The RoutledgeFalmer Guide to Key Debates in Education Dennis Hayes, 2005-09-29 Debating is out of fashion. No one raises the question of what has gone wrong when the entire political project of a society is seemingly reduced to education, education, education. The aim of this lively and challenging book is to provide the stimulus for further thinking about key educational issues by exposing and explaining the assumptions behind this obsession. Over forty contributors, all experts in their fields, have written short, accessible, informed and lively articles for students, teachers and others involved in education. They address broad questions that are central to any understanding of what is really going on in the education system. Topics covered include the new relationship of the state to education, the changed nature of schools, whether teachers are afraid to teach, the problems with circle time, anti-bullying strategies, citizenship education and multiple intelligences, the retreat from truth and the demise of theory in teacher training and much more. Everyone learning to teach in primary and secondary schools and further education colleges will find this book relevant to their programmes. In particular, the book would be useful for students on Education Studies courses.

Feminist Speculations and the Practice of Research-Creation Sarah E. Truman, 2021-09-05 Feminist Speculations and the Practice of Research Creation provides a unique introduction to research creation as a methodology and a series of exemplifications of research creation projects in practice with a range of participants including secondary school students, artists and academics. In conversation with leading scholars in the field, the book outlines research creation as transdisciplinary praxis embedded in queer feminist anti-racist politics. It provides a methodological overview of how the author approaches research creation projects at the intersection of literary arts, textuality, artistic practice and pedagogies of writing/drawing on concepts related to the feminist materialisms including speculative thought, affect theories, queer theory and process philosophy. Further, it troubles representationalism in qualitative research in the arts. The book demonstrates how research creation operates through the making of or curating of art or cultural productions as an integral part of the research process. The exemplification chapters engage with the author's research creation events with diverse participants, all focused on text-based artistic projects including narratives, intertextual marginalia, art postcards, songs and computer-generated scripts. The book is aimed at graduate students and early career researchers who mobilize the literary arts theory and research in transdisciplinary settings.

At the Edge of Existence Brandon West,2021-12-03 Few scary stories begin with a disclaimer that they are fictional Instead they claim to be true even when they are not Such stories blur the line between fiction and reality pushing audiences to consider where fiction ends and reality begins These kinds of horror stories comprise the understudied subgenre of liminal horror As the first book on this subject this volume surveys a variety of liminal horror films It discusses the different variations within liminal horror s sub genres and considers why horror films are obsessed with the natures of and borders between fiction and reality After first laying out the basic traits of the horror genre in the context of liminality this book then dives into film more specifically and how the medium is uniquely situated to explore the movement between the fictional and the real Through lenses such as dreaming memory and perception the following chapters explore the role liminal horror plays in the the human psyche s subconscious unconscious and the various functions of the human mind in perceiving or misperceiving reality

The Guardian ,1861 Changing the Educational Landscape Jane Roland Martin,2017-09-29 Changing the Educational Landscape is a collection of the best known and best loved essays by the renowned feminist philosopher of education Jane Roland Martin Trained as an analytic philosopher at a time before women or feminist ideas were welcome in the field Martin brought a philosopher's detachment to her earliest efforts at revolutionizing the curriculum. Her later essays on women and gender further showcase the tremendous intellectual energy she brought to the field of feminist educational theory. Martin explores the challenges and contradictions posed by the very concept of women's education and also recognizes how the presence of women necessitates the rearticulation of not only the curriculum but also the standard ideologies in education.

Fokkema, 2024-08-26 Hindi Cinema Nandini Bhattacharya, 2013-05-07. Hindi Cinema is full of instances of repetition of themes, narratives, plots, and characters. By looking at 60 years of Hindi cinema, this book focuses on the phenomenon as a crucial thematic and formal code that is problematic when representing the national and cinematic subject. It reflects on the cinema as motivated by an ongoing crisis of self-formation in modern India. The book looks at how cinema presents liminal and counter-modern identities emerging within repeated modern attempts to re-enact traumatic national events so as to redeem the past and restore a normative structure to happenings. Establishing structure and event as paradigmatic poles of a historical and anthropological spectrum for the individual in society, the book goes on to discuss cinematic portrayals of violence, gender embodiment, religion, economic transformations, and new globalised Indianness as events and sites of liminality disrupting structural aspirations. After revealing the impossibility of accurate representation of incommensurable and liminal subjects within the historiography of the nation-state, the book highlights how Hindi cinema as an ongoing engagement with the nation-state as a site of eventfulness draws attention to the problematic nature of the thematic of nation. It is a useful study for academics of Film Studies and South Asian Culture.
