Seeing Through Clothes Anne Hollander, 1978 On Female Body Experience Iris Marion Young, 2005-01-27 Written over a span of more than two decades the essays by Iris Marion Young collected in this volume describe diverse aspects of women's lived body experience in modern Western societies Drawing on the ideas of several twentieth century continental philosophers including Simone de Beauvoir Martin Heidegger Luce Irigaray Julia Kristeva and Maurice Merleau-Ponty Young constructs rigorous analytic categories for interpreting embodied subjectivity The essays combine theoretical description of experience with normative evaluation of the unjust constraints on their freedom and opportunity that continue to burden many women The lead essay rethinks the purpose of the category of gender for feminist theory after important debates have questioned its usefulness Other essays include reflection on the meaning of being at home and the need for privacy in old age residences as well as essays that analyze aspects of the experience of women and girls that have received little attention even in feminist theory such as the sexuality of breasts or menstruation as punctuation in a woman's life story Young describes the phenomenology of moving in a pregnant body and the tactile pleasures of clothing While academically rigorous the essays are also written with engaging style incorporating vivid imagery and autobiographical narrative On Female Body Experience raises issues and takes positions that speak to scholars and students in philosophy sociology geography medicine nursing and education

The Making of the Modern Self Dror Wahrman, Ruth N. Hall's Professor of History Dror Wahrman, 2004-01-01 Wahrman argues that toward the end of the 18th century there was a radical change in notions of self personal identity a sudden transformation that was a revolution in the understanding of selfhood of identity categories including race gender class

Feminist Perspectives on Eating Disorders Patricia Fallon, Melanie A. Katzman, Susan C. Wooley, 1996-10-01 Advancing the literature on a critical topic this important new work illuminates the relationship between the anguish of eating disorder sufferers and the problems of ordinary women The book covers a wide variety of issues from ways in which gender may predispose women to eating disorders to the widespread cultural concerns these problems symbolize Throughout the psychology of women is reflected in the concepts and methods described there is an explicit commitment to political and social equality for women and therapy is reevaluated based on an understanding of the needs of women patients and the potentially differing contributions of male and female therapists Providing valuable insights into the critical problem of eating disorders this book is essential reading for clinicians and researchers alike Also by examining many of the ways in which women are affected by and respond to society's gender politics the book may be used as a text in women's studies courses

Fashion and Narrative in Victorian Popular Literature Madeleine C. Seys, 2017-08-10 We know that way we dress says a lot about us It's drilled into us by our parents as children as adults throughout our working lives and eternally from the culture surrounding us Our dress tells the outside world of the culture and era we come from to our social status within that culture Our dress can be telling of our political views religious beliefs sexuality and countless other identifying traits that we can keep hidden or show to the world by our choice of what to wear when heading venturing out This was absolutely true famously so in the Victorian Era in which men and women alike wore their status on their often lavish embellished sleeves In her new book Dr Madeleine Seys explores Victorian culture through the lens of fashion in her new book Double Threads Fashion and Victorian Popular Literature which sits at the intersection of the fields of Victorian literary studies dress and material cultural studies feminist literary criticism and gender and sexuality studies

Beyond Bylines Barbara M. Freeman, 2011-12-14 Beyond Bylines Media Workers and Women's Rights in Canada explores the ways in which several of Canada's women journalists broadcasters and other media workers reached well beyond the glory of their personal bylines to advocate for the most controversial women's rights of their eras To do so some of them adopted conventional feminine identities while others refused to conform altogether openly and defiantly challenging the gender expectations of their day The book consists of a series of case studies of the women in question as they grappled with the concerns close to their hearts higher education for women healthy dress reforms the vote equal opportunities at work abortion lesbianism and Aboriginal women's rights Their media reflected their respective eras intellectual magazines daily and weekly newspapers radio feminist public relations alternative women's periodicals and documentary film made for television Barbara Freeman takes an interdisciplinary approach combining biography history and communication studies to demonstrate how their use of different media both enabled and limited these women in their ability to be daring advocates for gender equality She shows how a number of these women were linked through the generations by their memberships in activist women's organizations

Nothing in Itself Herbert Blau, 1999 What Herbert Blau suggests in Nothing in Itself is that fashion itself today has been anticipating and redefining in the dazzle on the runway or even in ready to wear the terms in which it is critiqued while sometimes giving the impression that it is inseparable from critique in short there is little to be said of fashion that is not somehow visible in fashion though even in the mainstream we may call it antifashion Which is all the more reason to look at the clothes The book does so copiously with a fastidious eye to style as if nothing could be said of a garment no appropriate fabric of thought without the felt sensation
