Public Health Profiteering Thomas DiLorenzo, 2018-04-24 The diet industry feeds on the hopes and the fears of those who need or think that they need to lose weight Since the publication of the first known diet book in 1864 a host of sanctimonious preachers and self proclaimed experts often overweight themselves have stoked fears of obesity effectively for both profit and political power none more so than former surgeon general C Everett Koop In Public Health Profiteering James T Bennett and Thomas J DiLorenzo offer a scathing and irreverent assessment of Koop's public and private career showing how a brilliant pediatric surgeon has evolved into a self seeking and hypocritical public scold During his term as Surgeon General under the Bush administration Koop enamored of the military trappings of title and uniform saw himself as leading an army of public health administrators against an enemy. As often as not the enemy took on the disquieting countenance of the American people. In Koop's view they were stupid, improvident, feckless, unable to make the simplest decisions about their lives. As Bennett and DiLorenzo show, he used his position as a bully pulpit for intemperate attacks on the tobacco and alcohol industries and to irresponsibly exaggerate the dangers of obesity. While taking a prohibitionist line, Koop himself smoked a pipe, drank martinis, and weighed in at a hefty 210 pounds. Although Koop claimed that he would never cash in on his office, his subsequent career tells a far different story. He has lobbied, hawked, and endorsed products for a host of firms: Wyeth, Ayerst, makers of the dubious diet drug Fen-Phen, Weight Watchers, Jenny Craig, Intel, Neurocrine, Kellogg's, BioPure, and many others. Lively in style and carefully researched, Public Health Profiteering will be of interest to health policy specialists, political scientists, economists, and media analysts.

James T. Bennett is professor of economics at George Mason University. He is founder and editor of the Journal of Labor Research and has authored many books and articles, including Health Research: Charities, Image, and Reality and Official Lies: How Washington Misleads Us, co-authored with Thomas DiLorenzo. Thomas DiLorenzo is professor of economics at the Sellinger School of Business and Management at Loyola College in Baltimore. He has co-authored many books and is widely published in academic journals as well as the popular press, including the Wall Street Journal and USA Today.

The Fattening of America Eric A. Finkelstein, Laurie Zuckerman, 2008-01-09. In The Fattening of America, renowned health economist Eric Finkelstein, along with business writer Laurie Zuckerman, reveal how the U.S. economy has become the driving force behind our expanding waistlines. Blending theory, research, and engaging personal anecdotes, the authors discuss how declining food costs, especially for high-calorie, low-nutrient foods, and an increasing usage of technology, which make Americans more sedentary, has essentially led us to eat more calories than we burn off.

Diabetes Francine R. Kaufman, M.D., 2005-03-01. Experts now predict that more than one-third of American children born in 2000 will develop diabetes in their lifetime. Written by one of the world's leading authorities on the link between obesity and diabetes, this passionate, frightening, but ultimately hopeful book points the way to a solution. To enter Dr. Francine Kaufman's clinic is to see the future of America: a 220-pound, twelve-year-old boy; a 267-pound, thirteen-year-old girl; their concerned but equally overweight parents; the human faces and human suffering behind the epidemic of type 2 diabetes that threatens to overwhelm our health care system. Once a disease of the elderly, type 2 diabetes now strikes adults in their prime and increasingly children. It has nearly doubled in the last decade. The cause? Our soaring rates of obesity. Diabetes takes us to the front lines of the fight against this preventable but deadly disease. Through vivid patient stories, it explains how excess weight destroys the body's ability to process sugar properly, with life-threatening consequences. It shows what happens when the genes that evolved to protect us from famine collide with a sedentary lifestyle that has put bacon cheeseburgers on every corner. And it demonstrates why our usual blame-the-victim response is futile in face of the complex worldwide forces behind this epidemic.

Detailing the tools for change at every level from families to school systems to government and reporting on innovative programs that are already making a difference Diabetes offers a compelling action plan for winning this battle
