Green Encounters Luis Antonio Vivanco, 2006 Since the 1970s and 1980s Monte Verde Costa Rica has emerged as one of the most renowned sites of nature conservation and ecotourism in Costa Rica and some would argue Latin America It has received substantial attention in literature and media on tropical conservation sustainable development and tourism Yet most of that analysis has uncritically evaluated the Monte Verde phenomenon using celebratory language and barely scratching the surface of the many faceted socio cultural transformations provoked by and accompanying environmentalism Because of its stature Monte Verde represents an ideal case study to examine the socio cultural and political complexities and dilemmas of practicing environmentalism in rural Costa Rica Based on many years of close observation this book offers rich and original material on the ongoing struggles between environmental activists and of collective and oppositional politics to Monte Verde s new culture of nature

Forests in International Law Anja Eikermann, 2015-02-05 This book investigates the potential need for an international convention on forests and establishes a multifunctional concept of forests as a cornerstone for international forest regulation Accordingly it examines a variety of international instruments pertaining directly or indirectly to forests and explores their entangled fragmented nature While contending that the lack of consistency in international law impedes the development of a stand alone international forest convention at the same time it argues that the lessons learned from fragmentation as well as from the history of forest discourse on the international level open up new options for the regulation of forests in international law based on new concepts of coordination and cooperation
