Prairie Schooners:

The Prairie Schooner William Francis Hooker, 1918

A Prairie-Schooner Princess Mary Katherine Maule, 2020-09-28

From under the curving top of a canvas covered prairie schooner a boy of about fifteen leaned out his eyes straining intently across the brown level expanse of the prairies Father he called with a note of anxiety in his voice look back there to the northeast What is that against the horizon It looks like a cloud of dust or smoke In a second prairie schooner just ahead of the one the boy was driving a man with a brown bearded face looked out hastily then continued to scan the horizon with anxious gaze Beside him in the wagon sat a blue eyed comely woman with traces of care in her face As the boy's voice reached her she started then leaned out of the wagon her startled gaze sweeping the lonely untrodden plains over which they were traveling Inside the wagon under the canvas cover a boy of nine two little girls of seven and twelve a curly headed little girl of five and a baby boy of two years lay on the rolled up bedding sleeping heavily The time was midsummer 1856 and the family of Joshua Peniman crossing the plains to the Territory of Nebraska which had recently been organized were traveling over the uninhabited prairies of western Iowa Does thee think it could be Indians Joshua asked Hannah Peniman her face growing white as she viewed the cloud of dust which appeared momentarily to be coming nearer I can't tell I can't see yet answered her husband turning anxious eyes from the musket he was hastily loading toward the cloud of dust But whatever it is it is coming this way It might be a herd of elk or buffalo but anyway we must be prepared Get inside Hannah and thee and the little ones keep well under cover In the other wagon two younger boys had joined the lad who was driving On the seat beside him now sat a merry faced brown eyed lad of fourteen and leaning on their shoulders peering out between them was a boy of twelve the twin of the twelve year old girl in the other wagon with red hair laughing blue eyes and a round freckled face Sam was the mischief of the family and was generally larking and laughing but now his face looked rather pale beneath its coat of tan and freckles and the eyes which he fastened on the horizon had in them an expression of terror Do you suppose it's Indians Joe he whispered huskily Did you hear what that man told Father at Fort Dodge the other day He said that Indians had set on an emigrant train near Fontanelle and murdered the whole party

The Prairie Schooner (Classic Reprint) William Francis Hooker,2017-12-03 Excerpt from The Prairie Schooner Both breeds were accustomed to no food other than the grasses of the country upon which they flourished These included the succulent bunch grass Oxen were used in teams of five six and seven yokes and hauled large canvas covered wagons built for the purpose in Missouri Wisconsin Illinois and Indiana In the larger transportation outfits each team hauled two wagons a lead and a trailer and frequently were loaded with from to pounds of freight These teams were driven by men who were as tough and sturdy as the oxen Most of the freighting was done in the spring summer and fall although several disastrous attempts were made to continue through the midwinter season to relieve food shortages at the army posts It may seem strange but it is nevertheless true that Indians frequently attacked the very wagon trains that were hauling food to them About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Prairie Schooner William Hooker,2016-12-26 William Francis Hooker 1856 1938 was a bullwhacker in the Wyoming Territory starting in 1874 He knew both Buffalo Bill and General Custer He was to later become a newspaper editor of the Erie Railroad Magazine In 1918 Hooker published his book The Prairie Schooner in which he relates his exciting life experiences as a bullwhacker Hooker writes The railroad had no short line feeders and there was in the period of which I write no need for them sufficient to warrant their construction There were military posts scattered along the North Platte and other rivers to the north and the government had begun as part of its effort to reconcile the Red Man to the march of civilization started by the Iron Horse to establish agencies for the distribution of food in payment to the tribes for lands upon which they claimed sovereignty These oases in the then great desert had to be reached with thousands of tons of flour bacon sugar etc consequently large private concerns were formed and contracts taken for the hauling by ox teams of the provisions sent to the soldiers as well as the Indians The ox was the most available and suitable power for this traffic for the reason that he required the transportation of no subsistence in the way of food and was thoroughly acclimated Usually he was a Texan a long horn or a Mexican short horn with short stocky legs although the Texan was most generally used and was fleet footed and built almost on the plan of a shad Oxen were used in teams of five six and seven yokes and hauled large canvas covered wagons built for the purpose in Missouri Wisconsin Illinois and Indiana In the larger transportation outfits each team hauled two wagons a lead and a trailer and frequently were loaded with from 6 500 to 8 000 pounds of freight These teams were driven by men who were as tough and sturdy as the oxen It may seem strange but it is nevertheless true that Indians frequently attacked the very wagon trains that were hauling food to them in Wyoming and Western Nebraska Go back with me to the days of the prairie schooner before the Wild West was really discovered and let me try to entertain you with just a glimpse of things that are in such wonderful contrast to those of today The freight trains with ox team power have vanished never to return and with them most of the men who handled them The color of what follows is real gathered when the Wild West was wild and I make no excuse for its lack of what an Enos R Mills or a Walter Pritchard Eaton would put in it for they are naturalists while I am merely a survivor of a period in the development and up building of a great section of the golden west

The History and Activities of the Wagon Trail Lisa Klobuchar, 2006 Explores the daily lives of pioneers who helped the United States expand westward in the 1900s and includes recipes and crafts related to the period Boys' Life, 1919-04 Boys Life is the official youth magazine for the Boy Scouts of America Published since 1911 it contains a proven mix of news nature sports history fiction science comics and Scouting Oregon Trail Rick Steber, One of the great things about the West is that our history lies so close to the surface It was our grand parents and parents who were the pioneers The first wagon train west arrived late in the fall of 1843 It is estimated one half million emigrants traveled this great wagon trail until the advent of the automobile ended the era in the early 1900s Today stretches of the Oregon Trail are still visible as ruts ruts carved into the earth worn by time and masked by wildflowers sagebrush and trees Boys' Life, 1921-03 Boys Life is the official youth magazine for the Boy Scouts of America Published since 1911 it contains a proven mix of news nature sports history fiction science comics and Scouting The Prairie and the Sea William Alfred Quayle, 1905
