Forums

Forums are held periodically to bring up and discuss issues. One way to do this is through offering anyone an opportunity to present. A second way is individuals who are worried about political fall-out to bring the issue to the instructor who will then present it to participants.

Bright Idea Worksheets

These are concepts so important that they must be written down and remembered. This profound knowledge is assembled and added to each week on worksheets so they can be reviewed. The goal is to get to 100.

Application Assignments

Each session suggested assignments are provided to encourage individuals to think about and apply the material discussed during that session.

Reviews and Reflection (R & R' s)

Held at the beginning of a session, R & R' s are ten to fifteen minute segments that have each individual in a small group discuss what they had learned that the actions they have taken.

Take Action Worksheets

Completed by each participant at the end of a module, these worksheets challenge individuals to go out and apply the material. Participants are expected to complete at least one per module.

Training Review Meetings

These are meetings scheduled as needed to assess forward progress to solicit feedback.

A Powerful Model For Expertise Development

Research and Practice in Social Skills Training A.S. Bellack, M. Hersen, 1979-11-01 It is perhaps trite to refer to human beings as social animals but never theless it is true A substantial portion of our lives is spent in interactions with other people Moreover the nature quality and quantity of those interactions have a tremendous impact on behavior mood and the adequacy of adjustment Faulty interpersonal relationship patterns have reliably been associated with a wide variety of behavioral psychological dysfunctions ranging from simple loneliness to schizophrenia Most traditional analyses of interpersonal failures have viewed them as consequences or by products of other difficulties such as anxiety depression intrapsychic conflict or thought disorder Consequently remedial efforts have rarely been directed to interpersonal behavior per se Rather it has been expected that interpersonal relationships would improve when the source disorder was eliminated While this model does account for some interpersonal dysfunctions e.g. social anxiety can inhibit interpersonal behavior it is not adequate to account for the vast majority of interpersonal difficulties In fact in many cases those difficulties either are independent of or underlie other dysfunctions e.g. repeated social failure may produce depression or social anxiety
