Reaching Out to Children and Families Michelle R. Dunlap, 2000 Guideline to effectively prepare students for community service projects African Americans and Community Engagement in Higher Education Stephanie Y. Evans, Colette M. Taylor, Michelle R. Dunlap, DeMond S. Miller, 2009-09-17 This book discusses race and its roles in university community partnerships The contributors take a collaborative interdisciplinary and multiregional approach that allows students agency staff community constituents faculty and campus administrators an opportunity to reflect on and redefine what impact African American identity in the academy and in the community has on various forms of community engagement From historic concepts of race uplift to contemporary debates about racialized perceptions of need they argue that African American identity plays a significant role In representing best practices recommendations personal insight and informed warnings about building sustainable and mutually beneficial relationships the contributors provide a cogent platform from which to encourage the difficult and much needed inclusion of race in dialogues of national service and community engagement The Future of Service-Learning Jean R. Strait, Marybeth Lima, 2023-07-03 As a new generation of practitioners engages with service learning at a time when higher education faces questions about learning outcomes and costs and in the context of such issues as globalization and the environment this book poses important questions about practice institutional sustainability and future directions Among these are What counts as service learning What value does it bring to institutions Is it appropriate for all students How is globalization impacting service learning Divided into three thematic parts this book successively covers institutional and administrative issues service learning as a springboard for research and presents new practices that address emerging challenges and changing student populations The contributors review how different institutional types have structured their service learning activities address the issue of centralization or decentralization propose better ways to form community partnerships consider promotion and tenure implications postulate framing service learning and community engagement as scholarship and examine service learning as a springboard for research Further chapters offer a new blueprint for funding to achieve sustainability examples of international service learning from a European perspective a case study and framework for using on line formats to extend the reach of a program raise the urgent issue of the experiences and contributions of underrepresented students and present the rationale and processes for developing effective student led evaluation of programs Michigan Journal of Community Service Learning, 2006 Intercultural Horizons Volume II Lavinia Bracci, Nevin C. Brown, Eliza J. Nash, 2014-07-08 This volume features a collection of papers from the second annual Intercultural Horizons conference held in October 2012 in New York City USA The 2012 conference was the second in what is becoming an annual series of meetings and the present volume therefore is a companion to one issued last year by Cambridge Scholars Publishing Intercultural Horizons Best Practices in Intercultural Competence Development 2012 The papers included in this volume reflect a diversity of approaches both to intercultural education in the North American setting and to its application in service learning and related contexts in diverse cultural settings in other nations Our authors provide faculty and student perspectives primarily from the level of postsecondary education but including a look as well at intercultural education at the primary level Many of the papers focus in one way or another on issues of curriculum teaching and learning in relation to developing intercultural competence in students in North American colleges and universities particularly though not exclusively through the use of service learning All of the papers touch in one way or another on another important development now affecting almost all institutions of higher education in North America and increasingly in other nations worldwide that of the university's engagement with the community During the past thirty years such engagement has moved from the periphery to the core of many North American colleges and universities Similar efforts are now emerging among many Asian universities and in Europe as well The paper in this volume on the Polisocial initiative at the Politecnico di Milano in Italy is a good example of how the theme of university community engagement is taking hold in a city and nation facing similar intercultural and economic challenges to those in North America and serves as a preview of themes the International Center for Intercultural Exchange hopes to explore in its future conferences www.ticfie.com

Getting Involved, 2008-01-01 Getting involved in society means becoming a human person by doing something for others and thus being connected to mankind and society Youngsters who get involved give meaning to life and develop a feeling of agency But getting involved is not easy Getting involved is necessary for living together creating democracy and sustainability of a global world The paradox is that in a modern multicultural society getting involved is even more important than in a traditional more monocultural society Getting involved relates to various scientific orientations Political sociological psychological and pedagogical questions are at issue and all of these will be consulted in this volume The main perspective however remains the issue of identity development relating to getting involved and will therefore be psychological This book gives a broad overview of current research in the field of moral development and citizenship It shows the diversity of concepts research methodologies and educational practices The book also shows the influence of local social cultural and political contexts The book can help researchers teacher educators politicians and practitioners in finding new and better ways of supporting youngsters in their moral and civic identity development

Collective Efficacy Anthony H. Normore, Nancy Erbe, 2013-11-26 The impetus of this book builds on the collective synergy of international and interdisciplinary authors with focus on leadership development and growth Although professional disciplines are closely interconnected there's often a tendency to work in silos and isolation Diverse authors share a wealth of knowledge research and pragmatism that can
