Building, 1900 The History of the Theory of Structures Karl-Eugen Kurrer, 2012-01-09 This book traces the evolution of theory of structures and strength of materials the development of the geometrical thinking of the Renaissance to become the fundamental engineering science discipline rooted in classical mechanics Starting with the strength experiments of Leonardo da Vinci and Galileo the author examines the emergence of individual structural analysis methods and their formation into theory of structures in the 19th century For the first time a book of this kind outlines the development from classical theory of structures to the structural mechanics and computational mechanics of the 20th century In doing so the author has managed to bring alive the differences between the players with respect to their engineering and scientific profiles and personalities and to create an understanding for the social context Brief insights into common methods of analysis backed up by historical details help the reader gain an understanding of the history of structural mechanics from the standpoint of modern engineering practice A total of 175 brief biographies of important personalities in civil and structural engineering as well as structural mechanics plus an extensive bibliography round off this work Construction Matters Stefan Holzer, Silke Langenberg, Clemens Knobling, Orkun Kasap, 2025-03-04 Construction History Construction Heritage Recent Construction Historiography Industrialization Engineering Sciences Building Materials Building Actors Construction History is still a fairly new and small but quickly evolving field The current trends in Construction History are well reflected in the papers of the present conference Construction History has strong roots in the historiography of the 19th century and the evolution of industrialization but the focus of our research field has meanwhile shifted notably to include more recent and also more distant histories as well This is reflected in these conference proceedings where 65 out of 148 contributed papers deal with the built heritage or building actors of the 20th or 21st century The conference also mirrors the wide spectrum of documentary and analytical approaches comprised within the discipline of Construction History Papers dealing with the technical and functional analysis of specific buildings or building types are complemented by other studies focusing on the lives and formation of building actors from laborers to architects and engineers from economical aspects to social and political implications on legal aspects and the strong ties between the history of construction and the history of engineering sciences The conference integrates perfectly into the daily work at the Institute for Preservation and Construction History at ETH Zurich Its two chairs the Chair for Building Archaeology and Construction History and the Chair for Construction Heritage and Preservation endeavor to cover the entire field and to bridge the gaps between the different approaches methodologies and disciplines between various centuries as well as technologies learning together and from each other The proceedings of 8ICCH give a representative picture of the state of the art in the field and will serve as a reference point for future studies

Physical Models Bill Addis, Karl-Eugen Kurrer, Werner Lorenz, 2020-09-25 Physical models have been and continue to be used by engineers when faced with unprecedented challenges when engineering science has been inadequate or even non-existent and in any other situation when engineers have needed to raise their confidence in a design proposal to a sufficient level in order to begin construction For this reason models have mostly been used by designers and constructors of highly innovative projects when previous experience has not been available The book covers the history of using physical models in the design and development of civil and building engineering projects including Robert Stephenson's Britannia Bridge in the 1840s the masonry Aswan Dam in the 1890s and the Boulder Dam in the 1930s tidal flow in estuaries and wind and seismic loads on structures from the 1890s the acoustics of concert halls and the design of thin concrete shell roofs from the 1920s and the dynamic behaviour of tall buildings from the 1930s as well as cable net and membrane structures in the 1960s Individual designers featured include Eduardo Torroja Pier Luigi Nervi Heinz Hossdorf Heinz Isler Frei Otto Sergio Musmeci and Mamoru Kawaguchi The book concludes with overviews of the current use of physical models alongside computer models for example in boundary layer wind tunnels seismic engineering hydrology soil mechanics and air flow in buildings Traditionally progress in engineering has been attributed to the creation and use of engineering science the understanding of materials properties and the development of new construction methods The book argues that the use of reduced scale models has played an equally important part in the development of civil and building engineering However like the history of engineering design itself this crucial contribution has not been widely reported or celebrated The book includes 39 chapters written by 29 authors from ten different countries

Kenya Gazette, 1945-12-11 The Kenya Gazette is an official publication of the government of the Republic of Kenya It contains notices of new legislation notices required to be published by law or policy as well as other announcements that are published for general public information It is published every week usually on Friday with occasional releases of special or supplementary editions within the week
