Recounting Cultural Encounters Marija Knežević, 2009-10-02 Contributions reprinted in this book highlight some of the wide ranging ways in which the issues of culture and identity can be approached in a literary text while focusing on the ways in which cultural encounters have been changing both the world and its reflection in literature The beginning of the twenty first century is an appropriate time to repay careful attention to these issues Understanding how our perception of the Other changes with the concept of the world we inhabit we want to emphasize the rising importance of fostering cultural pluralism and global understanding Having based their research on widespread readings in academia such as deconstruction post colonialism post modernism new historicism and narratology the authors of these papers proceed by addressing the metaphor of travel as one of the strongest metaphors for the evolution of mankind especially if considered under the light of the historically and politically imposed opposition between the progressive western and the static eastern or African societies However as the end of the imperialist era brought about poignant awareness of cultural relativism as well as deconstruction of the great narrative of progress facing the Other as an unconceptualized entity became a major moral concern of a modern traveller It is pronounced that this concern should be textually testified to dramatize the human inability to avoid verbal appropriation of the other The final question we seek to answer is whether the era of advanced technology and globalisation along with a post modern ironical attitude to hyper realities and textual transparencies has rendered the sphere of the text the only available point of concern of contemporary literature and thought in general For its argumentation strongly founded in recent literary studies and humanities in general its interdisciplinary nature and its focus on the actual global problems of abrupt cultural change and exchange its heightened understanding of the necessity of coexistence of differences in a changing world its spirit of tolerance and its international spirit in general we assume this collection will not only attract academic literary scholars but will also appeal to the general reading public

Resistance and the Sermon in American Literature Matthew Smalley, 2024-05-30 With seemingly obsessive regularity American authors from the mid nineteenth century to the present evoke the sermon at culturally loaded moments in their works deploying the form to underscore the cultural work they imagine their novels or poetry to perform Examining this longstanding tradition of literary preaching this book draws on literary applications of design theory to provide a nuanced account of American literature's complex anxious and persistent engagement with the Protestant sermon Analyzing literary preaching as a transhistorical form that simultaneously attracts and repels authors Smalley demonstrates how major US writers Ralph Waldo Emerson Walt Whitman Nathaniel Hawthorne Rebecca Harding Davis William Faulkner Zora Neale Hurston and Toni Morrison have subverted the sermon's predominantly religious content in order to reimagine profound moments of reform in a political cultural and aesthetic mode This study elucidates new lines of literary kinship offers fresh readings of familiar works and establishes literary preaching as an undertheorized but significant tradition in American literature
