Seeing Drawing:

The Art of Seeing Charles Herbert Woodbury, Elizabeth Ward Perkins, 1925 The Zen of Seeing, 1973 A Dutch artist offers his concept of seeing and drawing as a discipline by which the world may be rediscovered a way of experiencing Zen

Drawing Investigations Sarah Casey, Gerry Davies, 2020-06-11 Using close visual analysis of drawings artist interviews critical analysis and exegesis Drawing Investigations examines how artists use drawing as an investigative tool to reveal information that would otherwise remain unseen and unnoticed How does drawing add shape to ideas How does the artist accommodate to challenges and restraints of a particular environment To what extent is a drawing complementary and continuous with its subject and where is it disruptive and provocative Casey and Davies address these questions while focusing on artists working collaboratively and the use of drawing in challenging or unexpected environments Drawing Investigations evaluates the emergence of a way of thinking among an otherwise disconnected group of artists by exploring commonalities in the application of analytical drawing to the natural world urban environment social forces and lived experience Examples represent a spectrum of research in international contexts an oceanographic Institute in California the archives of Amsterdam s Rijksmuseum the Antarctic Survey geothermal research in Japan and the Kurdish diaspora in Iraq Issues are situated in the contemporary theory and practice of drawing including relationships to historical precedents By exploring drawing s capacity to capture and describe experience to sharpen visual faculties and to bridge embodied and conceptual knowledge Drawing Investigations offers a fresh critical perspective on contemporary drawing practice

The Psychology of Graphic Images Manfredo Massironi, Translated by N Bruno, 2001-08 Drawings are not simply tools for communication but important instruments for investigating reality and its structure This pathbreaking book richly illustrated with exercises for readers illuminates the complex interactions between the material Drawing Distinctions Patrick Maynard, 2018-07-05 If our procedure is to work steadily in the direction of drawing as fine art rather than as we so often find beginning from examples of such art where shall we begin One attractive possibility is to begin at the beginning not the beginning in prehistory which is already wonderful art but with our personal beginnings as children From there it will be the ambitious project of this book to investigate the course of drawing from the first marks children make to the greatest graphic arts of different cultures from the Introduction Patrick Maynard surveys the rich and varied practices of drawing from the earliest markings on cave walls to the complex technical schematics that make the modern world possible from cartoons and the first efforts of preschoolers to the works of skilled draftspeople and the greatest artists East and West Despite or perhaps because of its ubiquity drawing as such has provoked remarkably little philosophical reflection Nonphilosophical writing on the topic tends to be divided between specialties such as art history and mechanics In this engagingly written and well illustrated book Maynard reveals the interconnections and developments that unite this fundamental autonomous human activity in all its diversity Informed by close discussion of work in art history art criticism cognitive and developmental psychology and aesthetics Drawing Distinctions presents a theoretically sophisticated yet approachable argument that will improve comprehension and appreciation of drawing in its many forms uses and meanings

Wittgenstein and the Philosophy of Mind Jonathan Ellis, Daniel Guevara, 2012-10-18 In the essays collected here some of the most influential figures in contemporary philosophy discuss the significance of Wittgenstein's philosophy for understanding the mind

American Journal of Education, 1858 Drawing Ian Simpson, 1982-01-01 Activity-Based Teaching in the Art Museum Elliott Kai-Kee, Lissa Latina, Lilit Sadoyan, 2020-01-28 This groundbreaking book explores why and how to encourage physical and sensory engagement with works of art An essential resource for museum professionals teachers and students the award winning Teaching in the Art Museum Getty Publications 2011 set a new standard in the field of gallery education This follow up book blends theory and practice to help educators from teachers and docents to curators and parents create meaningful interpretive activities for children and adults Written by a team of veteran museum educators Activity Based Teaching in the Art Museum offers diverse perspectives on embodiment emotions empathy and mindfulness to inspire imaginative spontaneous interactions that are firmly grounded in history and theory The authors begin by surveying the emergence of activity based teaching in the 1960s and 1970s and move on to articulate a theory of play as the cornerstone of their innovative methodology The volume is replete with sidebars describing activities facilitated with museum visitors of all ages Table of Contents Introduction Part I History 1 The Modern History of Presence and Meaning A philosophical shift from a language based understanding of the world to direct physical interaction with it 2 A New Age in Museum Education The 1960s and 1970s A brief history of some of the innovative museum education programs developed in the United States in the late 1960s and 1970s The sudden and widespread adoption of nondiscursive gallery activities during this period especially but not exclusively in programs designed for younger students and school groups expressed the spirit of the times Part II Theory 3 Starts and Stops Two attempts by American museum educators to articulate a theory for their new nondiscursive programs the first deriving from the early work of Project Zero the Harvard Graduate School of Education program founded by the philosopher Nelson Goodman to study arts learning as a cognitive activity the second stemming from the work of Viola Spolin the acclaimed theater educator and coach whose teaching methods embodied in a series of theater games were detailed in her well known book Improvisation for the Theater 1963 4 A Theory of Play in the Museum A theory of play that posits activities in the museum as forms of play that take place in spaces or playgrounds temporarily designated as such by educators and their adult visitors or students Play is defined essentially as movement both physical and imaginary metaphorical toward and away from around and inside and outside the works of art that are foregrounded within those spaces Gallery activities conceived in this way respond to the possibilities that the objects themselves offer for the visitor to explore and engage with them The particular movements characterizing an activity are crucially conditioned by the object in question they constitute a process of discovery and learning conceptually distinct from but supportive of traditional dialogue based modes of museum education which they supplement rather than supplant

Part III Aspects of Play

5 Embodiment Affordances The idea of embodiment adopted here recognizes that both mind and body are joined in their interactions with things Investigating works of art thus involves apprehending them physically as well as intellectually in the sense of responding to the ways in which a particular work allows and even solicits the viewer's physical grasp of it

6 Skills Ways in which objects present themselves to us as viewers and what we might do in response as they fit with the bodily skills we have developed over the course of our lives Such skills might be as simple as getting dressed washing or eating or as specialized as doing one's hair dancing playing an instrument or acting all of which may allow us to grasp and even feel that we inhabit particular works of art

7 Movement Embodied looking is always looking from somewhere We apprehend objects as we physically move around and in front of them they reveal themselves differently as we approach them from different viewpoints Viewers orient themselves spatially to both the surfaces of objects and to the things and spaces depicted in or suggested by representational works of art Activity based teaching gets visitors and students to move among the objects away from them close to them and even into them

8 The Senses Both adult visitors and younger students come to the museum expecting to use their eyes yet visual art appeals to several of the senses at once though rarely to the same degree Sculpture for example almost always appeals to touch whether or not that is actually possible or allowed as well as sight A painting depicting a scene in which people appear to be talking may induce viewers to not only look but also listen to what the figures might be saying

9 Drawing in the Museum Looking at art with a pencil in hand amplifies viewers ability to imaginatively touch and feel their way across and around an artwork Contour drawing by its nature requires participants to imagine that they are touching the contours of an object beneath the tips of their pencils Other types of drawing allow viewers to feel their way around objects through observation and movement

10 Emotion Visitors emotional responses to art represent a complex process with many components from physiological to cognitive and a particular work of art may elicit a wide range of emotional reactions This chapter describes specific ways in which museum educators can go well beyond merely asking visitors how a work of art makes them feel

11 Empathy and Intersubjectivity One aspect of viewers emotional responses to art that is often taken for granted if not neglected altogether the empathetic connections that human beings make to images of other people This chapter advocates an approach that prompts viewers to physically engage with the representations of people they see

12 Mindful Looking Mindfulness involves awareness and attention both as a conscious practice and as an attitude that gallery teachers can encourage in museum visitors This is not solely a matter of cultivating the mind however it is also a matter of cultivating the body since mindfulness is only possible when mind and body are in a state of harmonious relaxed attentiveness Mindfulness practice in the art museum actively directs the viewer's focus on the object itself and insists on returning to it over and over yet it also balances activity with conscious stillness

Afterword

Acknowledgments Hidden Wonders of the Human Heart Susan Holliday, 2021-09-21 Hidden Wonders of the Human Heart is a moving testament to ways of seeing which reveal the tender wisdom that stirs in our hearts in times of change and sorrow Drawing on eight true stories of revelation and renewal from her psychotherapy practice Susan Holliday invites us to see the ecology of our hearts as a vital realm alive with the possibility of new beginnings The cultivation of insight has never been more urgent We live in a world awash with glances swipes and clicks The intimate truth of our hearts is increasingly veiled behind categories and labels that merely codify how we feel If we are to appreciate the wonders at play in the depths of our human nature we need to learn how to see ourselves through a more creative vision Weaving compelling storytelling with insight from poets artists and musicians Hidden Wonders of the Human Heart takes its place alongside popular nonfiction titles that explore how we can enrich everyday experience by listening feeling and seeing more deeply
