Practicing Psychology In Rural Settings Hospital Privileges And Collaborative Care:

Practicing Psychology in Rural Settings Jerry A. Morris,1997-01-01 Rural practitioners in America have been pioneers in gaining hospital privileges for psychologists but with only 17 states and jurisdictions having passed laws authorizing psychologists to practice in hospital settings there is still a long way to go This volume is designed to aid rural psychologists and hospital administrators in educating hospital board members medical staff and rural citizens about the valuable contributions that psychologists can make in the care of patients

Law and Recovery From Disaster: Hurricane

Katrina Robin Paul Malloy,2016-12-05 In August of 2005 Hurricane Katrina hit the Gulf Coast of the United States directly affecting 1 5 million people Only one year earlier an Indian Ocean tsunami struck Indonesia destroying or damaging more than 370 000 homes As forces of nature hurricanes tsunamis earthquakes and floods are not limited to occurrences in any one community or any one country In Law and Recovery from Disaster Hurricane Katrina attention is focused on the ability of law and legal institutions to not only survive such disasters but to effectively facilitate recovery Using Hurricane Katrina as a lens contributors address a wide range of issues of interest to people concerned about property law disaster preparedness housing insurance small business recovery land use planning and the needs of people with disabilities While Hurricane Katrina is the focal point for discussion the lessons learned are readily applicable to a variety of disaster situations in a wide range of global settings in the American Heartland George W. Doherty, 2011-03-01 Who will step up to meet the challenge of the next rural crisis Rural practice presents important yet challenging issues for psychology especially given uneven population distribution high levels of need limited availability of rural services and ongoing migration to urban centers It is critical that mental health professionals and first responders in rural areas become aware of recent research training and approaches to crisis intervention traumatology compassion fatigue disaster mental health critical incidents stress management post traumatic stress and related areas in rural environments Critical issues facing rural areas include Physical issues such as land air and water resources cheap food policy chemicals and pesticides animal rights corruption in food marketing and distribution and land appropriation for energy development Quality of life issues such as rural America's declining share of national wealth problems of hunger education and rural poverty among rural populations of farmers and ranchers Direct service issues include the need to accommodate a wide variety of mental health difficulties client privacy and boundaries and practical challenges Indirect service issues include the greater need for diverse professional activities collaborative work with professionals having different orientations and beliefs program development and evaluation and conducting research with few mentors or peer collaborators Professional training and development issues include lack of specialized relevant courses and placements Personal issues include limited opportunities for recreation culture and lack of privacy Doherty's first volume in
