Ebbitt, 1992 In nineteen essays illustrating its many aspects this book offers an argument for what it takes to construct a complete rhetorical education The editors take an approach that is pragmatic and pluralistic based as it is on the assumptions that a rhetorical education is not limited to teaching freshman composition or any specific writing course and that the contexts in which such an education occurs are not limited to classrooms This thought provoking volume stresses that while a rhetorical education results in the growth of writing skills its larger goal is to foster critical thinking The National Union Catalogs, 1963- ,1964 The National union catalog, 1968-1972 ,1973 Title Index, ERIC ED Accessions File ERIC Processing and Reference Facility, 1966 The English Quarterly ,1989 American Book Publishing Record ,2005 Canadian Books in Print ,1975 Includes French language titles published by predominantly English language Canadian publishers Working in English Heather Murray, 1996 This is an analysis of English studies in higher education addressed in particular to practitioners in the field teachers and students As Heather Murray states in her introduction those who work in English are likely to have a stronger sense of critical history than of disciplinary history She contends that in order to understand and reform the discipline of English studies it is necessary to shift the focus of examination down and back to look at ordinary and often taken for granted disciplinary practices such as pedagogy and to extend the historical frame Murray begins with an examination of some important historical moments in the development of the discipline in Canada the appointment in 1889 of W J Alexander as first professor of English at the University of Toronto the twenty five year experiment early in this century in rhetorical and dramatic education for women that the Margaret Eaton School of Literature and Expression represented and the entry of theory into the English Canadian academy The second section examines some of the common features and routines of English departments such as curriculum design seminar groups tests and assignments essay questions and the conference in order to establish the critical political principles that underpin study and teaching in the academy today In this section Murray also focuses on the role of women as students and teachers of English The final section surveys the literature available for further research on the discipline and for constructing a history of English studies in Canada BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America
