remote areas of low and lower middle income countries New analysis shows that adult women have a higher prevalence of severe food insecurity than men in some areas pointing to gender inequalities that are reflected in access to food Addressing gender and other inequalities is key to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals and heeding the call to leave no one behind The publication s focus this year is on migration gender and youth and the linkages with rural development and food security in Europe and Central Asia Migration is linked in multiple ways to gender youth and agricultural and rural development both as a driver and possible source of development opportunities with labour migration and remittances playing significant roles in the region Changing migration processes need to be fully understood to better address the challenges of migration and harness the potential benefits for sustainable development and revitalized rural areas Governments public and private institutions communities and other concerned parties must strengthen collaboration and scale up efforts towards achieving the goals of a thriving healthy and food secure region
