Mathews,2022-10-25 An exploration of the anthropogenic landscapes of Lucca Italy and how its people understand social and environmental change through cultivation In Italy and around the Mediterranean almost every stone every tree and every hillside show traces of human activities Situating climate change within the context of the Anthropocene Andrew Mathews investigates how people in Lucca Italy make sense of social and environmental change by caring for the morphologies of trees and landscapes He analyzes how people encounter climate change not by thinking and talking about climate but by caring for the environments around them Maintaining landscape stability by caring for the forms of trees rivers and hillsides is a way that people link their experiences to the past and to larger scale political questions The human transformed landscapes of Italy are a harbinger of the experiences that all of us are likely to face and addressing these disasters will call upon all of us to think about the human and natural histories of the landscapes we live in American Book Publishing Record ,1998 Modern Jewish Literatures Sheila E. Jelen,Michael P. Kramer,L. Scott Lerner,2011-06-06 Is there such a thing as a distinctive Jewish literature While definitions have been offered none has been universally accepted Modern Jewish literature lacks the basic markers of national literatures it has neither a common geography nor a shared language though works in Hebrew or Yiddish are almost certainly included and the field is so diverse that it cannot be contained within the bounds of one literary category Each of the fifteen essays collected in Modern Jewish Literatures takes on the above question by describing a movement across boundaries between languages cultures genres or spaces Works in Hebrew and Yiddish are amply represented but works in English French German Italian Ladino and Russian are also considered Topics range from the poetry of the Israeli nationalist Natan Alterman to the Russian poet Osip Mandelstam from turn of the century Ottoman Jewish journalism to wire recorded Holocaust testimonies from the intellectual salons of late eighteenth century Berlin to the shelves of a Jewish bookstore in twentieth century Los Angeles The literary world described in Modern Jewish Literatures is demarcated chronologically by the Enlightenment the Haskalah and the French Revolution on one end and the fiftieth anniversary of the State of Israel on the other The particular terms of the encounter between a Jewish past and present for modern Jews has varied greatly by continent country or village by language and by social standing among other things What unites the subjects of these studies is not a common ethnic religious or cultural history but rather a shared endeavor to use literary production and writing in general as the laboratory in which to explore and represent Jewish experience in the modern world
