Tanacredi, John Loret, 2013-06-29 There are many conferences workshops and meetings annually around the world each emphasizing a specialty area for scientific exploration and research Yet in very few instances if at all do the multidisciplinary aspects of science get presented so one may see the diversity of dependencies these seemingly disparate disciplines actually have The Explorers Club and the U S National Park Service collaborated to make a first attempt at what will continue to be an ocean pulse effort conferences combining the aquaculture sciences the search for underwater antiquities and the marine/bio technologies utilized to explore these areas The purpose has been to bring together not just academicians to talk about their finding in the field or the laboratory but to provide a forum for the practical applications of technology to expanding our world's fisheries as well as to continue to explore our world's oceans the earth's truly last frontier After everything is said and done we still know precious little about our ocean environments Their influences on our lives are monumental and yet we continue to be very parochial and conservative in our dedication to exploring their depths and resources We feel confident that this initial effort by our respective groups to awaken a realization in the public and private sectors of the need for a cross disciplinary approach to scientific research in the marine environment is a necessity as we approach the 21 st century Kevin C The Ocean Realm Donald J.

Crump,1978-05-01 This book presents in illustrated format several accounts of underwater exploration Indian Ocean Region Manoj Gupta,2010-08-09 It is a privilege to introduce the reader to this book as I believe that it will make a significant contribution to given the difficulties in the knowledge of the Indian Ocean developing cooperation in the Indian Ocean region There have been numerous failed efforts at regional cooperation in different fora in the Indian Ocean As a result of the land based orientation of the people in the region the importance for countries to develop the power to govern the sea has largely been ignored The maritime approach taken by Manoj Gupta to the Indian Ocean as a region in international relations offers a timely and critical assessment of the potential for regional cooperation and ocean governance The political leadership in the region can no longer ignore the need for cooperation in maritime affairs in the Indian Ocean This book enriches the literature on Indian Ocean issues as it argues convincingly that the security of nations economic well being of the people and health of the Indian Ocean cannot be divested from one another All are fundamentally dependant on the ability of the countries in the region to individually and collectively exert the power to govern the sea The Complete Idiot's Guide to the Oceans Joe Kraynak,Kim W. Defying Ocean's End Linda Glover,Sylvia Earle,2012-09-26 If humankind were given a mandate to do everything in our power to undermine the earth s functioning we could hardly do a better job than we have in the past thirty years on the world s oceans both by what we are putting into it millions of tons of trash and toxic materials and by what we are taking out of it millions of tons of wildlife Yet only recently have we begun to understand the scale of those impacts Defying Ocean s End is the result of an unprecedented effort among the world s largest environmental organizations scientists the business community media and international governments to address these marine issues In June 2003 in the culmination of a year long effort they met specifically to develop a comprehensive and achievable agenda to reverse the decline in health of the world s oceans As conservation organizations begin to expand their focus from land issues to include a major focus on preservation of the sea it is increasingly apparent that we have to approach marine conservation differently and at much larger scale than we have to date What s also clear is the magnitude and immediacy of the growing ocean concerns are such that no one organization can handle the job alone Defying Ocean s End is a bold step in bringing the resources needed to bear on this vast problem before it is too late It offers a broad strategy a practical plan with priorities and costs aimed at mobilizing the forces needed to bring about a sea change of favorable attitudes actions and outcomes for the oceans and for all of us and limitations of relying on it as a political strategy Islands and Oceans explores how struggles for decolonization self determination and political rights permeate conceptualizations of how sovereignty operates To support his theoretical claims Sasha Davis works through a series of case studies drawing on research that he conducted between 2013 and 2017 in Korea Guam Yap Palau the Northern Marianas Hawai i and Honshu and Okinawa in Japan Because of the hybridized and contested arrangements of sovereignty in these territories these places are excellent sites to tease out some of the differences between official regimes of sovereignty and the actual control of social processes on the ground In addition analysis of the tensions and acute debates over sovereignty in these regions lays bare how sovereignty works as a process Davis s study of these political cases within the Asia Pacific region advances our understanding the nature of sovereignty more generally

Waters in Peril Leah Bendell-Young, Patricia Gallaugh, 2012-12-06 Who Speaks for the Oceans The question has been asked a lot in recent years just who is looking out for our oceans Covering over seventy percent of the earth s surface it is the world s largest common property resource jointly owned by over six billion humans It is the foundation for life on earth as we know it Over the years many people have spoken about various aspects of our ocean environments and they have spoken to different audiences in many different ways For many in the public realm Jacques Cousteau spoke for the ocean Since his passing no single voice with the same public identity or recognition has emerged Certainly the many governments bordering our oceans cannot agree on common principles or issues of ocean use and management We might be tempted think that we do not have an ocean spokesperson or champion but we would be wrong Today the rapidly growing number of scientists working hard to expand our understanding of our ocean realm are the ocean voices we should listen to At the same time as our scientists advance their understanding of the oceans we all need to advance our abilities and commitment to communicate on behalf of the oceans with broader and broader audiences who need to be aware of where things stand Often called the last great frontier earth s oceans are vast widely varied and are hard to get to and into to do the research we need done
