Shakespeare's tragic perspective Rhett Darby, 1977 Perspective in Shakespeare's English Histories Larry S. Champion, 2011-04-01 Larry S. Champion examines Shakespeare's English history plays and describes the structural devices through which Shakespeare controls the audience's angle of vision and its response to the pattern of historical events. Champion observes the experimentation between stage worlds and the significance of a dramatic technique unique to the history play: one that combines the detachment of a documentary necessary for a broad intellectual view of history and the simultaneous engagement between character and spectator. Champion sees a conscious bifurcation occurring in Shakespeare's dramaturgy after Richard II. In Julius Caesar, Shakespeare continues to focus on the psychological analysis and internalized protagonist which lead to his major tragic achievements. In King John and Henry IV, the playwright develops a middle ground between the polarities of Henry VI in which the flat, one-dimensional characters essentially serve the purposes of the narrative and the tragedies in which the spectator's consuming interest is in the developing central figure whose critical moments they share. Champion sees Henry V as the culmination of Shakespeare's efforts in the English history play.

Character and the Supernatural in Shakespeare and Achebe Kenneth Usongo, 2021-03-09 Through mainly a New Historicist critical approach this book explores how Shakespeare and Achebe employ supernatural devices such as prophecies dreams gods goddesses beliefs and divinations to create complex characters Even though these features indicate the preponderance of the belief in the supernatural by some people of the Elizabethan Jacobean and traditional Igbo societies Shakespeare and Achebe primarily use the supernatural to represent the states of mind of their protagonists Both writers appropriate supernatural features to mirror tragic flaws such as ambition arrogance impulsiveness and fear that contribute to the downfall of Macbeth Lear Okonkwo and Ezeulu We relate to some of these characters because they project our inner minds principal drives that may be hidden within us Therefore Shakespeare and Achebe's preoccupation with the supernatural adds subtlety to their characterization and enhances their readability by situating their art beyond time place or particularity
