings will possess the best characteristics of each gender in themselves Nietzsche on Gender should be equally engaging for readers interested in

Nietzsche in particular and in sexual politics and in philosophy and literature more generally Gender and Change
