Loss And How To Cope With It:

Coping With Loss Susan Nolen-Hoeksema, Judith Larson, Judith M. Larson, 2013-01-11 Coping With Loss describes the many ways in which people cope with the death of someone they love Most earlier books on bereavement have fallen into two categories distillations of the clinical experience of individual therapists or collections of chapters reporting the results of empirical studies Each category is valuable but has tended to serve a narrow group of readers practitioners with particular theoretical orientations or researchers in quest of the latest findings Coauthored by a leading research psychologist and an experienced therapist who specializes in bereavement education and intervention this book is different The authors weave together the strands of theory research and clinical wisdom into a seamless and readable narrative While they discuss previous work they also present new data never before published from one of the largest studies of bereaved people ever conducted the Bereavement Coping Project Unlike most studies to date which focused on only one type of bereaved group usually widows or widowers the Bereavement Coping Project examined the experiences of several different groups during the first 18 months after the death The groups included those who had lost a spouse a parent an adult sibling or a child and those who had lost their significant other to cancer or cardiovascular disease on one hand as opposed to the stigmatized disease of AIDS on the other The book begins with a critical overview of theories of bereavement succeeding chapters explore in depth the impact of specific types of loss the impact of particular coping strategies on recovery the impact of social supports and religion and the special cases of children and of people who seem to grow and change for the better after a loss A final chapter considers implications for intervention with bereaved people Each chapter is richly illuminated with real life examples throughout and ends with a section called Voices in which bereaved people describe their various attempts to cope in their own words Insightful and informative

Midwives Coping with Loss and Grief Doreen Kenworthy, Mavis Kirkham, 2019-01-22 The experience of stillbirth and other losses in pregnancy at what is usually a time of great joy is tragic for everyone involved including midwifery professionals Although research increasingly shows how profound the effects of loss can be few studies have explored the effects of pregnancy loss which often leads to other personal and professional traumas such as loss of autonomy or a workplace on midwives This in depth investigation uses a phenomenological approach to capture midwives experiences of loss and grief in their own words and encompasses both pregnancy loss and wider professional and personal issues It then makes recommendations to enhance midwives resilience and ability to cope appropriately whilst giving maximum support to their clients Reflections on the emerging implications for midwifery education and practice further broaden the scope of the analysis The insights in this book will be of great use to midwifery managers and supervisors They will also help midwives to nurture themselves their colleagues and their clients at a time when pressures on the service can leave support lacking The devastating experience of losing a baby for women and their families is something that as midwives we strive to understand in order to provide appropriate practical and emotional support Doreen and Mavis encourage us to consider how we are affected by the grief of others at a deeply personal level Ultimately the message in this book is one of hope through reflection and the sharing of experiences midwives who have been with women whose babies have died can regain their personal strength and learn to re shape memories in ways that contribute to personal growth and understanding A From the Foreword by Nicky Leap

Coping with Grief: Surviving the Unexpected Loss of a Child Rick Larnerd, 2019-04-10 As parents nearly all mothers and fathers form a bond with their offspring at the moment of birth As we parents know children do not come with instructions however The business of raising them to become productive members of society is a roller coaster of ups and downs This series of trials and errors helps to define and solidify the parental bond When that bond is severed by loss the ensuing chaos sends a grieving parent into a tailspin When that loss is unexpected and there is no time to prepare the grief can be particularly debilitating Parents are not supposed to outlive their children Just as children do not come with instructions for their raising there are no instructions for how to deal with the grief which consumes us when we lose one How can one survive the crippling effects of this tragedy The enormity of that tragedy is compounded when more than one child is unexpectedly lost As you read my story of the loss of two of my three children I hope this survivor s perspective will help to shed light on a very complex and personally unique emotion and serve as an inspiration for others experiencing the same grief With belief in God the love of family support of friends compassion from strangers and the passage of time it truly is possible to overcome the debilitating effects of grief

Brothers and Sisters: Coping with Grief and Loss Barbara Snook,2018-07-10 When a family member dies often the response of children is overlooked or underestimated This very important book makes tangible the range of emotions felt but not completely understood by children for the loss of a parent or sibling It offers welcome channels of response that can help survivors to not only understand their feelings but also come to grips with the loss and get on positively with their lives Barbara Snook offers insights into a range of people s experiences with the loss of a family member It normalizes the variety of experiences of grieving that it is not a linear process not something to get over rather the impacts are lifelong and require developing ways to live with the grief Pauline Brown registered psychologist This book is like a cocoon It is beautiful from start to finish The growth and transformation about such grief is anticipated and transparent yet mesmerising through its entire unfolding It holds the reader in the same way that siblings who have lost and actually anyone who has lost a loved one need to be held and need to be seen as they transit their own unique process Jenni van der Schoot psychotherapist I recognise myself in the pages written by the brave contributors to this book as will other readers who struggle with the complex and conflicting emotions of losing a loved sibling Realising that others also struggle with grief and have feelings of guilt is a repeated thread in the stories that weave readers together giving them the realisation that they are not the odd one out but that their reactions are normal in a heart rending situation Tilly Brasch author of No Middle Name

Life Crises and Experiences of Loss in Adulthood Leo Montada,Sigrun-Heide Filipp,Melvin J. Lerner,2014-01-14 A result of a conference at the University of Trier Germany this volume mirrors its goals to provide an overview of recent advances in research on critical life events and the losses associated with them to collect and stimulate new perspectives for the analysis of these events to compare the psychology of victims experiencing stress and losses with the psychology of observers in their reactions to victims Designed to prevent developmental psychological myths in the area of life crises this collection questions on an empirical basis the adequacy of several widespread generalizations At the same time its contributors attempt to draw paths to conceptualizations and theories in general psychology and social psychology which promise to be helpful in analyzing and interpreting phenomena in the field of life crises
