Architectural Encounters with Essence and Form in Modern China Peter G. Rowe, Seng Kuan, 2002 A study of traditional and modernist attitudes toward architecture in China from the 1840s to the present Built around snatches of discussion overheard in a Beijing design studio this book explores attitudes toward architecture in China since the opening of the Treaty Ports in the 1840s Central to the discussion are the concepts of ti and yong or essence and form Chinese characters that are used to define the proper arrangement of what should be considered modern and essentially Chinese Ti and yong have gone through various transformations for example from Chinese learning for essential principles and Western learning for practical application to socialist essence and cultural form and an almost complete reversal to modern essence and Chinese form The book opens with a discussion of cultural developments in China in response to the forced opening to the West in the mid nineteenth century efforts to reform the Qing dynasty and the Nationalist and Communist regimes It then considers the return of overseas educated Chinese architects and foreign influences on Chinese architecture four architectural orientations toward tradition and modernity in the 1920s and 1930s and the controversy over the use of big roofs and other sinicizing aspects of Chinese architecture in the 1950s The book then moves to the hard economic conditions of the Great Leap Forward and the Cultural Revolution when architecture was almost abandoned and the beginning of reform and opening up to the outside world in the late 1970s and 1980s Finally it looks at the present socialist market economy and Chinese architecture during the still incomplete process of modernization It closes with a prognosis for the future

Mass-Customised Cities Tom Verebes, 2015-12-07 What happens when computational design and fabrication technologies ramp up to the urban scale Though these innovative production processes are currently now largely limited to small scale design projects what will happen when they are applied to the vast scale of the 21st century world city Could new technologies enable an important shift away from mass production to increasingly bespoke and custom designed systems The introduction of standardisation and mass production processes in the 20th century saw the industrial city take on a repetitious and homogeneous quality through the duplication of component parts Today non standard bespoke systems hold out the promise of realising a distinctive urbanism characterized by the differentiation of serial production and the variation of simple parts that should lead to a more complex and compelling whole Given the current pace and rate of urbanisation in Asia the mass customization of the city is set to have imminent and far reaching practical consequences for the rest of the developing and developed world

Building A Revolution Charlie Q.L. Xue,2005-09-01 Building a Revolution Chinese Architecture Since 1980 presents a picture of Chinese architecture in transition as the entire economy shifted from being planned and state controlled to being market led The book also examines the national form and Chinese identity the impact of international architecture housing reform and the emergence of architects in private practice Both celebrated and young Chinese architects are portrayed and the notable buildings in the prosperous coastal cities are highlighted Through this book on modern Chinese architecture the reader will appreciate the influence of globalization and modernization on the most populous country in the world

The Social Imperative H. Koon Wee,2021-07-21 This book contains multiple short critiques reflections and manifestos affording each contributing architect and intellectual the time and space to imagine new social paradigms in China Emerging from a tumultuous history of high culture and complex territorial conditions there is nothing straightforward about the social development of China The complexity of the social practices developed by architects and shapers of the built environment can be explained in part by the last three decades of an intensified adoption of the market economy by the Communist Party of China after an equally short three decades of closed door communist control There is no political meltdown like the democratization of the former Communist Bloc but there is a constant managing of discontent and resistance across China At the apex of the many creative and intellectual forces in China architects harbor and give form to many tactics of resistance Unfortunately architects are also the instruments and minds complicit with profit mongering developers and governments pursuing unchecked urbanization degradation of the environment exploitation of the marginalized and the creation of a very inequitable China This book begins with an introduction that defines the forms and tendencies of China s society as it stands today and it positions the work of a small number of architects and intellectuals who are at the forefront of reforming rethinking and even revolutionizing the Chinese society Beneath the veneer of a very successful China that the world readily acknowledges a quiet revolution is taking place within the realms of architecture and the city The social architectural and urban theories documented in this book are organized around the established canons of social actions from mobilizing laboring resisting and mediating to networking controlling rationalizing and aestheticizing This book aims to put the social agenda squarely back in the rapid development of the built environment in China This publication is the culmination of a three year study of social issues in the architecture and cities of China It involved visits to sites undergoing massive change discussions and debates among architects and critics reflections by practitioners about their own work and activists lobbying for social change Supported by the non profit AA Asia the edition of the contents relied heavily on original input and exchanges between architects and theorists committed to China from Asia and beyond Since the 1990s AA Asia remains one of a few unique think tanks committed to the study of architecture and cities in Asia As an advocacy with strong academic roots it seeks to establish the differences across various postcolonial and Asian contexts and recalibrate the role of architecture in a technocratic era dominated by the global economy With Contributions of Robert Adams Lee Ambrozy Yung Ho Chang Chen Ling Jeremy Chia Cui Kai Dong Gong Dong Yugan Mario Gandelsonas Han Tao Andrei Harwell He Jianxiang Hu Yan Hua Li Huang Weiwen Huang Wenjing Jiang Jun Jeffrey Johnson Michael Kokora Kengo Kuma Andrew Lee Joan Leung Lye Li Han Li Hu Li Shiqiao Nartano Lim William S W Lim Liu Jiakun Liu Kecheng Liu Yichun Long Ying Ma Qingyun Robert Mangurian Meng Yan Ou Ning Alan Plattus Mary Ann Ray Daan Roggeveen Ruan Hao Eunice Seng Shi Jian Victor Su Sun Yimin Wang Fei Wang Shu Wang Yan H Koon Wee Shirley Woo Wu Gang Wu Liangyong Xu Tiantian Rocco Yim Yu Kongjian Zhang Ke Zhao Liang Zhou Yi Zhu Tao Zhu

Constructing a Place of Critical Architecture in China Guanghui Ding,2016-03-09 For the past 30 years The Chinese journal Time Architecture Shidai Jianzhu has focused on publishing innovative and exploratory work by emerging architects based in private design firms who were committed to new material theoretical and pedagogical practices In doing so this book argues that the journal has engaged in the presentation and production of a particular form of critical architecture described as an intermediate criticality as a response to the particular constraints of the Chinese cultural and political context The journal's publications displayed a dual critique a resistant attitude to the dominant modes of commercial building practice characterised by rapid and large scale urban expansion and an alternative publishing practice focusing on emerging independent architectural practitioners through the active integration of theoretical debates architectural projects and criticisms This dual critique is illustrated through a careful review and analysis of the history and programme of the journal By showing how the work of emerging architects including Yung Ho Chang Wang Shu Liu Jiakun and Urbanus are situated within the context of the journal's special thematic editions on experimental architecture exhibition group design new urban space and professional system the book assesses the contribution the journal has made to the emergence of a critical architecture in China in the context of how it was articulated debated presented and perhaps even produced within the pages of the publication itself The protagonists of critical architecture have endeavoured to construct an alternative mode of form and space with strong aesthetic and socio political implications to the predominant production of architecture under the current Chinese socialist market economy To rebel against certain forms of domination and suppression by capital and power is by no means to completely reject them rather it is to use them
