Lost in Familiar Places Edward R. Shapiro, A. Wesley Carr, 2011 Lost in Familiar Places Edward R. Shapiro, A. Wesley Carr, 1993-07-01 We live in a world of accelerating change marked by the decline of traditional forms of family community and professional life Both within families and in work places individuals feel increasingly lost unsure of the roles required of them In this book a psychoanalyst and an Anglican priest using a combination of psychoanalysis and social systems theory offer tools that allow people to create meaningful connections with one another and with the institutions within which they work and live The authors begin by discussing how life in a family prefigures and prepares the individual to participate in groups offering detailed case studies of families in therapy as illustrations They then turn to organizations describing how their consultations with an academic conference a mental hospital a law firm and a church parish helped members of these institutions to relate to one another by becoming aware of wider contexts for their experiences All the people within a group have their own subjectively felt perceptions of the environment According to Shapiro and Carr when individuals can negotiate a shared interpretation of the experience and of the purposes for which the group exists they can further their own development and that of their organizations The authors suggest how this can be accomplished They conclude with some broad speculations about the continuing importance of institutions for connecting the individual and society Organization in the Mind David Armstrong, 2018-03-08 David Armstrong has been a leading figure internationally in the fields of organizational consultancy and group relations for many years Robert French and Russ Vince have gathered together for the first time his key writings in this area This is essential reading for managers and leaders as well as organizational consultants academics and students of organizations Part of the Tavistock Clinic Series Group Analysis: Working with Staff, Teams and Organizations Aleksandra Novakovic, David Vincent, 2019-02-12 Featuring contributions from a range of organizational contexts Group Analysis Working with Staff Teams and Organizations identifies the key features to group analytic practice as well as how different theoretical orientations such as Systemic and Tavistock Consultancy approaches can be incorporated into the process The book addresses two essential features of group analysis the exploration of unconscious dynamics in groups and the shifts of observational attention between the group as a whole the individual in the group and the group in the individual Including perspectives from both organizational consultancy and reflective practice chapters feature analysis with groups and subgroups in a range of settings including a forensic psychiatric hospital a children's hospice an Anglican religious community and the management team of a global organization Group Analysis Working with Staff Teams and Organizations is a major contribution to the developing literature on group analysis It will be of great interest to psychotherapists organizational consultants facilitators of reflective practice groups coaches trainees in these disciplines and any professionals who work with staff teams and organizations Peace, Reconciliation and Social Justice Leadership in the 21st Century H. Marullo, 2015-10-15 Fyodor Dostoevsky s first novel Netochka Nezvanova written in 1849 remains the least studied and understood of the writer s long fiction but it was a seedbed for many topics and themes that became hallmarks of his major works Specifically Netochka Nezvanova was the first in Dostoevsky s corpus to focus on the psychology of children and the first to feature a woman in a leading and narrative role It was also the first work in Russian literature to deal with problems of the family In Heroine Abuse Thomas Marullo contends that Netochka Nezvanova also provides a striking example of what psychologists today call codependency the ways often deviant and destructive in which individuals bond with people places and things as well as with images and ideas to cope with the vicissitudes of life Marullo shows how at age twenty eight Dostoevsky intuited and illustrated the workings of relationship addiction almost a century and a half before it became the scholarly focus of practitioners of mental health The moral monsters infernal women children adults and adult children who populate Netochka Nezvanova seek codependence in people places and things and in images ideas and ideals to satiate cravings for love dominance and control as well as to indulge in narcissism sexual perversion and other aberrant or alternative behaviors Indeed in no other work would Dostoevsky examine such phenomena as pedophilia and lesbianism with such abandon Racing from tie to tie bond to bond and caught in a debilitating loop that they claim to detest but sadomasochistically enjoy the characters in Netochka Nezvanova wreak havoc on themselves and the world They do so moreover with impunity their addictions moving them from momentary exultation as self styled extraordinary men and women through prolonged darkness and despair and once again to old and new addictions for physical and emotional release Readers of Heroine Abuse will see Netochka Nezvanova as a timeless model in depicting codependency in the world of the twenty first century as it did in St Petersburg in 1849 Marullo s original work will appeal to scholars and students of Russian and comparative fiction to doctors psychologists and therapists to laymen and women interested in relationship addiction and finally to codependents and relationship addicts of all types Trapping Safety into Rules Mathilde Bourrier, 2017-05-15

Rules and procedures are key features for a modern organization to function It is no surprise to see them to be paramount in safety management As some sociologists argue routine and rule following is not always socially resented It can bring people comfort and reduce anxieties of newness and uncertainty Facing constant unexpected events entails fatigue and exhaustion There is also no doubt that proceduralization and documented activities have brought progress avoided recurrent mistakes and allowed for best practices to be adopted However it seems that the exclusive and intensive use of procedures today is in fact a threat to new progress in safety There is an urgent need to consider this issue because there is doubt that the path chosen by many hazardous industries and activities is the most effective safety wise considering the safety level achieved today As soon as safety is involved there seems to be an irresistible push towards a wider scope of norms procedures and processes whatever the context implied This book is not a plea against proceduralization but it does take the view that it is time to reassess how far it can still go and to what benefit Underlying these questions there is a growing suspicion that the path taken might in fact lead to a dead end unless the concept of procedure and the conditions under which these procedures are developed are revisited
