The Privileged Divine Feminine in Kabbalah Moshe Idel, 2018-11-19. This volume addresses the complex topic of the preeminent status of the divine feminine power to be referred also as Female within the theosophical structures of many important Kabbalists, Sabbatean believers, and Hasidic masters. This privileged status is part of a much broader vision of the Female as stemming from a very high root within the divine world; then She was emanated and constitutes the tenth lower divine power, and even in this lower state She is sometimes conceived of governing this world and as equal to the divine Male. Finally, She is conceived of as returning to Her original place in special moments: the days of Sabbath, the Jewish Holidays, or in the eschatological era. Her special dignity is sometimes related to Her being the telos of creation and as the first entity that emerged in the divine thought, which has been later on generated. In some cases, an uroboric theosophy links the Female Malkhut directly to the first divine power, Keter. The author points to the possible impact of some of the Kabbalistic discussions on conceptualizations of the feminine in the Renaissance period.

Mysticism in Judaism, Christianity, and Islam Ori Z. Soltes, 2009. Throughout the ages and across religious traditions, people have yearned to personally experience God and deeply connect with the Creator. In Mysticism in Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, Ori Z. Soltes traces the sweep of mysticism, this search for oneness with God, throughout the three Abrahamic traditions. This unique comparative overview begins with a definition of mysticism and a discussion of its place within religion as a whole. Soltes then explores the history of mysticism from Biblical times through the present day, highlighting the emergence of mysticism within the three traditions and how beliefs and practices converge and diverge over time. The final chapters discuss the growing interest in mysticism today through practices such as Kabbalah and how people publicly express their private encounters with God through art, literature, and other modern media.

Gender and Judaism Tamar Rudavsky, 1995-03. Demonstrates through different essays Jewish Women's movement rides the fine line between tradition and transformation.

Mystical Prayer in Ancient Judaism Michael D. Swartz, 1992. Includes text of Maaseh merkavah in English translation.

Radical Poetics and Secular Jewish Culture Stephen Paul Miller, Daniel Morris, 2010. This collection of essays is the first to address this often obscured dimension of modern and contemporary poetry: the secular Jewish dimension. Editors Daniel Morris and Stephen Paul Miller asked their contributors to address what constitutes radical poetry written by Jews, defined as secular, and whether or not there is a Jewish component or dimension to radical and modernist poetic practice in general. These poets and critics address these questions by exploring the legacy of those poets who preceded and influenced them: Stein, Zukofsky, Reznikoff, Oppen, and Ginsberg, among others.
