Tu-BiShvat Seder (order) R' Israel Itshakov, 2022-12-06 Tu B Shvat is the New Year for the Trees As in all other points in the Jewish calendar Tu B Shvat offers a unique opportunity for insight into living and personal growth Throughout the centuries Kabbalists have used the tree as a metaphor to understand God's relationship to the spiritual and physical worlds Moshe Chaim Lutsatto in his 18th century classic The Way of God teaches that the higher spiritual realms are roots that ultimately manifest their influence through branches and leaves in the lower realms In the 16th century the Kabbalists of Tzfat compiled a Tu B Shvat Seder somewhat similar to the Seder for Passover It involves enjoying the fruits of the tree particularly those native to the Land of Israel and discusses philosophical and Kabbalistic concepts associated with the day Among other things the Seder is a great way to appreciate the bounty that we so often take for granted and to develop a good and generous eye for the world around us The Seder presented here is based primarily on the Kabbalistic work Hemdat Yamim later published separately under the title Pri Eitz Hadar Man Is a Tree in the Field Steven intersection where Israeli inventiveness and Jewish tradition meet the holidays It employs the anthropological history of four Jewish holidays as celebrated in Israel in order to track the naturalization of Jewish rituals myths and symbols in Israeli culture throughout the long twentieth century of Zionism and on to the present and to demonstrate how a new strand of Judaism developed in Israel from the grassroots But could this grassroots Israeli culture develop into a shared symbolic space for both Jews and Arabs By probing the political implications of the minutiae of life the book argues that this popular culture might come to define Jewish identity in Israel of the 21st century Haggadah Shel Pesach R' Israel Itshakov, 2022-12-11

Agada Pesah Hagada pesach The first night of Pesah outside of Israel the first two nights is known as Lel Haseder The word Seder refers to the orderly progression of fifteen steps that begins with Kadesh sanctification of the day over wine Urhats washing the hands without a blessing Karpas eating less than a kazayit of this vegetable etc and culminates with Nirtsah our prayer that after all the spiritual heights attained at the seder we request to find favor in Hashem s eyes The word Seder also hints to the fact that this is a different kind of progression Ritual Nikki Van De Car, 2023-03-14 From the bestselling author of Practical Magic comes an inspiring illustrated collection of magical celebrations of nature from around the world with rituals for incorporating them into your own practice Nature is what gives us life it is the source of all magic and power in the world That is something that humans have understood since the beginning of time and it is a constant among cultures around the world However the ways in which we celebrate it can vary wildly Bulgarian Baba Marta Day welcomes the arrival of Spring with Martenitsas little talismans of red and white string while in Southeast Asia that same yearly event is celebrated during Holi a joyful riotous dance of colors Yalda Soyal Saturnalia Dong Zhi and St Lucia s Day from Iran Arizona Ancient Rome China and Scandinavia are all very different but they all honor the Winter Solstice Each of these celebrations is a ritual a form of magic created by community and tradition And while their differences can help us understand their various cultural identities their similarities can create a bond that reaches across space and time In this beautifully illustrated book from bestselling magical author Nikki Van De Car readers will learn the history and meaning behind 40 of these ritual celebrations organized by season Each ritual will include suggestions for participating in and appreciating these storied rituals while honoring their origins and the cultures from which they come Bloom, a Tu Bishvat Haggadah, 2014 A Tu Bishvat Haggadah Tu Bishvat the New Year for Trees is a beautiful time to herald new life after a long and dormant winter In the seventeenth century a new custom arose to celebrate Tu Bishvat with a seder a ceremonial meal inspired by Passover Being a relatively new custom there is no fixed or correct way to conduct a Tu Bishvat seder and many communities have developed their own Tu Bishvat Haggadot Though each one is different they are typically structured around four cups of wine and involve discussion about the process of redemption and repairing the world BLOOM Vine of David s Tu Bishvat Haggadah is inspired by the story of the early pioneers of the modern State of Israel This seder reflects upon the dreams of a Jewish national homeland in the promised land throughout the centuries and its culmination with

Zionism in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries BLOOM is simple and not deeply mystical It focuses on the modern return of the Jewish people to their land as a part of the broader plan of world redemption Contemplate our Master Yeshua s heart of thankfulness for the land and his lament as he perceived its destruction Share in the vision of the Messianic Jewish luminaries who longed to see that hope restored in the State of Israel the beginning of the sprouting of our redemption

Siddur Sha'ar Zahav Sha'ar Zahav,2009-01-01 Congregation Sha ar Zahav s first siddur appeared in 1982 It was revised in 1994and again in 2000 The richness of this siddur like the Sha ar Zahav community is rooted in its integration of Jewish tradition with egalitarian feminist and LGBTQ positive ideas and language With this edition we have sought to continue and expand the Sha ar Zahav tradition of creating liturgy that reflects who we are The compilers of the 2000 edition wrote A Jewish prayer book which had nothing in common with the traditional siddur would lack the wealth of history which connects our worship with Jewish practice around the world and over the centuries On the other hand many of us are uncomfortable with some of the imagery and language found in the prayer books of the major Jewish denominations in the United States With this prayer book we have attempted to capture the spirit of Jewish liturgy while avoiding the objectionable elements When Congregation Sha ar Zahav was founded in 1977 only a handful of synagogues offered full acceptance to bisexual transgender lesbian gay and queer identified Jews From the outset Sha ar Zahav has been a community that is open to all Sha ar Zahav is affiliated with the Union for Reform Judaism URJ and this siddur reflects many of the innovations of the Reform movement as well as the URJ s commitment to an evolving liturgical tradition The members of Congregation Sha ar Zahav the authors of most of the new material in this siddur come from many varied backgrounds movements affiliations traditions and practices Some identify with Ashkenazi Sephardi or Mizrahi traditions Some were born into Jewish families while some chose Judaism We are young and old and every age in between We have sought to reflect both our shared traditions and our differences in our liturgy In order to create a spiritual home for all who choose to enter our gates and in order to develop a siddur which will continue to resonate with the congregation and reflect our community's diversity we have tried to cast a wide liturgical net We have drawn from the traditions we have been handed we have sought out sources that have been hidden and we have tapped the creative gifts of our own community In this edition we have been mindful of and have sought to expand the principles which have distinguished this siddur in the past using non sexist language when referring to both people and God restoring visibility to women throughout Jewish tradition speaking directly to the experience of lesbian gay bisexual transgender and queer identified people understanding the concept of Jewish chosenness as uniqueness envisioning the Messianic time as the fulfillment of tikkun olam the repair of the world and seeing ourselves as participants in the holy work of repair Siddur Sha ar Zahav includes alternative English versions of prayers and alternative Hebrew and Aramaic so that our values can be reflected in all of our languages of prayer Because of the gravity of altering wording that may be hundreds of years old we spent considerable time developing guidelines for Hebrew prayers In keeping with the Sha ar Zahav tradition we decided not to remove customary versions of prayers but to add new versions alongside them We did not alter any passages taken from the Torah except to ensure gender inclusivity which is noted in the text Nor did we alter prayers such as the Mourners Kaddish which serve so powerfully to connect us to the Jewish people across time and space Where we did create new Hebrew versions we followed a set of principles which are discussed in the appendices Siddur Sha ar Zahav endeavors to respect the varied and at times contradictory sensibilities of our people and our congregation Our goal is for all of us progressive Jews within the Reform movement's umbrella regardless of gender identity or sexual orientation to see ourselves reflected in our liturgy so that none of us experience the invisibility and exclusion we have historically encountered Our prayer book attempts to embody the teaching that each of us is created b'tzelem Elohim in the image of God While we know that not every reading will speak to each of us we hope that in these pages all of us will find a point of departure for prayer and for dialogue with the Source of creation

Gastronomic Judaism as Culinary Midrash Jonathan D.

Brumberg-Kraus, 2018-10-29 This book is about what makes food Jewish or better who and how one makes food Jewish Making food Jewish is to negotiate between the local regional and now global foods available to eat and the portable Jewish taste preferences Jews have inherited from their sacred texts and calendars What makes Jewish food Jewish and what makes Jewish eating practices continually viable and meaningful are not fixed dietary rules and norms but rather culinary interpretations and adaptations of them to new times and places culinary midrash Jewish cuisine is a fusion of interactions a reflection of displacement and intentional positioning and re-positioning vis-à-vis sacred texts old and new lands Jewish and non Jewish neighbors old and new family combinations re imaginings of our personal ethnic gender and other identities Jonathan Brumberg Kraus questions Jewish identity in particular and identity generally as something fixed stable and singular and unintentional Jewish food choices are situational often temporary expressions of Jewish identity It addresses the tension between what Jewish authoritative textual sources and their proponents say is Jewish food and Jewish eating and what Jews actually eat So while discussing connections between ancient religious texts and modern Jewish food preferences this book does not stop there Using examples from his experience Brumberg Kraus describes the improvisational characteristics of gastronomic Judaism as the interplay of texts tastes artifacts and everyday practices not only in the classic sacred texts but also in Jewish cookbooks and internet blogs on Jewish home cooking seasonal intensification of Jewish food choices e g latkes at Chanukah or keeping kosher for Passover safe treif the fusion cultural appropriation of diasporic Biblical and Palestinian foods in new Israeli cuisine and the impact of the environmentalist New Jewish Food movement on contemporary Jewish food choices and identity      Seder Tu Bishvat ,1984
