Dicklitch, 1998-07-13 Dicklitch challenges the dominant discourse of neo liberalism which places NGOs and civil society at the forefront of democratization and development in Africa Based on nine months of field research in Uganda the study draws on evidence from the successfully liberalizing country and shows how NGO potential for democratization and development has been subverted by state directives structural and historical conditions as well as the internal limitations of NGOs Crises of Governance in Asia and Africa Sandra J. MacLean, Fahimul Quadir, 2017-07-12 This title was first published in 2001 Investigating the relations between ethnicity and governance in Asia and Africa and going well beyond traditional and orthodox treatments this volume is not only a stimulating text but also an invaluable tool for original and innovative research Racism and Public Policy Y. Bangura, R. Stavenhagen, 2005-04-05 In a time when racism is on the rise as a source of conflict and social justice has been increasingly demanded by the civic society this collection stands as a timely reminder that to ignore the racial factor in the globalization forces is as mistaken as eliminating class analysis The essays published here supplement the literature of comparative race relations from the standpoint of the theory of institutional racism and its effect on public policies such as immigration citizenship security and policing The United Nations in Southeast Asia and the South Pacific Roderic Alley, 2016-07-27 This study of the United Nations in Southeast Asia and the South Pacific evaluates the organization's role and performance in Cambodia and over refugees regarding human rights development environment and the needs of women within regional cooperation and as an instrument of state policy These cases illustrate how multilateral conduct through the United Nations provides a barometer indicating the intensity with which policy initiatives and values are sustained by relevant governmental interests alike In the regional settings considered conduct towards and within the UN has amplified unresolved value differences regarding relations with major powers sustainability and national identity Securing Sierra Leone, 1997-2013 Peter Albrecht, Paul Jackson, 2015-06-19 Between 1991 and 2002 Sierra Leone was wracked by a devastating civil war and the complete collapse of state institutions. Since then however the UK's contribution to post war reconstruction has been widely held up as an example of successful stabilisation and state building particularly of the country's security and justice institutions. Securing Sierra Leone 1997-2013 examines how the process of state building through security sector reform developed in Sierra Leone and the impact of this experience on international conceptualisations of such reform as well as on international interventions more broadly. The study is the most detailed of its kind based on a comprehensive analysis of UK engagement in Sierra Leone between 1997 and 2013 including a host of first hand accounts from key local and international actors. This monograph shows why the UK intervention in Sierra Leone has been a relative success. However it also questions the sustainability of state building efforts that are driven by concepts of the liberal state. In Sierra Leone critical challenges remain not least in the combination of a particular vision of what a state should look like and the unrealistic expectations of progress on the part of the international community.
