There is only a perspective seeing, only a perspective 'knowing'; and the more affects we allow to speak about one thing, the more eyes, different eyes, we can use to observe one thing, the more complete will our 'concept' of this thing, our 'objectivity,' be.

~ Friedrich Nietzsche

What Do Gay Men Want? David

Halperin, 2010-04-20 Compelling timely and provocative The writing is sleek and exhilarating It doesn't waste time telling us what it will do or what it has just done it just does it Don Kulick Professor of Anthropology New York University How we can talk about sex and risk in the age of barebacking or condomless sex without invoking the usual bogus and punitive clichés about gay men's alleged low self esteem lack of self control and other psychological deficits Are there queer alternatives to psychology for thinking about the inner life of homosexuality What Do Gay Men Want explores some of the possibilities Unlike most writers on the topic of gay men and risky sex David Halperin liberates gay male subjectivity from psychology demonstrating the insidious ways in which psychology's defining opposition between the normal and the pathological subjects homosexuality to medical reasoning and revives a whole set of unexamined moral assumptions about good sex and bad sex In particular Halperin champions neglected traditions of queer thought including both literary and popular discourses by drawing on the work of well known figures like Jean Genet and neglected ones like Marcel Jouhandeau He shows how the long history of gay men's uses of abjection can offer an alternative nonmoralistic model for thinking about gay male subjectivity something which is urgently needed in the age of barebacking Anyone searching for nondisciplinary ways to slow the spread of HIV AIDS among gay men or interested in new modes of thinking about gay male subjectivity should read this book David M Halperin is W H Auden Collegiate Professor of the History and Theory of Sexuality Professor of English Professor of Women s Studies Professor of Comparative Literature and Adjunct Professor of Classical Studies at the University of Michigan The Oxford Handbook of Environmental and Conservation Psychology Susan D.

Care Michelle Croston, Sarah Rutter, 2020-07-29 The care paradigm for people with HIV has shifted from managing progressive illness with a poor prognosis to managing a chronic condition Despite this improvement people living with HIV continue to experience considerable stresses so promoting their holistic wellbeing is a key aspect of long term care This book provides an accessible introduction for healthcare professionals who work with people living with HIV. It is designed to help readers understand how care in practice can be more person-centred and psychologically focused whilst promoting compassion, health and wellbeing. Topics covered include self-awareness, attachment theories and communication as well as key aspects of providing care for people living with HIV such as stigma in young adults, neurocognitive issues, the sexualized use of drugs, managing neuropathic pain and the needs of older adults living with HIV. Invaluable reading for health professionals working within multidisciplinary teams that provide care for people living with HIV, this book is also a core text for those studying in the area.

Putting Risk in Perspective Renée T. White, 1999. Today young adults are contracting HIV more rapidly than virtually any period during the past two decades. Young women, particularly those who are black and Latina, are bearing the brunt of this new wave of infection. Putting Risk in Perspective explores the many factors associated with HIV infection among young black women. HIV infection often occurs as a result of high-risk behavior. Understanding what causes a young woman to take sexual and reproductive risks requires a consideration of the kinds of life issues she faces. Drawing on ethnographic study and interviews, Renée T. White introduces to the reader many young women who are dealing with economic pressures, family relationships, dating and courtship, intimate relationship issues and questions of sexual identity. These, along with the mythology surrounding HIV and AIDS, and knowledge about contraception, influence whether or not a black teenager will engage in risky activity. This powerful book shows why the fight against AIDS must incorporate a commitment to improving the social and economic opportunities available to young black women.

Women and Justice for the Poor Felice Batlan, 2015-04-16. This book re-examines fundamental assumptions about the American legal profession and the boundaries between professional lawyers, lay lawyers and social workers. Putting legal history and women's history in dialogue, it demonstrates that nineteenth-century women's organizations first offered legal aid to the poor and that middle-class women functioning as lay lawyers provided such assistance. Felice Batlan illustrates that by the early twentieth century male lawyers founded their own legal aid societies. These new legal aid lawyers created an imagined history of legal aid and a blueprint for its future in which women played no role and their accomplishments were intentionally omitted. In response, women social workers offered harsh criticisms of legal aid leaders and developed a more robust social work model of legal aid. These different models produced conflicting understandings of expertise, professionalism, the rule of law and ultimately the meaning of justice for the poor.
