Schooling the Generations in the Politics of Prison Chinosole,1996 Forced Passages Dylan Rodr U'guez, With the US having the highest incarceration rate in the world prisons have become sites of radical political discourse and resistance Dylan Rodriguez examines the work of a number of imprisoned intellectuals such as Angela Davis and Leonard Peltier and looks at how imprisonment has shaped their writing Heartbeat of Struggle Diane Carol Fujino,2005 Presents the biography of the courageous Asian American activist who on February 12 1965 cradled Malcolm X in her arms as he died although her role as a public servant and activist began much earlier than this pivotal public moment Simultaneous

Decoloniality in the Break of Global Blackness Michaeline A. Crichlow,Patricia M. Northover,2025-05-21 This book contextualized by the violence of globalization investigates the fungible fugitive and untenable experiences of Black being and time through a decolonial poethics of global Blackness In so doing it introduces innovative readings of coloniality decoloniality by threading its meaning and movement through the problem of Blackness It argues that global Blackness is the complexly entangled other side of decoloniality as movement method and poethics for radical new worlds The essays explore this through inter transdisciplinary creative and decolonial standpoints whether from prison abolitionist demands to Afrofuturist imaginaries or by seeing through Black mirrors It emphasizes the paradoxical characteristics of global Blackness its spectral quality of being in and out of modernity s self narrative to provide a way of dwelling with global Blackness as a force that is neither properly constituted by corporeality nor thinkable in ontological terms determined by modern power The book will be of interest to academics researchers and students in the fields of social sciences cultural studies postcolonial studies as well as cultural practitioners art educators artists cultural activists and those institutions that seek to decolonize imaginaries thought practices and methods Given its diverse offerings it will also be of interest to upper level undergraduates graduate students and academics Still Lifting, Still Climbing Kimberly Springer,1999-08 Still Lifting Still Climbing is the first volume of its kind to document African American women s activism in the wake of the civil rights movement Covering grassroots and national movements alike contributors explore black women s mobilization around such areas as the black nationalist movements the Million Man March black feminism anti rape movements mass incarceration the U S Congress welfare rights health care and labor organizing Detailing the impact of post 1960s African American women s activism they provide a much needed update to the historical narrative Ideal for course use the volume includes original essays as well as primary source documents such as first hand accounts of activism and statements of purpose Each contributor carefully situates their topic within its historical framework providing an accessible context for those unfamiliar with black women s history and demonstrating that African American women s political agency does not emerge from a vacuum but is part of a complex system of institutions economics and personal beliefs This ambitious volume will be an invaluable resource on the state of contemporary African American women s activism Prisons Help Sourcebook ,2004 Contains Dennis Sobin s memoir entitled Doing Time in Waltz Time Collisions at the Wall Dylan Rodriguez, 2001 Lifeworlds and Change in Palestinian Education Bill Williamson, 2024-07-29 This timely volume critically assesses the state of education in Palestine re framing the discourse on Israel Palestine through the lens of education and arguing for a paradigm shift in the way education in the region is studied managed and experienced Foregrounding the voices commentaries and reflections of Palestinians as well as touching on differing elements of educational experience that define Palestinian identities the book highlights that educational change in Palestine is inseparable from the need to change the politics and understanding of education in western societies Chapters introduce the holistic concept of the lifeworld curriculum which proposes the idea that education cannot be conceived solely in relation to physical educational spaces but in addition should acknowledge the conceptual spaces of civil society communities and the world of work the basic structures of Palestinian lives in order to reinforce the idea that circumstances teach Ultimately challenging western educators to rethink their approaches to education and learning in order to build a stronger global platform for human rights democratic engagement and justice this book will be of value to scholars researchers and postgraduate students in international and comparative education multicultural education and educational change and reform more broadly Prison Legal News, 1997 Tar Heel Politics 2000 Paul Luebke, 1998 Offering an insightful analysis of North Carolina political trends and personalities Paul Luebke moves beyond the usual labels of Republican and Democrat conservative and liberal In Tar Heel Politics 2000 he argues that North Carolina's real po

The Politics of Education Policy in an Era of Inequality Sonya Douglass, Janelle T. Scott, Gary L. Anderson, 2024-11-06 In a context of increased politicization led by state and federal policymakers corporate reformers and for profit educational organizations The Politics of Education Policy in an Era of Inequality explores a new vision for leading schools grounded in culturally relevant advocacy and social justice theories This timely volume tackles the origins and implications of growing accountability for educational leaders and reconsiders the role that educational leaders should and can play in education policy and political processes This book provides a critical perspective and analysis of today's education policy landscape and leadership practice explores the challenges and opportunities associated with teaching in and leading schools and examines the structural political and cultural interactions among school principals district leaders state and federal policy actors and increasingly powerful non state actors This fully revised second edition includes questions for discussion at the end of each chapter as well as expanded discussion on critical race theory the effects on educational systems following the global pandemic the holistic needs of children including physical mental economic nutritional and emotional the impact of technology and AI book banning and the assault on school curricula in some states as well as teacher strikes and the politics of school boards An important resource for practicing and aspiring leaders The Politics of Education Policy in an Era of Inequality shares a theoretical framework and strategies for building bridges between education researchers practitioners and policymakers Changing Politics of Education Michael Fabricant, Michelle Fine, 2015-11-17

The authors persuasively argue that the present cascade of reforms to public education is a consequence of a larger intention to shrink government. The startling result is that more of public education's assets and resources are moving to the private sector and to the prison industrial complex. Drawing on various forms of evidence, structural economic narrative and youth generated participatory research, the authors reveal new structures and circuits of dispossession and privilege that amount to a clear failure of present policy. Policymaking is at war with the interests of the vast majority of citizens and especially with urban youth of color. In the final chapter, the authors explore democratic principles and offer examples essential to mobilizing in solidarity with educators, youth communities, labor and allied social movements, the kind of power necessary to contest the present direction of public education reform.

The Politics of Policy in Boys' Education M.

Weaver-Hightower, 2008-11-10 An accessible and original look into the education policy of Australia that considers how it came about, how it was steered to the political right, how some educators struggled to implement or resist it in their schools and how it applies to other systems.

The Precarious Generation Judith Bessant, Rys Farthing, Rob Watts, 2017-05-08 This book draws on a wealth of evidence including young people's own stories to document how they are now faring in increasingly unequal societies like America, Britain, Australia, France and Spain. It points to systematic generational inequality as those born since 1980 become the first generation to have a lower standard of living than previous generations. While governments and experts typically explain this by referring to globalization, new technologies or young people's deficits, the authors of this book offer a new political economy of generations which identifies the central role played by governments promoting neoliberal policies that exacerbate existing social inequalities based on age, ethnicity, gender and class. The book is a must read for social science students, human service workers and policy makers and indeed for anyone interested in understanding the impact of government policy over the last 40 years on young people.

Prison

Town Andrea R. Morrell, 2025 Andrea R. Morrell shows that despite the barriers aimed at separating incarcerated and free residents of Elmira, New York, the town's two prisons extended far beyond their walls, intricately connecting the two populations.

Urban Black Women and the Politics of Resistance Z. Isoke, 2013-01-23 Contemporary urban spaces are critical sites of resistance for black women. By focusing on the spatial aspects of political resistance of black women in Newark, this book provides new ways of understanding the complex dynamics and innovative political practices within major American cities.

Partial Truths and the Politics of Community

Robin L. Teske, Mary Ann Tétreault, 2003 Partial Truths and the Politics of Community considers what happens after feminists succeed in achieving social change or in founding organizations dedicated to accomplishing their personal and social goals This collection of eighteen essays by scholars from the fields of international relations and feminist studies explores the theoretical dilemmas and practical politics of living with raised consciousnesses in worlds of our own making The contributors explore feminisms as dreams of human rights as a cluster of ideologies and as a bounty of social practices set within frameworks for tackling problems in nation building and global governance In essays that illustrate the impact of feminist concerns with the quality of education the contributors offer studies of homeschooling of the education of impoverished girls in rural Mexico of sororities and their relation to female autonomy and of the teaching of prisoners by volunteers in county jails Other contributors call for a greater attention to the ecology of social life viewing society as a complex of individuals bound to one another through webs of transactions and obligations These contributors recount examples from Northern Ireland Poland and the United States in which such webs sometimes support and sometimes strangle efforts to achieve human dignity and autonomy Evaluating progress made in the legal realm other contributors chart the opportunities and limitations of international and domestic law as tools to advance and protect human rights They consider gender discrimination in universities and colleges the United Nations and its mixed record on women s issues and the effects of adding rape to the list of prosecutable war crimes The volume concludes with two works on how feminism supports democratic constructions of science and religion with results that destabilize dominant institutions in both realms
