Sharlot Hall on the Arizona Strip Sharlot Mabridth Hall, 1975 Skirting Traditions: Arizona Women Writers and Journalists 1912-2012 Brenda Kimsey Warneka, Carol Hughes, Lois McFarland, June P. Payne, Sheila Roe, Pam Knight Stevenson, 2016-04-29 Women who skirt traditions whether on the frontier of a young state or in a male dominated profession have relied on resilience creativity and grit to survive and to flourish These short biographies of twenty eight female writers and journalists from Arizona span the one hundred years since Arizona became the forty eighth state in the Union They capture the emotions the monumental and often overlooked events and the pioneering spirit of women whose lives are now part of Arizona history The remarkable women profiled in this anthology made the trek to Arizona from the big cities of Chicago Los Angeles and Washington D C from the green hills of Wisconsin and from backwater towns in Oklahoma and Pennsylvania by covered wagon automobile and later airplane They came with their parents or their husbands or as single women with and without children They came seeking health in the sun blessed dryness of the desert a job a better lifestyle What these women had in common was their love of writing and journalism and their ability to use the written word to earn a living to argue a cause and to promote the virtues beauty history and people of the Southwest The narratives in Skirting Traditions move forward from the beginning of statehood to the modern day describing daring feats patriotic actions and amazing accomplishments They are women you won't soon forget

The Diné Hogan Lillian Makeda, 2024-06-28 Over the course of their history the Navajo Din have constructed many types of architecture but during the 20th century one building emerged to become a powerful and inspiring symbol of tribal culture This book describes the rise of the octagonal stacked log hogan as the most important architectural form among the Din The Navajo Nation is the largest Indian reservation in the United States and encompasses territory from within Arizona New Mexico and Utah where thousands of Native American homes called hogans dot the landscape Almost all of these buildings are octagonal Whether built from plywood nailed onto a wood frame or with other kinds of timber construction octagonal hogans derive from the stacked log hogan a form which came to prominence around the middle of the last century The stacked log hogan has also influenced public architecture and virtually every Din community on the reservation has a school senior center office building or community center that intentionally evokes it Although the octagon recurs as a theme across the Navajo reservation the inventiveness of vernacular builders and professional architects alike has produced a wide range of octagonally inspired architecture Previous publications about Navajo material culture have emphasized weaving and metalwork overlooking the importance of the tribe's built environment But populated by an array of octagonal public buildings and by the hogan one of the few Indigenous dwellings still in use during the 21st century the Navajo Nation maintains a deep connection with tradition This book describes how the hogan has remained at the center of Din society and become the basis for the most distinctive Native American landscape in the United States The Din Hogan A Modern History will appeal to scholarly and educated readers range of writings that reflects the diversity of the western experience Beginning with the narratives of Caroline Kirkland and other women of the early frontier she reviews the diaries of the overland trails letters and journals of the wives of army officers during the Indian wars professional writings focusing largely on travel by women such as Caroline Leighton from the regional publishing cultures that emerged in the Far West during the last quarter of the century and late nineteenth and early twentieth century accounts of missionaries and teachers on Indian reservations Most of the writers were white literate women who asserted their own kind of cultural authority over the lands and people they encountered Their accounts are not only set in relation to a masculine frontier myth but also investigated for clues about their own involvement with territorial expansion By exploring the various ways in which women writers actively contributed to and at times rejected the development of a national narrative of territorial expansion based on empire building and colonization the author shows how their accounts are implicated in expansionist processes at the same time that they formulate positions of innocence and detachment Georgi Findlay has drawn on American studies scholarship feminist criticism and studies of colonial discourse to examine the strategies of women s representation in writing about the West in ways that most theorists have not She critiques generally accepted stereotypes and assumptions both about women s writing and its difference of view in particular and about frontier discourse and the rhetoric of westward expansion in general as she offers a significant contribution to literary studies of the West that will challenge scholars across a wide range of disciplines Man, Models and Management Jeffrey H. Altschul,1989 The Grand Canyon Reader Lance Newman,2011-10-24 This superb anthology brings together some of the most powerful and compelling writing about the Grand Canyon stories essays and poems written across five centuries by people inhabiting surviving and attempting to understand what one explorer called the Great Unknown The Grand Canyon Reader includes traditional stories from native tribes reports by explorers journals by early tourists and contemporary essays and stories by such beloved writers as John McPhee Ann Zwinger Edward Abbey Terry Tempest Williams Barry Lopez Linda Hogan and Craig Childs Lively tales written by unschooled river runners unabashedly popular fiction and memoirs stand alongside finely crafted literary works to represent full range of human experience in this wild daunting and inspiring landscape Of Rock and Rivers Ellen Wohl,2009-06-08 This deeply personal collection of essays paints a progressive view of the American West as seen by a geologist The author traces her twenty years of living and conducting research in the natural landscapes of the West as she investigates the conflict between environmental history and widely held romanticized views of the region Cameron Trading Post Carolyn O'Bagy Davis,2016-08-15 In 1911 a one track suspension bridge was constructed over the gorge of the Little Colorado River bypassing a treacherous river crossing and opening travel to northern Arizona Five years later Hubert Richardson built a tin roofed shack on the river s rim and opened his trading post for business In the first years almost all of his customers were Navajo but with the new bridge travelers soon found the area and it became the access point for the Grand Canyon Glen Canyon and the Four Corners area A century later Cameron Trading Post is a thriving epicenter still serving Navajo people tourists and an impressive list of the famous and fascinating including authors scientists and movie stars Boasting a curio store gas station motel RV park grocery store and art gallery Cameron is visited by guests from all over the world It is a crossroads and a destination for visitors to this historic trading post

Writing Arizona, 1912-2012 Kim Engel-Pearson, 2017-09-28 From the year of Arizona's statehood to its centennial in 2012 narratives of the state and its natural landscape have revealed and reconfigured the state's image Through official state and federal publications newspapers novels poetry autobiographies and magazines Kim Engel Pearson examines narratives of Arizona that reflect both a century of Euro American dominance and a diverse and multilayered cultural landscape Examining the written record at twenty five year intervals Writing Arizona 1912 2012 shows us how the state was created through the writings of both its inhabitants and its visitors from pioneer reminiscences of settling the desert to modern stories of homelessness and from early twentieth century Native American as told to autobiographies to those written in Natives own words in the 1970s and 1980s Weaving together these written accounts Engel Pearson demonstrates how government leaders and boosters promotion of tourism often at the expense of minority groups and the environment was swiftly complicated by concerns about ethics representation and conservation Word by word story by story Engel Pearson depicts an Arizona whose narratives reflect celebrations of diversity and calls for conservation yet at the same time a state whose constitution declares only English words official She reveals Arizona to be constructed understood and inhabited through narratives a state of words as changeable as it is timeless
