Beyond the Handshake Dalia Dassa Kaye, 2012-08-14 Arabs and Israelis have battled one another in political and military arenas seemingly continuously for some fifty years The 1991 Madrid Peace Conference sought to change this pattern launching bilateral and multilateral tracks in the Arab Israeli peace process As a result a broad group of Arab states sat down with Israel and began to cooperate on a wide range of regional issues in what became known as the Middle East multilaterals Yet why did enemies reluctant even to recognize one another choose to cooperate on regional problems And once this process began what drove the parties to continue such cooperation or in some cases halt their cooperative efforts Beyond the Handshake addresses these fundamental questions exploring the origins of the multilaterals and the development of multilateral cooperation in the areas of arms control and regional security economic development water management and the environment Dalia Dassa Kaye challenging conventional concepts of cooperation argues that multilateral cooperation in the Middle East must be appreciated as a process of interaction rather than solely as a set of outcomes Presenting theoretical insights of value to students of regional and international relations Beyond the Handshake provides a unique look at the evolving nature of Arab Israeli relations and exposes the foundation the multilateral peace process laid for future regional cooperation in the Middle East

Regional Orders David A. Lake, Patrick M. Morgan, 2010-11 Conflict among nations for forty five years after World War II

was dominated by the major bipolar struggle between the United States and the Soviet Union With the end of the Cold War states in differing legions of the world are taking their affairs more into their own hands and working out new arrangements for security that best suit their needs This trend toward new regional orders is the subject of this book which seeks both to document the emergence and strengthening of these new regional arrangements and to show how international relations theory needs to be modified to take adequate account of their salience in the world today Rather than treat international politics as everywhere the same or each region as unique this book adopts a comparative approach It recognizes that while regions vary widely in their characteristics comparative analysis requires a common typology and set of causal variables It presents theories of regional order that both generalize about regions and predict different patterns of conflict and cooperation from their individual traits The editors conclude that in the new world of regional orders the quest for universal principles of foreign policy by great powers like the United States is chimerical and dangerous Regional orders differ and policy must accommodate these differences if it is to succeed Contributors are Brian L Job Edmund J Keller Yuen Foong Khong David A Lake Steven E Lobell David R Mares Patrick M Nlotgan Paul A Papayoanou David J Pervin Philip G Roeder Richard Rosecrance and Peter Schott Susan Shirk Etel Solingen and Arthur A Stein The Middle East Arms Control and Regional Security (ACRS) Talks Bruce W.
