Current career counselling needs a shift away from the practice of modern counselling approaches, and narrative therapy is likely to be particularly appropriate since it is part of the culture and way of life of the majority of our clients. For the very first time, current approaches have been brought together in one publication. Eminent scholars including Larry Cochran, Mark Savickas, and Norm Amundson, Paul Hartung, and John Winslade contributed to the publication. Personal narratives of some exceptionally eminent people, including Robert Sternberg, are also included. The publication is concluded by Reuven Bar-On and Maurice Elias, who delineate the connection between storied counselling and social and emotional learning. This book provides a priceless resource for scholars, academics, researchers, psychologists, teachers, and clients. It critically analyses germane questions such as: How vital and feasible is it to build on life stories in career counselling? It examines the theoretical underpinnings and practical applications of hermeneutic narrative, postmodern, and constructivist approaches to career counselling; provides practical guidelines on the practice of narrative counselling in different contexts; presents ideas on how to engage clients actively; suggests ways of using life story counselling, including the Career Story Interview, to produce new identities for career practice. Jungian Literary Criticism, Richard P. Sugg, 1992. Jung as a Writer, Susan Rowland, 2013-12-16. Jung as a Writer traces a relationship between Jung and literature by analysing his texts using the methodology of literary theory. This investigation serves to illuminate the literary nature of Jung's writing in order to shed new light on his psychology and its relationship with literature as a cultural practice. Jung employed literary devices throughout his writing, including direct and indirect argument, anecdote, fantasy, myth, epic, textual analysis, and metaphor. Susan Rowland examines Jung's use of literary techniques in several of his works, including Anima and Animus, On the Nature of the Psyche, Psychology and Alchemy, and Synchronicity, and describes Jung's need for literature in order to capture in writing his ideas about the unconscious. Jung as a Writer succeeds in demonstrating Jung's contribution to literary and cultural theory in autobiography, gender studies, postmodernism, feminism, deconstruction, and hermeneutics, and concludes by giving a new culturally orientated Jungian criticism. The application of literary theory to Jung's works provides a new perspective on Jungian Psychology that will be of interest to anyone involved in the study of Jung.
