The Communist Genocide

in Romania Gheorghe Boldur-Lătescu,2005 Communist Genocide in Romania Romania After Tyranny Daniel N

Nelson,2019-06-19 In 1973 Romanians were beginning to recognize that the regime of Nicolae Ceausescu contrary to what his first five or six years in power seemed to imply would bring no respite from communism Instead after a 1971 mini cultural revolution ended hope for a Bucharest spring and intellectual latitude was curtailed further in 1972 73 the ominous possibilities of Ceausescu were becoming evident In 1973 I went to Romania on a dissertation research grant from the International Research and Exchanges Board It was a year in which wide ranging survey research was still possible But it was also a time when historians and writers who had different ideas or workers who gave thought to non party union organization felt the heavy hand of Ceausescu s Securitate As happens to most graduate students and their field research it was a formative experience with indelible impressions that remain today The Destruction of Memory Robert Bevan,2007-04-20 Crumbled shells of mosques in Iraq the bombing of British cathedrals in World War II the fall of the World Trade Center towers on September 11 when architectural totems such as these are destroyed by conflicts and the ravages of war more than mere buildings are at stake The Destruction of Memory reveals the extent to which a nation weds itself to its landscape Robert Bevan argues that such destruction not only shatters a nation s culture and morale but is also a deliberate act of eradicating a culture s memory and ultimately its existence Bevan combs through world history to highlight a range of wars and conflicts in which the destruction of architecture was pivotal From Cortez s razing of Aztec cities to the carpet bombings of Dresden and Tokyo in World War II to the war in the former Yugoslavia The Destruction of Memory exposes the cultural war that rages behind architectural annihilation revealing that in this subliminal assault lies the complex aim of exterminating a people He provocatively argues for the fatally intertwined experience of genocide and cultural genocide ultimately proposing the elevation of cultural genocide to a crime punishable by international law In an age in which Frank Gehry I M Pei and Frank Lloyd Wright are revered and yet museums and temples of priceless value are destroyed in wars around the world Bevan challenges the notion of collateral damage arguing that it is in fact a deliberate act of war

Romania under Communism Dennis Deletant,2018-10-11 Communism has cast a long shadow over Romania The passage of little over a quarter of a century since the overthrow in December 1989 of Romania s last Communist leader Nicolae Ceau escu offers a symbolic standpoint from which to penetrate that shadow and to throw light upon the entire period of Communist rule in the country An appropriate point of departure is the observation that Romania s trajectory as a Communist state within the Soviet bloc was unlike that of any other That trajectory has its origins in the social structures attitudes and policies in the pre Communist period The course of that trajectory is the subject of this inquiry Testimonies of the City Joanna Herbert, 2016-04-01 Oral testimony is one of the most valuable but challenging sources for the study of modern history providing access to knowledge and experience unavailable to historians of earlier periods In this groundbreaking collection oral testimonies are used to explore themes relating to the construction of urban memories in European cities during the twentieth century From the daily experiences of city life to personal and communal responses to urban change and regeneration to migration and the construction of ethnic identities oral history is employed to enrich our understanding of urban history It offers insights and perspectives that both enhance existing approaches and forces us to re-examine official histories based on more traditional sources of documentation Moreover it enables the historian to understand something of the nature of memory itself and how people construct their own versions of the urban experience to try to make sense of the past By using the full range of opportunities offered by oral history as well as fully considering the related methodological issues of interpretation this volume provides a fascinating insight into one of the least explored areas of urban history As well as adding to our understanding of the European urban experience it highlights the potential of this intersection of oral and urban history

Architecture RePerformed: The Politics of Reconstruction Tino

Mager, 2016-03-09 First emerging at the beginning of the twentieth century architectural reconstruction has increasingly become an instrument to visually revive a long bygone past This book deals with the phenomenon of meticulous reconstruction in architecture It argues that the politics of reconstruction go far beyond aesthetic considerations Taking architecture as a major source of history and regional identity the impact of large scale reconstruction is deeply intertwined with political and social factors Furthermore memories and associations correlated with lost buildings of a bygone era are heavily influenced by their re-appearance something which often contradicts historical events Reconstruction has become an established way of building and dealing with the past yet so far there is no comprehensive scientific study on it By bringing together eight case studies from Eastern Europe France Spain China Japan Israel and Brazil it provides valuable insights into this topic The chapters analyse the political background of the reconstructions and identify the protagonists In doing so this volume adds to our understanding of the impact of reconstruction to memory and oblivion as well as the critical power of reconstruction regarding contemporary architecture and urbanism

gets to the bottom of the twenty first century city literally Underground moves beneath Romania's capital Bucharest to examine how the demands of global accumulation have extended urban life not just upward into higher skylines and outward to ever more distant peripheries but also downward beneath city sidewalks Underground details how developers and municipal officials have invested tremendous sums of money to gentrify and expand Bucharest's constellation of subterranean Metro stations and pedestrian pathways basements and cellars bunkers and crypts to provide upwardly mobile residents with space to live work and play in an overcrowded and increasingly unaffordable city center In this sense the repurposed underground facilitates dreams of middle class ascendancy This sense of optimism the book shows invariably gives way to ambivalence as the middle classes confront the indignities of being incorporated into the city from below Bruce O'Neill argues that these loosely coordinated efforts have not only introduced novel forms of social fragmentation but also a new aesthetics of inequality that are fundamentally shaping where and how the middle classes fit in the city Pushing urban studies beyond a cartographic perspective with its horizontal focus upon centers and peripheries walls and gates O'Neill brings into focus the vertical dynamics of gentrification that place some on the bottom and others on top of the city As cities around the world extend further downward in the name of development and sustainability Underground makes clear that scholars and practitioners of the twenty first century city will need to become ever more attuned to the cultural politics of urban verticality asking not just who is included in the city and who has been pressed outside of it but also who is on top and who is placed on the bottom

Ramet, 2023-03-23 The communists of East Central Europe came to power promising to bring about genuine equality paying special attention to achieving gender equality to build up industry and create prosperous societies and to use music art and literature to promote socialist ideals Instead they never succeeded in filling more than a third of their legislatures with women and were unable to make significant headway against entrenched patriarchal views they considered it necessary with the sole exception of Albania to rely heavily on credits to build up their economies eventually driving them into bankruptcy and the effort to instrumentalize the arts ran aground in most of the region already by 1956 and in Yugoslavia by 1949 Communism was all about planning control and politicization Except for Yugoslavia after 1949 the communists sought to plan and control not only politics and the economy but also the media and information religious organizations culture and the promotion of women which they understood in the first place as involving
