A People's History of Baseball Mitchell Nathanson,2012-03-30 Baseball is much more than the national pastime It has become an emblem of America itself From its initial popularity in the mid nineteenth century the game has reflected national values and beliefs and promoted what it means to be an American Stories abound that illustrate baseball s significance in eradicating racial barriers bringing neighborhoods together building civic pride and creating on the field of play an instructive civics lesson for immigrants on the national character In A People s History of Baseball Mitchell Nathanson probes the less well known but no less meaningful other side of baseball episodes not involving equality patriotism heroism and virtuous capitalism but power how it is obtained and how it perpetuates itself Through the growth and development of baseball Nathanson shows that if only we choose to look for it we can see the petty power struggles as well as the large and consequential ones that have likewise defined our nation. By offering a fresh perspective on the firmly embedded tales of baseball as America, a new and unexpected story emerges of both the game and what it represents. Exploring the founding of the National League, Nathanson focuses on the newer Americans who sought club ownership to promote their own social status in the increasingly closed caste of nineteenth century America. His perspective on the rise and public rebuke of the Players Association shows that these baseball events reflect both the collective spirit of working and middle class America in the mid twentieth century as well as the countervailing forces that sought to beat back this emerging movement that threatened the status quo. And his take on baseball's racial integration that began with Branch Rickey's Great Experiment reveals the debilitating effects of the harsh double standard that resulted in requiring a black player to have unimpeachable character merely to take the field in a Major League game, a standard no white player was required to meet. Told with passion and occasional outrage, A People's History of Baseball challenges the perspective of the well known, deeply entrenched, hyper patriotic stories of baseball and offers an incisive alternative history of America's much loved national pastime.

Canada Since 1960: A People's History Cy Gonick, 2016-04-18 When Winnipeg's Cy Gonick started the magazine Canadian Dimension in 1963 to provide a home for the thinking and analysis of mostly young leftists engaged in Canadian economic, social, cultural, artistic, and political issues, he had no grand plan. But Canadian Dimension was welcomed by intellectuals, scholars, and students, and it proved enduring. Hundreds of Canada's leading figures of the left have contributed to its pages over the years, writing about every major topic in Canadian public life. This book offers an account of the most important developments in Canadian history from the sixties until today as seen and interpreted by scholars and writers on the pages of Dimension. Each chapter reviews a major theme such as Canada's relationship to the U.S., the development of our health care system, the dynamics of Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal relations, and the role of Canadian cultural work in shaping Canadian society. Taken together, the book provides a unique and broad perspective on virtually every significant event and development in recent Canadian history. Readers who know the magazine will find this book a compelling summary of how Canada changed in the past five decades and how the Left saw those changes and challenged them. Readers who discover Canadian Dimension through this book will find a multitude of compelling voices who challenge the dominant neoliberal thinking of mainstream Canadian intellectual life. The twenty-seven contributors from every part of the country are Greg Albo, Brenda Austin, Smith, Chris Bailey, Evan Bowness, Mordecai Briemburg, Elizabeth Comack, Angela Day, Bryan Evans, Alvin Finkel, Peter Graefe, Judy Haiven, Larry Haiven, Trevor Harrison, Henry Heller, David Hugill, Peter Kulchyski, Andrea Levy, James McCorrie, James Naylor, Bryan Palmer, Denis Pilon, Joe Roberts, Stephanie Ross, Arthur Schafer, Frank Tester, John Warnock, and Chris Webb.
