guide to the identification of the shark fins most commonly encountered in the fin trade Colour plates are by Marc Dando from the hugely acclaimed Sharks of the World A Fully Illustrated Guide Time ,1979 Incidental catch of vulnerable species in Mediterranean and Black Sea fisheries - A review Carpentieri, P., Nastasi, A., Sessa, M., Srouf, A. (eds.),2021-06-28 Bycatch a term widely used to refer to part of the catch unintentionally caught during a fishing operation in addition to target species and consisting of the discards and incidental catch of vulnerable species is considered one of the most important threats to the profitability and sustainability of fisheries as well as to the conservation of the marine environment and ecosystems Understanding the bycatch issue and adopting effective measures in order to reduce bycatch rates are essential steps towards minimizing the impacts on vulnerable species and ensuring both a sustainable fisheries sector and healthy seas In the Mediterranean and the Black Sea the incidental catch of vulnerable species namely seabirds sea turtles elasmobranchs marine mammals and macrobenthic invertebrates represents one of several challenges for the industrial semi industrial and small scale fisheries that coexist in the region as well as for the diverse and sensitive ecosystems impacted Typically data on this issue have been collected in an opportunistic manner and in ways that make comparisons difficult The annual absolute values of incidental catch of vulnerable species are not available studies cover only a small portion of the total fishing activity and often present important knowledge gaps for many types of fishing gear countries and or subregions as well as on temporal scales for example to establish reliable baselines The result is that little is known of the scope of the problem despite incidental catch being a significant pressure on the populations of vulnerable species as well as a concern for fishers This regional review is an attempt to compile in one single document all available data and historical records on the incidental catch of vulnerable species in the Mediterranean and Black Sea fisheries obtained from existing literature databases and other grey sources and collated in a standardized and comparable way The main objective is to provide comprehensive baseline information earmark the main data gaps as well as identify the most impacting types of fishing gear by taxonomic group This work is a reminder of the importance of standardized data collection and the need to have baseline information in order to support decision making in the identification of appropriate bycatch mitigation techniques thus enabling analysis of their effectiveness and comparison over time and space as well as facilitating the implementation of relevant conservation and or management measures at the national subregional and regional levels

Sharks: Conservation, Governance and Management Erika J. Techera,Natalie Klein,2014-06-05 The key aim of this book is to explore the global conservation and management of sharks There has been a rapid decline in populations of many shark species while new science has emerged of the critical role they play in marine ecosystems However the authors show that conservation law and policy have been slow to develop with only a small number of iconic species being protected worldwide The increase in fishing impact primarily through shark finning and by catch has led to shark conservation receiving greater international attention in recent years The book explores our current knowledge and status of the law and science in relation to sharks with a particular focus on improving frameworks for their conservation and management Recent trends are analysed including shark finning bans that have been put in place in several countries the widening number of nations establishing shark sanctuaries and the growth of shark based tourism The efficacy of current listing processes for endangered species and fisheries regulations is also examined Tourism is explored as an alternative to fishing and the risks and impacts associated with this industry are analysed Contributors include leading authorities from universities and conservation organizations in North America Europe and Australia A common theme is to emphasise the importance of collaborative governance between various interest groups and the need for inter disciplinary research and management approaches that are necessary to address the decline in sharks Bowker's Complete Video Directory ,2000

Human-Environment Interactions Mark R. Welford,Robert A. Yarbrough,2020-10-06 This textbook explores the growing area of human environment interaction We live in the Anthropocene an era dominated by humans but also by the positive yet destructive environmental feedbacks that are poised to completely reset the relationships between nature and society Modern and historic political social and cultural processes and physical landscape responses determine the intensity of these impacts Yet different cultural groups political and economic entities view react to and impact these human environmental processes in spatially distinct and divergent ways Providing an accessible up to date approach to human environment interactions with balanced coverage of both social and natural science approaches to core environmental issues this textbook is an integrative multi disciplinary offering that discusses environmental issues and processes within the context of human societies The book begins by addressing the three most pressing issues of our time climate change threshold exceedance and the 6th mass extinction From there the authors identify within chapters on resources population agriculture and urbanization what precipitated and continues to sustain these three issues They end with a chapter outlining some practical solutions to our human environment crises The book will be a valuable resource for interdisciplinary environment related courses bridging the gap between the social and natural sciences human geographies and physical geographies Newsweek ,1977

Human-Animal Interactions in Zoos Eduardo J. Fernandez,Sally L. Sherwen,2024-05-30 In the past couple of decades Animal Visitor Interactions AVI a type of Human Animal Interaction HAI have become one of the major topics of interest for researchers working in zoos especially in relation to animal welfare This thought provoking book summarizes the latest research concerning the impacts on HAIs in zoos including the effects of visitors on animals and the effects of animals exhibits and the place itself on visitors An invaluable resource for ethologists and animal behaviour and welfare students and practitioners as well as social scientists and indeed anyone working with zoo animals Reef Sharks and Rays of the World Scott W. Michael,2006

A study of shark and ray non-fin commodities in Mexico Tovar-Ávila, J.,Dilegros-Valencia, M.L.,Castillo-Géniz, J.L.,Braccini, J.M.,Rentería-Bravo, J.,Friedman, K.,Walsh, M.,2024-07-16 The work presented here summarizes published research from Mexico also linked to an FAO summary plus studies from India Indonesia and Peru In collaboration with various country programmes and local research groups the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO examined shark and ray value chains The goal was to provide valuable information for fisheries and environmental agencies shedding light on the role of non fin commodities derived from sharks and rays in fisheries and trade To effectively conserve shark and ray resources we must adopt a more holistic understanding of their fisheries and markets Historically the focus has primarily centred on regulating the export of shark fins often overlooking traditional and emerging fishing practices and markets related to other elasmobranch products such as meat skin cartilage liver oil and gill plates Due to limited examination of non fin commodities we lack clarity on their sources the extent of exploitation and their significance as drivers of elasmobranch utilization The report aims to shift attention towards non fin commodities in shark and ray management By doing so we hope to expand the range of potential interventions that can be employed to achieve sustainable elasmobranch fisheries a critical source of food security nutrition and livelihoods for coastal communities worldwide
