Shaping the Post-Soviet Space? Laure Delcour, 2016-04-01 While the European Union EU is widely perceived as a model for regional integration the encouragement of regional co operation also ranks high among its foreign policy priorities Drawing on a wealth of sources and extensive fieldwork conducted in the Commonwealth of Independent States CIS Laure Delcour questions the pursuit of this external objective in EU policies implemented in the CIS and the existence of an EU regional vision in the post Soviet area She asks does the recent compartmentalization of EU policies correspond to a growing fragmentation of the former Soviet Union that cannot be considered as a region anymore Does it rather reflect the EU's own interests in the area Interested in exposing why the EU has not pursued a strategy of region building in the post Soviet area Delcour examines the disintegration dynamics affecting the area following the collapse of the USSR the interplay between different actors and levels of action in EU foreign policy making and the role of other region builders She takes a closer look at the strategic partnership with Russia European Neighbourhood Policy Eastern Partnership and Black Sea Synergy as a capability test for the European foreign policy to promote its foreign policy priorities and to raise a distinctive profile in the international arena

Space, Time and Evaluation in Ideological Discourse Laura Filardo-Llamas, Christopher Hart, Bertie Kaal, 2017-10-02 Bringing together a body of related research which has recently developed in Critical Discourse Analysis this book is the first to address the role of perspective in socio political discourse Specifically the contributions to this volume seek to explore from a cognitive standpoint the way in which perspective functions in three dimensions space time and evaluation to enact ideology and persuasion A range of discourse genres are analysed including political discourse media discourse and songs used as political tools Starting from the contention that discourse processing relies on the same mechanisms that support our understanding and experience of space the book finds a recurrent theme in the way in which perspectival concepts like distance and focus prompted by linguistic signs feature in our discursively constructed knowledge of social and political realities By highlighting the complex nature of perspective taking in ideological discourse the volume sets the agenda for further research in this area The book will appeal to linguists discourse analysts media scholars and political scientists and all who are interested in the relationship between language and cognition in the socio political domain This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Discourse Studies

Following Jesus in Invaded Space Chris Budden, 2009-05-04 Christianity is never just about beliefs but habits and practices for better or worse Theology always reflects the social location of the theologian including her privileges and prejudices all the time working with a particular often undisclosed notion of what is normal Therefore theology is never neutral it defends particular constructions of reality and it promotes certain interests Following Jesus in Invaded Space asks what and whose interests theology protects when it is part of a community that invaded the land of Indigenous peoples Developing a theological method and position that self consciously acknowledges the church's role in occupying Aboriginal land in Australia it dares to speak of God church and justice in the context of past history and continuing dispossession Hence a Second people's theology emerges through constant and careful attention to experiences of invasion and displacement brought into dialogue with the theological landscape or tradition of the church

Shaping Claims to Urban Land Fons van Overbeek, 2022-10-03 The concept of hybridity is often still poorly theorized and problematically applied by peace and development scholars and researchers of resource governance This book turns to a particular ethnographic reading of Michel Foucault's Governmentality and investigates its usefulness to study precisely those mechanisms processes and practices that hybridity once promised to clarify Claim making to land and authority in a post conflict environment is the empirical grist supporting this exploration of governmentality Specifically in the periphery of Bukavu This focus is relevant as urban land is increasingly becoming scarce in rapidly expanding cities of eastern Congo primarily due to internal rural to urban migration as a result of regional insecurity The governance of urban land is also important analytically as land governance and state authority in Africa are believed to be closely linked and co evolve An ethnographic reading of governmentality enables researchers to study hybridization without biasing analysis towards hierarchical dualities Additionally a better understanding of hybridization in the claim making practices may contribute to improved government intervention and development assistance in Bukavu and elsewhere

Interrogating Illiberal Peace in Eurasia Catherine Owen, Shairbek Juraev, David Lewis, Nick Megoran, John Heathershaw, 2018-01-09 The collapse of the USSR wrought dramatic changes in Eurasia both in terms of the structure of state power within the region and the ways in which Western states and international organisations engaged with it Analyses of conflict in this region remain rooted in supposed global models often assuming that patterns of state failure are due to resistance to the liberal model of peacebuilding This book sets out a challenge to these assumptions and framings It not only questions but resolutely dismisses the notion that the peacebuilding methods favoured by Western states remain the most salient in Eurasia Instead it develops a framework that seeks to conceptualise the ways in which non liberal actors contest or transform globally promoted norms of conflict management and promote alternative ones in their place Authoritarian Conflict Management ACM consists of an ensemble of norms and practices in which non liberal actors attempt to exert sustained hegemonic control over the local discursive economic and spatial realms in a given territory With case studies ranging from Afghanistan to Uzbekistan Xinjiang to the Caucasus the chapters shed light on the ways in which local and regional actors enact practice of ACM in order to impose stability in conflict prone localities thereby challenging the Western led consensus known as the liberal peace
