Abstract: This paper discusses how a social work field instruction program enhances students' competence in governance and becomes a practice of governance.

Key words: social work field instruction, social work practice, good governance

The relationship between public administration, governance and social work however, has yet to be articulated in the social work literature and in literature of public administration or governance. It is a fact that social work education itself, particularly the field instruction program has always been an engagement in governance.

This paper aims to show how social work as a profession has been involved in public administration and governance and how students have been trained through the field instruction program to be active participants in governance initiatives.

SOCIAL WORK AND GOVERNANCE

It is the complex mechanisms, processes, relationships and institutions through which citizens and groups articulate their interests, exercise their rights and obligations and mediate their differences.*" The
