Plains Song:

Songs from the Plains Edna Worthley Underwood, 1917 Songs of the Plains and Other Poems Cuthbert Wilkinson, 1907 Poems of the Plains, and Songs of the Solitudes Thomas Brower Peacock, Thomas Danly Suplée, 1888

The Cambridge History of American Music David Nicholls, 1998-11-19 The Cambridge History of American Music first published in 1998 celebrates the richness of America's musical life. It was the first study of music in the United States to be written by a team of scholars. American music is an intricate tapestry of many cultures and the History reveals this wide array of influences from Native European African Asian and other sources. The History begins with a survey of the music of Native Americans and then explores the social historical and cultural events of musical life in the period until 1900. Other contributors examine the growth and influence of popular musics including film and stage music jazz rock and immigrant folk and regional musics. The volume also includes valuable chapters on twentieth century art music including the experimental serial and tonal traditions.

The Garland Encyclopedia of World Music Ellen Koskoff, 2017-09-25 This volume makes available the full range of the American Canadian musical experience covering for the first time in print all major regions ethnic groups and traditional and popular contexts. From musical comedy to world beat from the songs of the Arctic to rap and house music from Hispanic Texas to the Chinese communities of Vancouver the coverage captures the rich diversity and continuities of the vibrant music we hear around us. Special attention is paid to recent immigrant groups to Native American traditions and to such socio-musical topics as class race gender religion government policy media and technology.

The Power of Kiowa Song Luke E. Lassiter, 1998-09 ca 06 cubic ft Native America in the Twentieth Century Mary B. Davis, 2014-05-01 First Published in 1996 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informal company.

Ethnomusicology of the Flathead Indians Alan Merriam, 2017-09-29 All people in no matter what culture must be able to place their music firmly in the context of the totality of their beliefs experiences and activities for without such ties music cannot exist. This means that there must be a body of theory connected with any music system not necessarily a theory of the structure of music sound although that may be present as well but rather a theory of what music is what it does and how it is coordinated with the total environment both natural and cultural in which human beings move.

The Flathead Indians of Western Montana just over 26 000 in number as of the 2000 census inhabit a reservation consisting of 632 516 acres of land in the Jocko and Flathead Valleys and the Camas Prairie country which lie roughly between Evaro and Kalispell Montana. The reservation is bounded on the east by the Mission Range on the west by the Cabinet National Forest on the south by the Lolo National Forest and on the north by an arbitrary line approximately bisecting Flathead Lake about twenty four miles south of Kalispell. The area is one of the richest agricultural regions in Montana and fish and game are abundant. The Flathead are engaged in stocking timbering and various agricultural enterprises. For the Flathead the most important single fact about music and its relationship to the total world is its origin in the supernatural sphere. All true and proper songs particularly in the past owe their origin to a variety of contacts experienced by humans with beings which though a part of this world are superhuman and the source of both individual and tribal powers and skills Thus a sharp distinction is drawn by the Flathead between what they call make up and all other songs Merriam s pioneering work in the relationship of ethnography and musicology remains a primary source in this field in anthropology The new Popular encyclopedia.
