Gilbert Meilaender,2010-11-01 Reflecting upon some problems of the moral life Gilbert Meilaender considers their difficulties within a vision that accentuates not only the limits but also the promise of the Christian story Created by God as finite beings we make particular attachments Redeemed by God for a community transcending nature and history our love always carries us beyond the special bonds of time and place We live therefore with a sense of permanent tension If this tension heightens our sense of the perplexities of life it should not free us from the obligation to probe clarify and where we can resolve some of those difficulties The author holds that theological ethics must clarify the direction for growth and development within the Christian life He undertakes such analysis emphasizing throughout the limits of the human condition the importance of our nature as embodied persons and the danger and pretension in some of our attempts to take control of and master human life This Christian vision is developed in chapters that explore a range of moral problems such as abortion artificial reproduction euthanasia care for defective infants provision of artificial nutrition and hydration and marital and political community These are throughout however theological explorations Taken together they illumine not only particular problems of the moral life but a vision of life classically Christian in its conception humane in its care for particular bonds of attachment and modest in its recognition of moral limits on our ability to seek the good Meilaender has developed a broad recognition both among scholars and students of ethics and among interested general readers He has the capacity to throw fresh angles of vision on complex problems so as to help both the sophisticated and the uninitiated reader to think more penetratingly about moral questions Love Out Loud Joyce Meyer,2011-11-02 Jesus said You must love the Lord your God with all your soul and with all your strength and with all your mind and your neighbor as yourself Luke10 27 If one had to choose a single verse in the Bible that is a formula for successful living this would be the one to live by says Joyce Meyer love God yourself and others in that order Many Christians get mixed up about love They know they should love God and others but many do not understand that loving oneself is one third of God s equation They mistakenly think of it as selfishness or self aggrandizement Joyce Meyer believes that this misconception is one of the greatest pitfalls in the Christian journey Loving oneself in a balanced healthy manner is essential in order to have healthy relationships with God ourselves and others Drawing upon her previous work and teaching series as well as original devotions the author of Power Thoughts examines the three loves that we ve been commanded to exhibit When Romeo Met Juliet Leslie Dunkling,2005 Why do people fall passionately in love at first sight Shakespeare and more than 200 other writers and poets provide some surprising answers 3VOLVE

Leave Love with Me William Lawton, 2023-09-19
Desire for beauty is at the heart of human existence. Some find this meaning out of their religious or spiritual perspective. Some find it at the edge of their traditions. And others find it outside any recognizable tradition. This book speaks especially to the second and third groups of people. Desire releases us to explore difference and to honor alternatives. Desire shapes our lives in unique ways. It centers our energies for personal and relational change where difference can be debated and variety permitted. We might transcend circumstances that limit us. Desire is more than meaningfulness; it is captivation of mind and spirit to life's possibility. In my discovery, desire is an abandonment to beauty.
