practical guide to doing business in Nigeria , On the move Aitor Ibarrola-Armendariz, Jon Ortiz de Urbina Arruabarrena, 2016-07-29 This volume brings together a selection of the papers and round tables delivered at the 39th AEDEAN Conference held at the University of Deusto in November 2015 The essays in On the Move Glancing Backwards to Build a Future in English Studies often begin with typically academic gestures such as retrieving a classic text and finding new ways of studying its genre or characterization or remarking how certain ungrammatical constructions have gone frequently unnoticed even in well known texts for various reasons or entangling oneself in contentions about the adequacy of dissecting a literary text or linguistic problem by using innovative analytical tools In all cases though there is the intention of putting forth certain views and notions that will help future scholars to deal in a better light with the dilemmas regularly encountered in literary linguistic and cultural studies The book opens with three essays by professors Bartholomae Pullum and R o who demonstrate not only their mastery in their respective subjects but also their ability to tailor their contents to multifarious audiences The next two sections represent the main body of the e book with nearly forty contributions on both literature and cultural studies Part II and language and linguistics Part III These short academic pieces are a representative showcase of the research being done lately in the different areas of expertise The last section of the volume gathers together the results of four research projects dealing with such engaging topics as postcolonial crime fiction or forgotten texts by Anglo writers about the Spanish Civil War It is hard to think of any potential reader schooled in English Studies who will not find something suitable to their interests and tastes in this volume International Law and Civil Wars Eliav Lieblich, 2013-03-05 This book examines the international law of forcible intervention in civil wars in particular the role of party consent in affecting the legality of such intervention In modern international law it is a near consensus that no state can use force against another the main exceptions being self defence and actions mandated by a UN Security Council resolution However one more potential exception exists forcible intervention undertaken upon the invitation or consent of a government seeking assistance in confronting armed opposition groups within its territory Although the latter exception is of increasing importance the numerous questions it raises have received scant attention in the current body of literature This volume fills this gap by analyzing the consent exception in a wide context and attempting to delineate its limits including cases in which government consent power is not only negated but might be transferred to opposition groups The book also discusses the concept of consensual intervention in contemporary international law in juxtaposition to traditional legal doctrines It traces the development of law in this context by drawing from historical examples such as the Spanish Civil War as well as recent cases such those of the Democratic Republic of the Congo Somalia Libya and Syria This book will be of much interest to students of international law civil wars the Responsibility to Protect war and conflict studies and IR in general Leadership Failure and Nigeria's Fading Hopes Femi Okurounmu, 2010-04-06 Leadership Failure and Nigeria's Fading Hopes is a heart rending lamentation by a patriotic Nigerian elder statesman Femi Okurounmu on how his country through unbridled corruption and the selfishness of successive leaders has dashed the hopes of not just Nigerians but the entire black race and reinforced the prejudices of racists who raise doubts concerning the intellectual capacity of black people. The book consists of excerpts from a critical but constructive weekly column Patriotic Punches which the author wrote between 2004 and 2009 in the Nigerian Tribune newspaper. It chronicles incidents of corruption in government, laments the corruption of the entire society and all its institutions and decries the enthronement of money as the national deity such that its acquisition becomes the surest route to national recognition no matter how it is acquired. It bemoans the fact that this conscienceless pursuit of money has eroded all of society's values, fostered a culture of corruption and criminality and led to the hijack of governance by a wealthy cabal among them many criminals who have provided a climate of impunity for the most horrendous levels of treasury looting by public officials necessitating repeated rigging of elections to install protective successor leaders. The author is particularly distressed that the traditional watchdogs of public morality and probity, the judiciary, the media, religious leaders and institutions and traditional rulers have all become mortally infected by the corruption. It calls on the citizenry to take their future into their own hands by shaking off their political lethargy and docility, abandoning their excessive and unreasonable fear of death and mobilizing to confront bad governance and to ensure the emergence of a government that will fulfil the nation's early promise and give some credibility to the black man's claim to equality with other races of mankind.

Christian Churches and Nigeria's Political Economy of Oil and Conflict Nkem Emerald Osuigwe, 2014-09-18. The received account on African evangelical Christianity regarding social witness in a section of Western scholarship is that it is anti-development and a political. Such an account heavily draws from an instrumentalist and functionalist assessment of such Christianity without recourse to its emic perspective. Using the case study method, this book presents an ethnographic examination of this functionalist reading by investigating, describing and analysing evangelical Christian theological and socio-political consciousness within the context of oil and conflict in Nigeria's Niger Delta region. Adopting approaches from practical theology, congregational studies and anthropology of religion, the author challenges such a reading using data gathered from three congregations in the region. His discourse revolves around answers to the following four critical questions: What are the underlying theological issues and beliefs of Nigerian evangelical Christians within the context of oil and conflict? What is their prevalent praxis within the context of Nigeria's political economy of oil and conflict? How accurate is the received account that African evangelical and fundamentalist Christianity lacks social responsibility and is a political and anti-development? What would a contextual political theology for Nigeria's political economy of oil look like? The theological issues are varied and the prevalent praxis nuanced, which then serves as a veritable critique of the claim that African evangelical Christianity lacks social responsibility due to its preoccupation with soul winning. Whereas such Christianity places much emphasis on the winning of souls as an expression of its spirituality it is neither oblivious nor indifferent to its socio political milieu Rather it sees such spirituality as a form of political praxis Some of the trajectories of the spirituality include a theology of conversion a theology of prayer and an ethics of crude oil with Total Freedom as the nomenclature for the specific theological perspective offered for Nigeria s political economy of oil While locating this theological perspective within the taxonomy of Liberation Theology the affinity and dissonance between the two are identified The Report: Nigeria 2016 Oxford Business Group,2016-10-06 Nigeria is the largest economy in Africa with a GDP of 487bn in 2015 according to the World Bank The country asserted the mantle of the continent s largest economy in 2013 following a rebasing exercise However its large population means that Nigeria remains a comparatively poor country in per capita terms with a lower GDP per capita than several of its sub Saharan neighbors Following a real GDP contract of 1.5% in 2016 the IMF forecasts that growth will reach 0.8% in 2017 and 1.9% in 2018 While growth began to pick up in the first half of 2017 Nigeria still has much work to do However there is the sentiment that the economy has turned a corner and has begun to see a silver lining Devaluation of the naira rising inflation the drop in oil revenues the slowdown in oil production and the leader softening of growth
